Dress-A-Doll Contest

Some of the 127 Prize Winners

Because women love to dress dolls, the first exciting dress-a-doll contest sponsored by Doll Bodies, Inc. established new sales records last year in stores from coast to coast.

Why wait for Christmas? — Start selling dolls now. This dress-it-yourself trend among women and girls is a powerful stimulant to undressed doll sales. "Lingerie Lou" undressed dolls range in retail from 39¢ to $1.35 in the 7" to 11½" sizes. Each doll has a colorful contest circular and entry blank attached to it — to activate impulse sales.

Enthusiastic dealers supported the contest with window and counter displays — Result: hundreds of thousands of dolls sold — more than ten thousand contest entries!

Don't be left out in the 3rd contest starting now — order your stock promptly. Start selling immediately.

Chris-Craft SEA SKIFFS FOR 1958

Here's round-bilge boating at its best

...with a bonus of lapstrake strength and performance!

Get ready for he-man boating in a new 1958 Chris-Craft Sea Skiff. More models, more features, more built-in confidence than any other boat in its class!

Every Chris-Craft Sea Skiff features the traditional performance of a round-bilge design — instant response and maneuverability . . . handling ease . . . a soft-cushioned ride, PLUS all the advantages of sturdy lapstrake construction to give you the fastest, driest, most seaworthy ride ever built into a round-bilge boat!

One secret of the strength and performance of every Chris-Craft Sea Skiff is in the exclusive synthetic-rubber-based Sea Skiff Sealer. It provides Sea Skiffs with exceptional durability and watertightness, yet allows the strakes to remain flexible and "work" in rough water.

So visit your Chris-Craft Sea Skiff dealer. See the new 1958 open models, fly-bridge cruisers, semi-enclosed cruisers, convertible sedan, and fishing-bridge models — 18 ft. through 40 ft. — for fishing, water sports, cruising, and utility work. Select your power from a wide choice of engines, and tailor your Sea Skiff to your individual boating plans from the big selection of optional accessories. And ask for your free copy of the new full-color Sea Skiff Catalog. Do it today!

You get quality features at no extra cost on every Sea Skiff

THE WATCH PARADE for 1958

We are authorized factory distributors for the famous watches listed on the following pages. As the watch you choose serves you through the years, it will offer you undisputed proof of the fine craftsmanship, beautiful styling and superb quality bestowed upon it by skilled and knowing hands.

BULOVA See pages 106 to 111

THE GIFT OF A LIFETIME. Since 1875, the name Bulova has symbolized a skill and integrity beyond compare in the field of fine watchmaking. Each part of a Bulova watch is so accurately made, so ingeniously standardized that any authorized jeweler in the country can make on-the-spot replacements.

GRUEN See pages 112 to 117

SINCE 1874 THE PRECISION WATCH. "Precision," the guiding standard of watchmaking, stands behind the execution of every operation at Gruen. Each watch is electronically tested, and certified for Precision Accuracy only after it passes through the most exacting and demanding performance tests.

BENRUS See pages 118 to 121

OFFICIAL WATCH OF FAMOUS AIRLINES. Gift boxed and fully guaranteed—every Benrus watch is temperature compensated, shock resistant, anti-magnetic . . . has 17 or more ruby jewels and nivarox hairsprings. Each Benrus Waterproof is tested at the equivalent of 60 feet of water.

WALTHAM See pages 122 and 123

AMERICA'S FIRST WATCHMAKER . . . Since 1850. All Waltham watches are shock-protected with INCABLOC . . . prevents breakage of the balance staff by cushioning shocks and jars with tiny resilient springs; eliminates major cause of costly repairs. It's only one of Waltham's many superior features!

WADSWORTH See page 124

A PRODUCT OF THE ELGIN WATCH CO. Made by the same craftsmen who engineer some of America's most expensive watches—with beauty, accuracy and the unbreakable Dura-Power Mainspring . . . yet priced for the limited budget.

U. S. TIME See page 126

DEPENDABLE . . . AT MODEST PRICES. The practical choice for active adults, the delight of youngsters. Precision movements assure you of consistent reliability and accuracy. Yet all are very economically priced!

FASHION See page 16

COLORFUL FOR COSTUME WEAR. Conscientious little timekeepers in delightfully gay designs . . . truly chic fashion accessories. Leaders in the fashion parade for 1958 . . . and modestly priced to keep your budget happy!

Up-To-The-Minute

GILBERT® The

REAL SMOKE and AUTHENTIC CHOO-CHOO

Half close your eyes and you'll swear you're watching a real coal burner when you see a Gilbert HO "steamer" thundering down the pike, real smoke puffing from the stack. Listen to the steady choo-choo-choos, synchronized with the driving rods and puffing smoke, and you know you're viewing the best in HO. LOOKS right and SOUNDS right, too!

BUILT-IN WHISTLE

Whistle for the grade crossings, signal your flagman at the rear, "talk" to other engineers in the yards. You can do all this with Gilbert's "Hudson" locomotive that's made with a built-in steam whistle. Blows by remote control, too, at the touch of a push button. You GET more, DO more, HAVE more with Gilbert HO because of its many more true-to-life features.

REAL R.R. FINISH

If you're after realism when you buy HO (and who isn't?) avoid cars where the color is molded into the plastic giving the cars a high, cheap gloss. Cars are less expensive to manufacture this way . . . but realism suffers. All Gilbert HO cars are painted with authentic railroad colors, mixed with attention to proper shade, and markings are blueprint accurate.

Top Award packaging!

Gilbert was the first in the entire HO field with a quality package that really displayed, merchandised and sold HO trains. After Gilbert's success, there have been many other "me-too" packages in the field, but the few good ones all failed in one important respect: they didn't allow a dealer to break-up a set in order to sell a car or loco separately. In this attractive Gilbert package all rolling stock is individually packaged in window boxes. You can remove any one and replace with another box the same size. No die-cut tray into which only a certain car will fit! For sets that SELL, stock Gilbert!

Features That Make HO Leader!

SPRING-ACTION TRUCKS

Examine Gilbert car trucks closely and you'll see a perfect pair of springs in each. Realistic? Sure, but it's more than that. Those springs really work, absorbing rail shocks and lessening de-railment danger. Don't take less than Gilbert "sprung-truck" car.

N.M.R.A. COUPLERS

One of the most important parts of your HO train is the coupler. It must look real and be fool-proof in operation. The Gilbert coupler, designed by the Coupler Committee of the National Model R.R. Association, meets these requirements in full. All Gilbert locos and cars have it.

Accurate 9/64" Scale!

Every Gilbert HO locomotive and car is built to high standards of meticulous craftsmanship. Each 9/64 of an inch equals one foot in the real McCoy. Photo shows jewel-like perfection of a typical Gilbert HO car.

Over 700 Coast-to-Coast Service Stations!

...exclusive with GILBERT

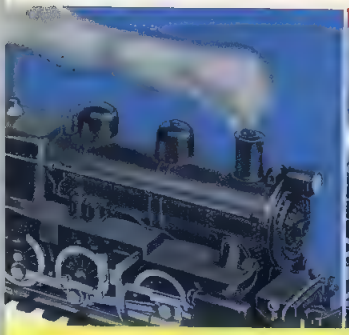
Up-To-The-Minute GILBERT® The



REAL SMOKE and AUTHENTIC CHOO-CHOO

Half close your eyes and you'll swear you're watching a real coal burner when you see a Gilbert HO "steamer" thundering down the pike, real smoke puffing from the stack. Listen to the steady choo-choo-choos, synchronized with the driving rods and puffing smoke, and you know you're viewing the best in HO. LOOKS right and SOUNDS right, too!

BUILT-IN WHISTLE

Whistle for the grade crossings, signal your flagman at the rear, "talk" to other engineers in the yards. You can do all this with Gilbert's "Hudson" locomotive that's made with a built-in steam whistle. Blows by remote control, too, at the touch of a push button. You GET more, DO more, HAVE more with Gilbert HO because of its many more true-to-life features.

REAL R.R. FINISH

If you're after realism when you buy HO (and who isn't?) avoid cars where the color is molded into the plastic, giving the cars a high, cheap gloss. Cars are less expensive to manufacture this way . . . but realism suffers. All Gilbert HO cars are painted with authentic railroad colors, mixed with attention to proper shade, and markings are blueprint accurate.

Top Award packaging!

Gilbert was the first in the entire HO field with a quality package that really displayed, merchandised and sold HO trains. After Gilbert's success, there have been many other "me-too" packages in the field, but the few good ones all failed in one important respect they didn't allow a dealer to break-up a set in order to sell a car or loco separately. In this attractive Gilbert package all rolling stock is individually packaged in window boxes. You can remove any one and replace with another box the same size. No die-cut tray into which only a certain car will fit! For sets that SELL stock Gilbert!

Features That Make HO Leader!

SPRING-ACTION TRUCKS

Examine Gilbert car trucks closely and you'll see a perfect pair of springs in each. Realistic? Sure, but it's more than that. Those springs really work, absorbing rail shocks and lessening de-railment danger. Don't take less than a Gilbert "sprung-truck" car.

N.M.R.A. COUPLERS

One of the most important parts of your HO train is the coupler. It must look real and be fool-proof in operation. The Gilbert coupler, designed by the Coupler Committee of the National Model R.R. Association, meets these requirements in full. All Gilbert locos and cars have it.

Accurate 9/64" Scale!

Every Gilbert HO locomotive and car is built to high standards of meticulous craftsmanship. Each 9/64 of an inch equals one foot in the real McCoy. Photo shows jewel-like perfection of a typical Gilbert HO car.

Over 700 Coast-to-Coast Service Stations!

...exclusive with GILBERT

C & O ALCO DIESEL FREIGHT $52.50

You'll never find another loco with more brute pulling power than this bear-for-work Alco 12-wheel ball-and-socket-drive DL-600 diesel. All 12 wheels pull the load on this new Chesapeake & Ohio beauty, which powers a Monon Cement car, New Haven box, Koppers Chemical, B & M Box and new illuminated C & O shanty. Both box cars have sliding doors. NMRA couplers throughout.

No. 30430 HUDSON FREIGHT $59.50

With Smoke and Choo-Choo Sounds

If you could scale down a real-life N. Y. Central Hudson "smoker" to HO size, it would come out looking like this Gilbert loco, with its puffing Smoke, Choo-Choo sound effects and load of tiny detail. Here it hauls 5 cars, all with NMRA couplers: Green Bay reefer, new New Haven lumber car, Mobilgas tank car, N & W gondola and N. Y. Central illuminated caboose.

GILBERT HO TRAIN SETS

WOOLSEY PAINT

C. A. Woolsey Paint & Color Co. Inc. is offering boatowners 70 Nauticolors in its Cawlux marine finish line. This wide color selection is made possible by addition of special marine tube colorants to factory-mixed Cawlux colors. In liquid form, they mix instantly and evenly.

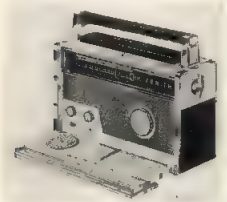
Woolsey also introduces four new products. These include a new color—mahogany—of Ti-Tall liquid rubber seam compound, in a squeeze-type container. Also, Woolsey is introducing a Flat Black Finish for use as an undercoater or finish coat; Under Water Seam Compound for use with Woolsey's Vinelast finishes that will eliminate the need for seam shellacking; as well as a fast-drying Plastic Vinyl Surfacing Compound for scratches and dents on wood hulls.

Wide range of marine paint products include Vinelast and other vinyl coatings, Cawspar and other clear finishes, and such specialty products as Caw-Kleen Bilge Cleaner, Anti-Corrosive Barrier Coat, Bare Metal Prime-coat for aluminum craft, etc.

The new aluminum primer overcomes one of the most troublesome problems in aluminum boat painting; namely, that of proper adhesion for subsequent applications of paints and finishes.

Easy to apply, the new primer is excellent for bottoms, hulls, keels, centerboards and fixtures. It can be applied also to other bare metal surfaces.

ZENITH RADIO



The Zenith Trans-Oceanic model, Royal 1000, is powered by flashlight batteries.

The Zenith Radio Corporation's new all-transistor Trans-Oceanic portable, the first such set with band-spread shortwave tuning, is designed to provide greater safety. Its eight wave bands provide excellent reception from thousands of foreign stations, besides ship-to-shore communications, weather reports and standard broadcast stations.

Weighing only 13 pounds, including batteries, it is the size of a small portable and is claimed to be the smallest and lightest band-spread shortwave portable ever produced. The new Trans-Oceanic is powered by flashlight batteries.

Zenith Radio Corporation is located at 6001 W. Dickens, Chicago, Ill.

JERSEY COAST BOAT SHOW

Planned to interest yachtsmen as well as those thinking of buying their first boat, the Fifth Annual Jersey Coast Boat Show, Feb. 15-23, is expected to attract thousands to Asbury Park's Convention Hall. Last year 70,000 attended.

All manner of boats will be shown from the tiny outboard to the large family cruiser built for living aboard. A wide variety of the newest marine engines, both gasoline and diesel, will be exhibited. There will be an eye-catching display of all kinds of accessories.

Entertainment will feature exhibitions of skin-diving and snorkel swimming. Latest equipment used in these sports will be demonstrated.

NOMAR TANK HOLDER

Whitman & Robinson, Weedsport, New York, introduces an improved Nomar Tank Holder.

Six evenly-spaced holes decrease the weight of the tank holder while permitting better ventilation around the tank. It is constructed of welded metal and coated with thick vinyl plastic. The cushioning effect of the plastic minimizes vibration noises and prevents boat damage.

Models are available for the following tanks: E-J-4—Evinrude and Johnson 4 gal. tanks; E-J-6—Evinrude and Johnson 6 gal. tanks; M-6—Mercury 6 gal. tank; SA-46—Scott Atwater 4 and 6 gal. tanks. The E-J-6 also fits 6 gal. tanks used with Gale products.

DISMASTED IN THE "ROARING FORTIES"

if we were going to make progress like this, for Tzu Hang, reeling and staggering through the darkness, was making a good three knots, and next morning at noon we had 75 miles on the log, the best run to date under jury rig.

On March 7 we were half way to Talcahuano and were beginning to feel the influence of the big South East Pacific high, centered about 30° south and 100° west. The wind seemed to come more steadily from the south, and we were no longer harried by constant depressions raging across the Southern Ocean. The ocean current also had a trend to the north. The spar was finished, and we crammed as many shavings as we could into empty tins to use as fuel for the stove. In the afternoon we set up the new mast, using the main halyard of our 15-foot mast to hoist it while Beryl guided the foot into its step, and John steadied its initial progress and set up the shrouds as it came upright. After a short struggle we had it in place.

Next morning we moved the smaller mast back to its place as a mizzen and were ketch-rigged once more. We hoisted the new sail after bending it on to the spar, and felt an immediate difference as Tzu Hang steadied under the bigger sail area. The wind was freshening slightly and we reefed the sail, but the center of effort was too far forward and we could not point any higher than with our first sail. We hoisted the jib topsail upside down as a mizzen, and the moment Tzu Hang felt its effect, she turned into the wind, and started pitching into the swell. At the same time John called to me to come and look at the bend in the mast. As I got up to him there was a report and the mast broke clean in two, just above the lower shrouds. We took the remains of the mast down, retrieved the top and unbent our sail again. It looked as if the mast needed stiffening and that we should only be able to use the big sail in light weather.

The mast was repaired and set up by the following afternoon. As the log streamed out astern again, and Tzu Hang once more turned her head to the northeast and Talcahuano, everyone's spirits rose, and the cat, sensing our relief, scampered along the deck and even contemplated trying to climb the new mast. That night we switched on the radio. The voice of the B.B.C., polished and assured, came clearly across the leagues to our remote corner of the ocean. "The talk tonight," it said, "is on the tendency of modern travel, which insists on speed, reliability and comfort."

For the last time a depression passed swiftly over us, and we reefed both the mizzen and the main. We did not want to break any more spars. Tzu Hang made 77 miles on the log, for a 23-hour day which remained our best run since the smash. The weather was now much warmer and we were able to dry clothes on deck and spruce ourselves up in general. I put on goggles and went over the side to have a look at the rudder fittings on the stern post. The rudder had broken off where it entered the hull. The water was not unduly cold although I had no desire to remain in it. All kinds of signs of land began to appear, and how exciting they seemed. First of all came the bottle-nosed porpoises, which we took to mean that we were approaching the continental shelf and its teeming fish life. Then came masses of sea weed, then gulls of shorter range than the familiar wheeling albatross, and on Feb. 19 I saw a small bird flying north with an irregular swooping flight, and chirping as it went. It was a phalarope. On the same day also, and for the last time, the cruel, predatory antarctic skua flew round the boat.

Next morning Beryl called us on deck to see our landfall—the northeastern edge of Mocha Island showing dimly through low cloud. All day the mainland remained concealed in fog. Sometimes a point would show, but before it could be identified it would hide itself again. The weather chart of the South Pacific is no chart for a landfall. From the descriptions in the American "Pilot Book for South America" and the weather chart, we made an enlargement, hoping that it would give us a reasonable picture of the coast. We held on as long as we dared, until it was almost dark.

For a moment a dark point showed on our port bow and it looked as if we were getting into the wide bay south of Morguilla Point, where a heavy surf extends two miles offshore. We went about and for a moment again the point appeared. It looked as if it might be Morguilla Point. As a basis for calculation, we took it to be so. The lights of the coal mine on Point Tucapel can be seen 20 miles from seaward, says the "Pilot." It was long after dark and they should now have been right abeam. There was a faint glow in the sky, but was it filtering through thick fog, or were we still well offshore? Two lights showed much lower down and dimly for a moment only. It seemed to check up with our estimated position, and it looked as if we were close off Lebu, 60 miles south of Arauco Bay. We decided that this should now be our objective, as it had a wide and easy entrance and gave access to two or three possible ports from where we could arrange a tow to Talcahuano. The entrance to Talcahuano was narrow and a southerly wind would blow right out of the bay. If we missed the entrance in a fog, there was no other suitable port until Valparaiso.

We had no worries that night, standing offshore on the port tack, but next morning it was still thick. We got a reasonable sight for our longitude, but by noon visibility was very limited and we had no sure way of telling how far north we had come. We allowed 15 miles for the current and reckoned that we were 20 miles south of Santa Maria Island Light, the southern point of the entrance to Arauco Bay. We handed sail and lay waiting for the fog to clear, but there was no improvement. If we were going to make our port by daylight next day we would have to be moving. For another 11 miles we sailed northwards through the fog, and then, judging that the current would take us the rest of the way until we were opposite the entrance to the bay, we handed sail again.

At 0200 hrs. we went on the starboard tack and headed in. The shore was about 11 miles away, and we should be either in the entrance of the bay or very close to the rocks on one side or the other. With the steering oar it took us at least a quarter of a mile to go about, and even after daylight the visibility was less than this. Beryl and John must have more confidence in my navigation than I do or considerably better nerves, but it was too much of a strain for me, and in spite of reproachful looks we stopped for breakfast. Feeling much braver after porridge and powdered eggs, we started in again. The patch of sky over our heads began to turn blue and to widen, and the visibility steadily improved. It was Beryl again who first saw land—the Farallones and Santa Maria Island, both simply enormous after looking at the tiny marks on the chart for so long. We were heading right into the entrance to Arauco Bay.

As we came into the lee of the island the sea fell smooth for the first time in 87 days. Across the bay lay Coronel and we found that we could point up to it nicely. We lay on deck in the sunshine and idled slowly across the bay. Long before dark we were safely moored close to shore. We had sailed 1495 miles and made good 1350 since Feb. 14, when it had looked for a short time as if Tzu Hang would sail no more.

ISLAND CIRCUIT

Since the wind seldom blows from the west in this area, it is a good overnight anchorage.

Our motor had become temperamental the night before while working our way over the banks to find a good anchorage, and even Fred Adams, who is an expert at repairing engines, was unable to get it going. As a consequence, we were forced to enter the shallow water under sail, a practice I never enjoy as it is not possible to back off quickly when the man on the bow with the sounding pole suddenly finds you are approaching thin water.

The area available for setting an anchor at Meyers Anchorage consists of a narrow shelf extending out but a few hundred yards from shore. The bottom then drops abruptly to great depth. The problem, therefore, is one of getting close enough to shore to set your anchor without having a short drag drop it into deep water, but at the same time be out far enough to keep from going aground if your boat should swing shoreward.

As we had an off-shore breeze it was possible to work in very slowly under sail. With the aid of our sounding pole we soon set our anchor in 2½ fathoms in a spot where there was both adequate swinging depth toward shore and sufficient ledge to the westward to provide good holding. The sunset was beautiful, the water was smooth, and although we were wide open to the west, little surge came in to bother us. We had been blessed with so much fine weather for so many days that we were now taking it for granted.

The following day saw us off on our final leg along the south coast of Cuba. By noon, with the trades blowing fresh abaft the beam, we had sailed across Bahia de Corrientes past Punta del Holandes and had Cape San Antonio Light bearing north. We then sharpened up, sailing five miles north of the light to be sure to have ample water to permit us to sail onto the banks off our starboard beam. We then tacked to the eastward over the banks, holding on until we could fetch Cavo de Lena to the south. By sundown we had this protective cay, bearing west by north, about a half-mile to windward. We set our anchor in a fine sandy bottom with a fathom and a half under us.

While eating dinner below we were remarking how interesting it was to sail in such remote waters with no sign of habitation anywhere, when we were startled to hear an engine and voices. By the time we got on deck a large crash boat was alongside, and we were boarded by Cuban sailors, all trying to talk to us at once. After things had calmed down somewhat, one sailor who knew a little pidgeon English told us that they were a part of the Cuban Navy, that patrolled these waters, they were delighted to see us, and would like to give us some fish they had caught that afternoon. We were relieved to find their intentions were friendly and enjoyed the visit immensely in spite of the fact that we had great difficulty in understanding each other. We learned they based at La Fe, and promised to see them there.

We had a fine sail to the eastward over the banks of the Golfo de Guanacabibe the next morning, but when we entered Bahia Guadiana we found, as is so often the case in Cuban waters, that the buoys shown on the chart to guide us through the narrow channel into La Fe were missing. To complicate the problem still further the wind was smack on the nose, forcing us to short-tack through the channel without going aground on either side. Fred Adams again tried to revive our motor without success, so we turned on our Fathometer and, by immediately tacking each time the water started to shoal, managed to get into the bay without going aground.

On approaching La Fe, we sighted our Cuban Navy crash boat tied up to a large dock at the center of the town. By the time we rounded up to the dock, which was in a terrible state of disrepair, our sailor friends whom we had

Coast Yacht Works' 26' Challenger Day Cruiser

SEVEN BOATS BY COAST YACHT WORKS

► Two new models of sea skiff types boats have been added to the output of the Coast Yacht Works for 1958. Both designated as Seacoasters, they are a 28-footer in sport fishing and trunk cabin versions, and a 23-footer Standard power in both models is a 225-hp. Gray. Prices start at $7900 for the 28-footer and $4800 for the smaller Seacoaster.

Other Coast boats are three 26' cruisers in sport, day and sport fisherman models and two 18-footers, one inboard and the other outboard powered. These latter two are of the speed skiff design, with "barn door" bottoms, capable of high speeds in both versions. Their hard chine construction gives them "bite" on turns for safe control at full speed. Lapstrake construction on all models is of traditional Jersey Coast riveted solid planking.

Sumner Boat's 33-foot cruiser, El Presidente, is powered with twin 130-hp Nordbergs for speed up to 25 miles per hour. Her main dimensions are 33' x 11' 2" x 2' 6".

SUMNER BOAT CO.

The Sumner Boat Company, Inc., of Amityville, L. I., builders of skiffs and cruisers with Compoglas hull, will feature seven models in their 1958 fleet. All will be equipped with Styrofoam-filled flotation compartments.

Adventurer, 23' x 8' x 2', sleeps two in bunks forward. Galley and head are seperate from, and aft of, the bunks. She has full-length keel and bronze skeg for propeller protection.

The Sumnerskiff 23 features full headroom shelter cabin, two berths, toilet, fish wells, mahogany trim cabin sides, and mahogany cockpit deck. This is a Navy top model, with 85 hp Norseman engine. A Sumnercraft 23, with permanent top, has similar dimensions and, like other craft in the line, the Compoglas hull of fiberglass and wood lamination. The 23 is also built in a cruiser model which offers a full headroom cabin and enclosed toilet.

A 26' cruiser model, with cooking facilities and sleeping accommodations for four, has a 95 hp Norseman engine, full headroom cabin, dinette, galley, ice box, enclosed toilet, and foam rubber berths.

On a 28' hull there is a choice of the Commando II model (sleeps four) or a Crusader II express cruiser, which also sleeps four, in which there are berths for two forward and a convertible dinette.

El Presidente, 33' x 11' 2" x 2' 6", sleeps six, is powered for 25 mph with twin 130 hp Norseman engines.

GLASS MAGIC

The Seamaster, a new 19' outboard cruiser by Glass Magic of Fort Worth, Texas, is one of nine Glass Magic models for 1958.

The Glass Magic Seamaster has a large, roomy open cockpit with upholstered forward and aft seats. "Inboard look" is achieved through a fiberglass engine cowl that also serves as a sound baffle to all but eliminate motor noise. The Seamaster can be powered up to 140 hp in twin or single mounts according to factory recommendations. A hatch provides accessibility to the forward deck.

For weekend cruises, the forward seats of the Seamaster convert to twin 6-foot bunks.

A toilet, convertible fabric top and fiberglass hardtop are available as optional equipment.

The Seamaster has a 19' length with an 8' beam and a depth of 48". Approximate weight is 1,050 pounds.

ANCARROW MARINE

Ancarrow Marine, Inc., Richmond, Virginia, manufacturers of the 60 mph Aquilifer, will introduce a new line of popular boats in '58, featuring futuristic styling.

The 20' Gladiator is a versatile open-decked utility available in either a fishing or passenger model. Some optional extras to tickle a fisherman's fancy will be a bolted-down swivel chair; a fish tank and a water-supplied live bait tank. Extra seats, obtainable at additional cost, convert the fishing model to a passenger runabout. Despite her rugged build the Gladiator upholds the Ancarrow reputation for speed. Available with a choice of three engine installations, with top power she attains speeds of 47 mph.

The Patrician, a 19' runabout, has two seats that carry six comfortably. She is also available with a choice of three engines, and reaches top speeds of 50 mph.

The Praetorian, 19 feet of sports speedster, is a sports-car type single-cockpit model equipped with 300 hp engine. Listed speeds are given as 55 mph but she has been clocked at 60 mph plus over a measured course.

The restyled Aquilifer, lengthened to 25 feet, will still carry two 300 hp engines, guaranteeing 60 mph, clocked at 65. She will still be equipped with every safety and luxury feature available.

The entire line, from Gladiator to Aquilifer, feature fine materials and high class construction. Macoba Marine African mahogany, imported from Germany, is used throughout. Props are of Federal Nik-O-Lite and shafts of Monel. All hardware is specially cast. Floorboards are covered in soft-stepping, easily washed Dexolium matting and seats are upholstered with U.S. Naugahyde over fire- and mildew-resistant synthetic foam. Instrumentation includes a Stewart Warner tachometer, electric temperature gauge for each cylinder bank, a fuel level gauge and an Arguide water speedometer. (The Aquilifer also has a White Echo depthometer, and individual ignition switches.

Top: Besides its 60-mph Aquilifer, Ancarrow Marine builds three other models.

Top right: Ancarrow's 19' Praetorian is sports-car type craft, equipped with 300 hp engine; reaches speeds of 50 mph.

Right: The Aquilifer has been restyled, lengthened to 25'. Craft carries two 300-hp engines guaranteeing 60 mph speed.

Imp III, Dr. Robert H. Hermann of Cincinnati, Ohio, whisked around a five mile-run at the 30th annual Palm Beach regatta at a record 58.747 mph. A few days later on the Lakeland Yacht and Country Club he upped this record to 59.172 mph.

The warm weather at Lakeland was bringing out a rash of record-breaking. In addition Dick Neal broke the five-mile competitive record for Class X at 53.129 mph. He covered the same distance in Class B at 48.309 mph. And in Class F Louis Geraci covered five miles at a record 54.184 mph.

One hundred and fourteen boats—the largest number ever—converged on the Hudson River starting line at Albany for the annual 130-mile marathon to New York City. Marshall Eldredge, who was making his seventh try, was the first to finish. He led the 1936 winner, Clayton Bishop of Onset, Mass by only three minutes and 22 seconds.

Boating involves thrills and relaxation. But in 1937 it also meant the saving of many lives. That was the year when the forest-loosed waters piled up on the Ohio River and rampaged over many towns and farms. There was a desperate need for boats to rescue stranded persons and to carry food and medical supplies.

The mayor of Louisville appealed by radio for outboard motors with which available boats could be equipped. When the Bendix Marine Products Corporation in northern Indiana heard this, they rushed 50 motors by truck. When more boats became available there was a great need for persons who knew how to operate them. So volunteers from northern Indiana and southern Michigan hurried to the flood-stricken areas.

George Meyer, a boat dealer in upper Indiana, had a 26 foot cruiser placed on a truck and shipped to the disaster area. On the same trailer he also put two 14-foot metal boats.

"This load was so rear-heavy," Ted Patterson, the truck operator said, "that we had to weigh down the front end with heavy stones to keep the truck from up-ending."

NEW BASIN AT SAYBROOK, CONN.

Terra Mar Yacht Basin at the mouth of the Connecticut River will be ready in the spring. It will accommodate 125 boats of all sizes. Resort hotel facilities will also be available

The million-dollar Terra Mar Yacht Basin and Hotel at Old Saybrook, Conn., will be completed by May 1, according to Charles R. Blickle, president of the Terra Mar Corporation.

Located at the mouth of the Connecticut River, the harbor will accommodate 125 craft of all sizes. The harbor is being dredged to a depth deep enough for safe maneuvering and anchorage by the largest boats.

The five-acre development will include a newly built, modern resort hotel with large studio-type rooms, all with bath, television, and air conditioning. There will be three swimming pools with a large recreation building and lounge built around the main pool.

The Terra Mar Cabana club will provide 120 permanent cabanas at poolside for rental on a seasonal basis. The luxurious cabanas will have individual showers, dressing rooms and private patios.

Rigging runs from chain plates inside of hulls (inboard) for better sheeting and setting of jib. Note the strong nylon netting between hulls.

asymmetric hulls. The hull is shaped somewhat like an airplane wing—flat outside and curved inside. When the boat heels the leeward hull buries and some lift to windward is obtained due to the hydrofoil effect, according to Rudy. He also feels that the flat plate and hard chine contribute to holding the boat to weather. Whatever the reason, the fact is that only the biggest (70-80 feet) and best windward boats can hope to beat Aikane to windward under their best conditions. Under any other conditions either Aikane beats them on the windward leg also, or it is anybody's windward race. Of course, Aikane can beat any boat her size under any conditions in any direction.

This last statement has been amply proved in shorter races around Southern California, and the reason is not hard to find. On the wind Aikane carries about 1200 square feet in main and genoa and weighs, with crew and gear in a short race, about 8000 pounds. This gives her a weight-to-sail-area ratio of less than seven pounds per square foot. Conventional boats her size are lucky if they carry only twenty pounds per square foot of sail. In the Honlulu race Aikane weighed about 9000 pounds with crew and gear and carried almost 3000 square feet in her spinnaker, staysail, and main—a weight-to-sail-area ratio of three pounds per square foot! Any questions?

Aikane is a lucky boat. She represents the right combination of design experience from Rudy, excellent construction from Hisso and encouragement and enthusiasm from Ken. The masthead genoa gives her superior windward ability, and she carries her oversize spinnaker with supreme grace downwind, because of her stability. These are precisely the two points of sail on which catamarans have been criticized. Reaching? Although some who have raced her swear they were going faster, her speedometer has never exceeded 26 mph to date.

There is one point about the rigging that should be mentioned. The chain plates are on the inboard side of the hulls,

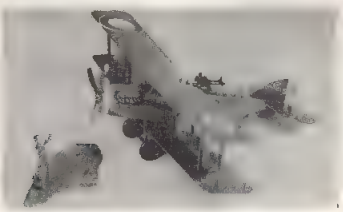
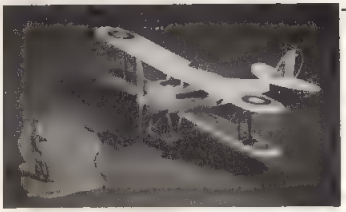
Two W. W. 1 Planes in Aurora Line





Models of two famous fighter planes of World War I are prominent in the 1958 line of Aurora Plastics, 44 Cherry Valley Road, W. Hempstead, N. Y.

One of the two kits yields a replica of the F28 Brisfit, an Allied plane. The model (#113) is molded in two colors with 47 precision parts and comes complete with a pilot and mechanic. Retail on the item packaged in a full-color box, is 98¢

The second kit (#108) offers a model of the French fighter plane, the Nieuport 28 faithfully reproducing the World War I combat airship, the two color model is made up from 34 pieces contained in the kit. A pilot and mechanic are on hand with this model, too. Retail on this number is 69¢; immediate delivery is promised

WORLD TOY HOUSE INCREASES AD BUDGET BY 50 PER CENT

World Toy House, Inc., St. Paul, Minn announces it is stepping up its advertising expenditures by 50 per cent in 1958. The firm is self described as the largest marketer of toys sold on self-service fixtures in the country, with more than 30,000 outlets serviced by 85 franchised distributors. Toy House distributors now reportedly serve a total population area of 120 million persons in all 48 states, Hawaii, Alaska and Puerto Rico.

For the third successive year World Toy House will spearhead its consumer advertising with dominant color space in Life. This year its plans call for at least three color insertions spaced throughout the year, according to Victor R. Burtch, vice-president in charge of advertising.

In addition to the Life promotion, the company is running monthly ads in Parents' Magazine.

Point-of-sale promotion, which has always figured largely in the firm's merchandising strategy, will also be stepped up this year, according to Mr. Burtch. "World Toy House has lifted its sales just about 50 per cent each year for the past five years," he said. "Our distributors sell more toys, we believe, than all other toy rack jobbers combined. We are stepping up advertising expenditures because we believe we can produce a sales increase in 1958 which will warrant it.

"We have invested heavily and will continue to invest to create a firm brand image for Toy House-labeled products. This is particularly important in both toys and in self service markets where name prestige is often a determinant factor in the impulse purchase."

NEW ILLUSTRATED CATALOG RELEASED BY TESTOR CORP.

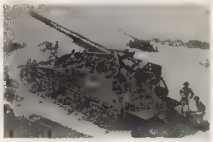
SELF-PROPELLED 155 MM. JOINS ROCKET MISSILE IN ADAMS LINE

Authenticity combined with fully-operating parts for added realism distinguishes the new M-40 155 MM self-propelled gun introduced by Adams Action Models, Hawthorne, Calif.



The plastic hobby kit, an exact replica of the M-40 used by the U. S. Army, incorporates many highlights of its famous prototype including such features as flexible tracks and bogie wheels, hatch covers, a work platform with sliding extension ramp and a rear spade.

In addition, the kit offers many other notable features. The gun itself elevates and swivels in the same manner as the original. Official U. S. Army design decals are used so that the details of the gun are complete down to the most minute detail. Four action posed figures, which can be placed at various points on and alongside the gun, complete the kit.

The Army is said to have cooperated with Adams Action Models by offering them complete blueprints of the famous gun, which was considered an essential weapon during World War II. Jim Adams, president of the firm, in commenting about the gun tells the story of the German officer who was asked after the war for his opinion of the various armaments used by the U. S. Army.

According to Adams, the officer replied: "Without a doubt, artillery impressed me the most because of its great mobility. However, of all the various types of guns used by the Americans, I would have to say that the self-propelled 155 MM. gun, the M 40, was the most devastating to my troops."

Marketing of the M-40 155 MM. self-propelled gun, as well as all of the Adams Action line, is handled by Milt Grey Associates, of New York, Chicago and Beverly Hills.

Comments Mr. Grey: "There is no substitute for the dramatic sales power of a fully-decorated made-up display model right at the point of sale. To make it possible for dealers to avail themselves of this action sales tool, we have prepared an introductory deal, in which we have priced the display model at a fraction of its true value. Dealers can order Deal #D 151 and get 12 kits plus the Display Model and a handsome counter display unit for only $15.17."

The Adams' self-propelled gun is handsomely gift-packaged in a full-color action-scene box. Priced to retail at $1.69, it is described as a fitting mate for the "Honest John" Rocket Missile recently launched.

HARMONIC REED NAMES AGENCY

Thomas K. Liversidge, president of Harmonic Reed Corporation, Rosemont, Pa., manufacturers of harmonicas, musical toys and scientific toys, has announced the appointment of Lavenson Bureau of Advertising, Inc., Philadelphia, to handle all advertising, merchandising, sales promotion and public relations. Gould B. Donahue has been named account executive.

*Chateau Rose

SOLID STERLING SILVER

The romantic beauty of yesteryear becomes the fashion of today. The revival of elegance in home decoration reaches back to the Regency and Louis XIV eras, with a touch of Victorian to add zest to the ensemble.

"Chateau Rose" is a happy blending of the traditional beauty of these time-favored motifs. As they have lived in the past . . . "Chateau Rose" will live in the future to become one of your cherished heirlooms of tomorrow. Substantial in weight throughout.

Its beautiful highlights are softened to a silvery lustre by its smooth butler finish

Prince Eugene*
SOLID STERLING SILVER
An authentic interpretation of the late 17th and early 18th century French Renaissance. A fashion created for the lavish use of Kings LOUIS XIII and LOUIS XIV and in high favor today as an ultimate in decorative beauty.
PRINCE EUGENE, for whom this exquisite pattern was named, was born in Paris in 1663, and spent much time in Vienna, then the seat of continental culture. When Vienna was threatened by the Turks, it was PRINCE EUGENE of Savoy who was its defender and his successes gained for him the everlasting gratitude of the people
PRINCE EUGENE is a heavy-weight, complete open stock pattern . . . furnished in beautiful soft Butler finish. All Blades are Mirror-Finish, Stainless Steel. Illustrated . . . Luncheon Knife and Fork, Teaspoon and Salad Fork . . . actual size.

SOLID STERLING SILVER
A flourishing prelude to the styles of tomorrow
The fantasy of scrolls from the LOUIS XV and LOUIS XVI periods . . . richly and delicately moulded into a series of sweeping graceful curves, unbroken, yet carved to reflect beautifully the scintillating high-lights created by its soft undulating surfaces . . . gives life to this lovely pattern.
Here, in ALVIN'S newest pattern in sterling . . . FRENCH SCROLL . . . is a style developed in keeping with the present day demand for modernized sterling patterns from the classical period that prevailed during the reign of the Kings LOUIS, in the years 1700 to 1800. Soft Butler Finish.

Built Fiberglas Boats in Our History!

BRING YOU WORLD'S WIDEST SELECTION OF FINE YACHTS

VITESSE!

This fabulous new all fiberglas yawl is aptly named. From the boards of William H. Tripp, Jr., she is designed and constructed to outsail them all. Exhaustively tank tested at famed Stevens Institute for speed of hull; rigorously checked for structural strength and toughness by American Cyanamid Corporation scientists, the fiberglas Vitesse represents the "finest yet" for ocean racing and cruising.

The response to this sensational boat has been tremendous . . . six are scheduled to be entered in the 1958 Bermuda Race . . . many more have been ordered and are under construction. We predict Vitesse will be the most talked about boat of the year.

WOOLSEY PAINT

C. A. Woolsey Paint & Color Co. Inc. is offering boatowners 70 Nauticolors in its Cawlux marine finish line. This wide color selection is made possible by addition of special marine tube colorants to factory-mixed Cawlux colors. In liquid form, they mix instantly and evenly.

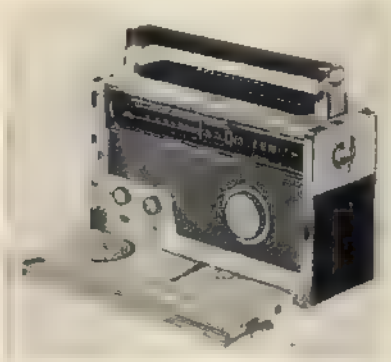
Woolsey also introduces four new products. These include a new color—mahogany—of Ti-Tall liquid rubber seam compound, in a squeeze-type container. Also, Woolsey is introducing a Flat Black Finish for use as an undercoater or finish coat; Under Water Seam Compound for use with Woolsey's Vinelast finishes that will eliminate the need for seam shellacking; as well as a fast-drying Plastic Vinyl Surfacing Compound for scratches and dents on wood hulls.

Wide range of marine paint products include Vinelast and other vinyl coatings, Cawspar and other clear finishes, and such specialty products as Caw-Kleen Bilge Cleaner, Anti-Corrosive Barrier Coat, Bare Metal Prime-coat for aluminum craft, etc

The new aluminum primer overcomes one of the most troublesome problems in aluminum boat painting; namely, that of proper adhesion for subsequent applications of paints and finishes

Easy to apply, the new primer is excellent for bottoms, hulls, keels, centerboards and fixtures. It can be applied also to other bare metal surfaces.

ZENITH RADIO



The Zenith Trans-Oceanic model, Royal 1000, is powered by flashlight batteries.

The Zenith Radio Corporation's new all-transistor Trans-Oceanic portable, the first such set with band-spread shortwave tuning, is designed to provide greater safety. Its eight wave bands provide excellent reception from thousands of foreign stations, besides ship-to-shore communications, weather reports and standard broadcast stations.

Weighing only 13 pounds, including batteries, it is the size of a small portable and is claimed to be the smallest and lightest band-spread shortwave portable ever produced. The new Trans-Oceanic is powered by flashlight batteries.

Zenith Radio Corporation is located at 6001 W. Dickens, Chicago, Ill.

JERSEY COAST BOAT SHOW

Planned to interest yachtsmen as well as those thinking of buying their first boat, the Fifth Annual Jersey Coast Boat Show, Feb. 15-23, is expected to attract thousands to Asbury Park's Convention Hall. Last year 70,000 attended

All manner of boats will be shown from the tiny outboard to the large family cruiser built for living aboard. A wide variety of the newest marine engines—both gasoline and diesel, will be exhibited. There will be an eye-catching display of all kinds of accessories.

Entertainment will feature exhibitions of skin-diving and snorkel swimming. Latest equipment used in these sports will be demonstrated.

NOMAR TANK HOLDER

Whitman & Robinson, Weedsport, New York, introduces an improved Nomar Tank Holder.

Six evenly-spaced holes decrease the weight of the tank holder while permitting better ventilation around the tank. It is constructed of welded metal and coated with thick vinyl plastic. The cushioning effect of the plastic minimizes vibration noises and prevents boat damage.

Models are available for the following tanks: E-J-4—Evinrude and Johnson 4 gal. tanks; E-J-6—Evinrude and Johnson 6 gal. tanks; M-6—Mercury 6 gal. tank; SA-46—Scott Atwater 4 and 6 gal. tanks The E-J-6 also fits 6 gal. tanks used with Gale products.

BALTIMORE COPPER'S FINISHES

New marine finishes feature the Baltimore Copper Paint Company line for 1958. In the Regatta line of yacht paints, additions include several hard-to-match stock boat colors, a satin finish interior varnish formulated especially for marine use, new quick drying plywood sealers, quick drying trowel cement, and a silicone polish for use on painted or varnished surfaces. The company has also brought out production-line finishes designed for use with modern boatbuilding techniques.

Stock Boat Colors now available in Regatta quality are Century's Boat's Blue-Green, Owen's Dover-White, and Lyman Tan. These are ready to use right from the can.

For interior surfaces Regatta Satin-Finish Varnish gives the hand-rubbed rich effect that is so desirable below deck. It is scuff-proof and alcohol-resistant.

Unless it is sealed, marine plywood will absorb paint unevenly. Regatta quick-drying Plywood Sealer penetrates and waterproofs in addition to providing a proper base for paint.

Silicone Polish will add life and luster to hull, painted or varnished surfaces.

As a base for a slick, porcelain-like finish, Regatta Quick Drying Trowel Cement is available for either wood or steel hulls. On wooden hulls its use eliminates need for a primer. An entire yacht hull can be glazed with a 3" knife. When used with Regatta Surfacing Compound to fill in cracks, dents, and depressions, a mirror-like finish can be achieved.

To meet the needs of the boatbuilding industry's modern techniques, Baltimore Copper has developed marine finishes especially formulated for use under mass-production conditions. A series of technical bulletins is available to boatbuilders, repair yards and marinas upon request.

An informative painting handbook for the do-it-yourself yachtsman is available on request accompanied by 25¢, from Baltimore Copper Paint Company, 501 Key Highway, Baltimore 30, Maryland.

SILENCE MAKES A NOISE

Silence is making a noise in the marine equipment business according to Apex Marine & Equipment Co., of Seattle, Wash., which says that word is getting around about Elastomuffle, a non-metallic, flexible marine engine silencer.

It is made of neoprene, a synthetic rubber which is impervious to oils, salt spray, acids and other corrosive elements.

Flexibility of the silencer makes it easy to install by boat owners, the company says. Only a hack saw and a screwdriver are necessary in most cases, and if the craft's exhaust pipe is accessible, the silencer can be put in place in only a few minutes.

Because it is made of neoprene instead of metal, Elastomuffle weighs only four pounds for the smallest of six models, the Mark II for 130 hp engines, to 13 pounds for the largest Mark V-S for 275 hp engines.

Diamond Miracle Vision Mat'l Useful for Swimsuits, Too

Miss America (Miss Marilyn Van Derbur) and Florida's Orange Queen at the Rose Bowl, Sharon Spencer, take time out at Cypress Gardens to marvel at perhaps "world's largest beachball."

Patience and research, reported to have paid handsome dividends to the Holiday Line in 1957 in the form of 3D Miracle Vision, a new development in the inflatable field, have paid off again this year, according to Dave Rosenberg of Holiday.

This year's product of painstaking research is Diamond Miracle Vision, containing, says Mr. Rosenberg, "all the sparkle and strength of diamonds."

A swim suit fashioned from the new Diamond Miracle Vision material was modeled at the National Sporting Goods Association Show and at the previously-held Sporting Goods Fair by its designer Miss Marta Hernandez. As a reward she was elected Miss 3 Dimensional at the two shows. "The requests for additional designs in three-dimensional bathing suits," notes Mr. Rosenberg, "have resulted in a completely new fashion that will be seen during the Toy Fair."

A special display of Diamond Miracle Vision toys will also be displayed, for the first time, at the Fair along with newly-developed water toys such as ducks, seals and water horses with a special pontoon design to keep them upright while floating in the water. Prices on the ducks list at $1.98 on the water horse, $3.98.

NEW POLICIES, NEW MANAGEMENT MARK ARRANBEE'S 40th YEAR

To celebrate its 40th anniversary, Arranbee Doll Company, Inc., 200 Fifth Avenue, New York City is unveiling for 1958 the most complete quality line of dolls in their history. A new slate of officers and key management personnel has also been announced, as follows:

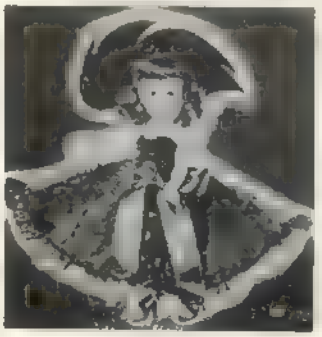
Robert Wanderman has been elected president; Jerry Lipsitz, vice-president, and Henry Weisser, sales manager. Mrs. Rose Rothstein, wife of William Rothstein, founder and president of Arranbee until his untimely death last November, is serving in an advisory capacity. Ownership and management is still maintained by the Rothstein family, a name well known to the entire industry. The sales force is composed of Charlie Pettit (with the firm since 1929), Joel Tasman, Bob Liss and Wes Wetmore, west coast representative.

Arranbee's spacious 50,000-square-foot factory in Hicksville, L. I., N. Y., is under the supervision of four men and women who collectively have 114 years of doll manufacturing experience behind them. Ruby Hopf, dean of doll fashion designers has been with the company for 28 years. Production men Virgil Kirby and Morris Goldberg have been with the firm for 27 and 29 years, respectively, and floor manager Felicia Monestaro has been with Arranbee for 30 years.

Nineteen-eighteen saw the humble beginning of Arranbee in a small downtown loft as importers of foreign toys. Soon after, the firm began manufacturing their own dolls. The company's success necessitated four moves through the years, all to larger quarters—to 579 Union Square, to 894 Broadway, to 881 Broadway, and finally to 250 Duffy Avenue in Hicksville, L. I.

The present factory contains the most modern of manufacturing facilities, which when combined with 40 years of hand craftsmanship "know-how," enables Arranbee to produce quality dolls at popular prices. One-hundred-eight sewing machines make possible the cutting and sewing of all clothes in the plant itself, while a complete wing is devoted to an up-to-date plastics division. More than 300 people are employed during the peak months.

Celebrating their 40-year history, R & B



dolls have consistently set the trend for the entire industry. "Debuteen," which appeared in 1934, was the first of the slim dolls which are so popular today. "Debuteen" had a cloth body and jointed arms and legs. "Martha and George Washington" dolls, which also made their appearance in the 1930's, were a tremendous success—one of the few times in the history of the doll business that a boy doll sold more than a million units.

What R & B claims was the first tear doll was introduced (and advertised) by them in 1937, reportedly well before this popular number ever caught the public's fancy.

"Bottle Baby" was another R & B hit. This doll featured a magic bottle (attached to her arm) which emptied and refilled itself as the arm was raised and lowered. "Rock Me Baby" was a novel doll and cradle item. When the cradle was rocked the doll was put to sleep.

R & B's current line is the culmination of 40 years of experience and success. It marks the return of R & B to a complete line of dolls and accessories—teen-age dolls, baby dolls, toddlers, tear dolls, new-born babes and wardrobe trunks.

Geared to meet the demands of all buyers, the selection includes "Sweet Pea," "Angel Face," "Nanette," "Littlest Angel" and the popular "Coty Girl" illustrated here.

The reception accorded "Coty Girl" in her 1957 debut has prompted R & B to back this doll up with a nationwide newspaper, television and magazine publicity and advertising campaign. The campaign was kicked off on the NBC network's "Ruff and Ready" television program. "Coty Girl" appeared on this show March 1 and will be shown again on March 15.

The complete R & B line for 1958 is now on display at the company's permanent showrooms, 200 Fifth Avenue, New York City.

CRISLOID PLASTICS HAS NEW NOVEL DICE GAME

Another impulse item from Crisloid Plastics, 55 Porter Street, Providence, R. I., is called the Honest John Crooked Dice Game.

Appealing to the imagination of everyone who enjoys home games, the Honest John dice game consists of six sets of high grade special dice that enable players to roll any desired number combinations. One set rolls flat passes, another flat miss-outs, while a third pair rolls all points. A fourth set rolls nothing but even points, still another set rolls 7 or 11 only, while the sixth set contains honest dice.

Each pair of dice is individually packaged in a clear plastic box and all are displayed on an eye-catching point of purchase silent salesman (see the illustration printed above).

SELCHOW & RIGHTER NAMES JAMES MELTON & COMPANY

Now representing Selchow & Righter Company, 200 Fifth Avenue, New York City, manufacturers of Parcheesi, Scrabble, the new Scrabble for Juniors and many other popular games, advises that James Melton & Company has been assigned to cover the states of Arkansas, Oklahoma and Texas.

Jack Perkins, who formerly covered the aforementioned three states, will now concentrate his efforts in the southeastern territory.

Associated with Mr. Melton and, like him, very well known in the southwest, is Hank Garbe.

Number of New Activity Items Will Be Featured By Saalfield

Dozens of bright, new activity items for children will be featured at the Toy Fair by The Saalfield Publishing Company, one of the nation's foremost producers of children's books, games and playthings.

Featured items will include Big Train Puzzles (#7494), Felix the Cat Paint Box (#6021), Animated Play Plaques (#6022), Flannel Board Play (#6115), Children's Best Coloring Book (#7808), and the Pre-School Doll Box (#6020).

Big Train Puzzles are five individual puzzles of a steam engine and freight cars mounted on heavy board. When assembled by locking tabs, they make a train 36" long. Retail price of the number is $1.

Felix the Cat Paint Box, a member of the Saalfield family of Authorized Editions, retails at $1. It contains 20 paints, a paint brush, two water pans mounted on a tray, a box of crayons, and a paint book.

Animated Play Plaques are three-dimensional and have movable parts. The plaques stand up or they can be hung on the wall. This box contains 16 die-cut cards, a paint brush, and six paints. It, too, retails at the $1 level.

Flannel Board Play, a $2 retailer, consists of a large flannel board with an easel and 75 colorful die-cut pieces with suede-like backs. The pieces press on and lift off the board to make hundreds of different pictures, including children at play.

Children's Best Coloring Book is a giant book, 10¾" by 14", containing 292 pages, that retails for $1.

The Pre-School Doll Box contains five standing dolls with interchangeable costumes. There are 58 pushout costume pieces without tabs and a stick of scribble glue. This box retails for 59¢.

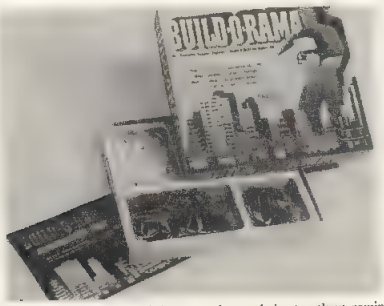
These items are just a few of the hundreds of children's books, games, and playthings listed in the latest Saalfield Catalog. For your copy, write The Saalfield Publishing Company, Saalfield Square, Akron 1, Ohio.

Aurora's New Satellite Radio

In keeping with today's headlines, Aurora Plastics Corporation of West Hempstead, N. Y., introduced a Satellite Radio. The radio, assembled and ready to operate the moment it is taken out of the package, is simple to work; no batteries or electrical plug-in is necessary. Enclosed in a plastic case designed as a dramatic satellite, this radio will receive local broadcasts.

The #1605 Satellite Radio retails for $5.95 and is packaged in a handsome full-color box.

Build-O-Rama Construction Toy To be Shown at Fair by Lapin



Build-O-Rama, one of the new additions to the line of Lapin Products, Inc., 164 Delancey Street, Newark 3, can be seen at that firm's Toy Fair exhibit at the Sherry-Netherlands Hotel, 60 Street and Fifth Avenue, as well as at the showroom of Portugal & Krotman, 200 Fifth Avenue.

With the Build-O Rama set, youngsters and adults too—can take the cleverly engineered polyethylene blocks and construct a virtually endless variety of modern buildings. The bead locks which are included permit such buildings to be handled and moved about without coming apart, yet the blocks can be easily separated to be used over and over again.

The $4 Build O-Rama consists of 561 "Snap-Lok" blocks, (shaped as windows, bricks, doors, corner, cornices and so forth), roofing material, and a colorful 11" by 8½" instruction book jam-packed with illustrations of the many different kinds of buildings that can be constructed. The blocks are sealed in poly bags and inserted in a permanent plastic tray. All parts are packed in a full-color set-up box 15¼" by 13¼".

Playtime Increasing Capacity of Its Goleta, Calif., Operation

Jack Chrisman, president of Playtime Products, Inc., Warsaw, Ind., announced today an increase in plant area and productive capacity of its wholly-owned subsidiary, Playtime Products Pacific, Goleta, Calif.

Mr. Chrisman stated that Richard A. Miller, president of Playtime Products Pacific, had recently completed negotiations increasing the plant area from 15,000 to 20,000 square feet. Additional equipment being installed will increase productive capacity approximately 25 per cent.

The necessity for the increase in capacity was attributed to the rapid growth of demand for Playtime's line of doll carriages and doll strollers on the west coast.

Playtime Products Pacific manufactures the complete line of Playtime doll carriages and strollers in Goleta. The firm's products will be displayed at the Toy Fair in Rooms 549-550-551, Hotel New Yorker, as well as at 1107 Broadway.

PAGCO JET RACE CARS IN "DRAG STRIP" KIT

A new, toy racing-car "drag strip" package is announced by Pagliuso Engineering Company, 113 W. Harvard Street, Glendale, Calif., manufacturers of the original Kit Mass toy racer. Called the Pagco Jet "Drag Strip" kit, it contains two 1" scale Jet Aces, plus all the accessories needed for a 50 foot racing strip.

The Pagco Jet Race car is modeled after International Competition and Indianapolis Speedway cars. It is authentic in design, featuring a hitlike driver, custom rubber tires, and a realistic engine sound. A powerful spring motor provides runs of 200 feet at speeds up to 15 miles per hour. The cars are finished in a handsome two-tone effect and are constructed of shatter-proof, high-impact styrene.

The "Drag Strip" Kit contains two Pagco Jet race cars, two 50-foot racing strips two racing tethers, four case-hardened spikes, and detailed instructions for a complete home or neighborhood "drag strip."

The entire kit is packaged in a durable, attractive, store-away carton and sells for $6.95 retail.

MISSILE-SHAPED CRYSTAL RADIO SETS TO BE SHOWN AT TOY FAIR

An earphone crystal home radio called the Hearever, reportedly one of the best-selling items of 1957, has been given new, modern-style styling by its manufacturer, Hearever

Company, Inc., Castro Valley Blvd., Castro Valley, Calif.

Now missile-shaped (see illustration), the Hearever employs neither tubes, batteries nor transistors and weighs less than 1½ ounces. Three models retail at $3.95, $4.95 and $6.50 respectively.

The Hearever line will be on display during the Toy Fair at the Room 204, 200 Fifth Avenue, showroom of Robert Patterson & Associates.

ARCTIC AMUSEMENT

Eskimo children play with toys made from whale, seal and polar bear bones.

Bayshore Making Squeeze Toys Patterned After Comic "Stars"

Bayshore Industries, Inc., Elkton, Md., currently marketing one of the most extensive lines of squeeze toys in the industry patterned after "stars" of screen, TV tube and comic books, announces that "Circus Boy" and Paramount cartoon characters are among its new "names" for 1958.

Copyrighted by Screen Gems, Inc., Bayshore squeeze toys from the famous "Circus Boy" TV show are Bimbo the Elephant, Joey the Clown and Corky the Circus Boy. From the movies and comic books come Bayshore renditions of Baby Huey, Casper the Ghost and Little Audrey, copyrighted by Paramount Pictures, Inc. Moulded of soft, washable latex and individually packaged in poly bags with colorful saddle labels, these new squeeze toys are available as individual items or in carton packs of assorted dozens.

Craftmaster's Color-by-Number Set Made for 3-12 Age Group

An unusual color-by-number pencil set is being introduced to the small fry of the country by Craft Master.

This new and clever kit is Craft Master, Jr. For every youngster between the ages of 3 to 12, it is both educational and entertaining and promises many hours of coloring pleasure. Craft Master, Jr. is a visual aid to number mastery and also enables the child to distinguish and harmonize colors. All a child has to do is color the numbered areas. Since each picture is frame bordered, he will be able to exhibit his artistic abilities just as his parents do with Craft Master's numbered oil painting sets.

Each Craft Master, Jr. contains eight coloring panels of favorite children's subjects with color printed faces and eight pencils in a variety of colors. A pencil sharpener and an easy-to-follow numbered coloring guide complete this kit.

Craft Master, Jr. which is distributed by Palmer-Pann Corporation, 328 N. Westwood Avenue, Toledo, retails for $1.

"LI'L STINKER" POWERED BI-PLANE FROM L. M. COX

A new concept in engine-powered airplanes has been announced by L. M. Cox Mfg. Company, Santa Ana, Calif., with the introduction of its "Li'l Stinker," called by Cox the world's smallest ready-to-fly model airplane. A bi-plane, it is powered with the tiny, but super-powered Pee Wee .020.

Jewel-like in appearance, this unique plane has been precision-engineered and contains all the minute detail of the prototype from which it has been copied. It has a wingspan of 10" and a fuselage measuring [illegible]. The tiny fuel-burning engine, perfectly balanced to body proportions, weighs just 21 grams.

Roy Cox, president of the firm, points out that the double tier wings of this bi-plane, the landing gear pants, the wheel skirts, and the myriad other fine features incorporated in the "Li'l Stinker," are all believed to be exclusive in the powered plane field.

The origin of the name "Li'l Stinker" dates back to World War II, when the famous Pitts Special barnstormed the country. Cox chose the name "Li'l Stinker" because of his model's similarity to the original in designing and handling ease. Its high-impact, double-touch plastic body insures smooth flying, and makes for a virtually indestructible model.

Effectively combining the use of two colors, red and white, and with an amusing replica of the "Li'l Stinker" on its fuselage, this new Thimble-Drome powered plane is volume-priced at only $8.95, handsomely gift-packed in a window package.

Reports Milt Grey, head of Milt Grey Associates, the sales and marketing organization for Thimble-Drome products: "Like the fabulous selling Super Cub of last season, the "Li'l Stinker" is another important step in the Cox program of ever widening the market base, of broadening interest in power model flying. This new addition can be flown on an extremely short line, possibly permitting its use in some backyards. Engine sound has been sharply reduced. Further, the instant-starting, easy-to-handle, Thimble-Drome .020 engine is designed for fool-proof trouble-free use even by the novices."

Concludes Roy Cox: "My engineers and I feel that the "Li'l Stinker" will fly its way into the hearts of all youngsters from 9 to 90, and will become synonymous with the words 'model airplane.' It has charm and appeal to girls and young women, too, who seem to be becoming more and more interested in this exciting sport."

The "Li'l Stinker," as well as the full Thimble-Drome line, will be on display at the McAlpin Hotel during the Toy Fair and at the MGA display offices in the 200 Fifth Avenue Building, New York City 10.

"Bilygoons," Sleeve Puppets with Vinyl Heads, Announced by Ideal

The latest innovation in puppetry is Ideal Toy Corporation's $1 retail Bilygoons, designed by Bil Baird. These whimsical sleeve puppets have colorfully-painted vinyl heads and a long, knit sleeve body. These versions of the Bilygoons are available—the Gooney Bird, Dragon and (not shown) Alligator. Not only youngsters, but parents, too, will enjoy puppeteering with these unusual figures, claims Ideal.

Expanded Advertising, Publicity Program Projected by Emenee

Bill Marcus, sales manager of Emenee Industries, Inc., manufacturer of musical toys, announces the expansion of their advertising and publicity programs for '58.

Emenee has been conducting a long-range consumer promotion program for some time, and attributes much of the gratifying sucess of the line during the past year to these efforts. In addition to schedules in daily and weekly newspapers and magazines, Emenee's coverage has been heavily slanted at television and radio outlets.

The hostess from "Beat the Clock," a CBS television show, is shown in the picture above with three Emenee musical toys, the Golden Piano Accordian, the Golden Piano and the Golden Glockenspiel. Emenee musical toys have been viewed coast-to-coast on top-rated network programs and leading children's and family shows.

According to Mr. Marcus, the company expects a record breaking year with the introduction of five new musical toys at the Toy Fair this month.

Emenee Industries, since its inception less than 10 years ago, has pioneered in the merchandising of musical toys which are now considered a separate toy category. A year-round sales item, they have proven to be not only a staple, but a high-turnover, easily displayed product, notes Mr. Marcus.

COMET WINS PARENTS' SEAL, ISSUES NEW 1958 CATALOG

Coincident with the announcement that its four ready-to-fly gas models have been awarded the coveted Seal of Commendation of Parent's Magazine, Comet Model Hobbycraft, Inc., of Chicago, have embarked on a greatly-enlarged advertising campaign on three main fronts.

First, Comet's ready-to-fly models will be advertised on a regular schedule in Parent's Magazine, with its over 1,750,000 circulation, reaching millions of parents and youngsters. This is in addition to Comet's other national advertising in magazines and model-builders' annuals.

Second, Comet has just issued its big new 1958 catalog, with 20 pages picturing and describing over 116 different models in plastic and balsa, including the new Starfighter ready-to-Fly U-Control Gas Model and the low-priced Piper Tri Pacer Scale Gas Model at $7.95. Both are made of high-impact plastic in striking color combinations and encased in vivid four-color-process-printed boxes. Each is complete with fully guaranteed "OK" Cub engines. Comet's new catalog, which will be distributed to model-builders to the tune of almost a quarter of a million copies, is color-printed on glossy paper stock; its theme is "The Supersonic Era."

Finally, Comet is making available a color printed window streamer featuring the Tri Pacer Gas Model. The plane is shown being flown by a typical young model builder. Dealers can secure streamers from their jobbers. They are designed to sell prospects at the point of purchase.

With a line which covers a wide price range from 10¢ to $14.95 and a bigger-than-ever advertising program, Comet stated it expects "a great 1958."

98c THREE-DIMENSION VIEWER FROM TRU-VUE

Introduction of a new popular-priced, high-quality three-dimension viewer has been announced by Tru-Vue Company, Beaverton, Ore. The new viewer, called the Junior, is designed for use with the Tru-Vue library of color picture stories that includes classics such as Jack and the Beanstalk, Mickey Mouse, The Lone Ranger and Snow White.

Retailing for 98¢, the Junior three-dimension viewer differs from previous Tru-Vue viewers in that film cards are advanced without the use of a lever, making the operation easier than ever for small children. Designed for rough handling, it is made of the same tough plastic material used in the more expensive Tru-Vue three-dimension products and is packed in a bright full-color package specially designed to create impulse sales.

Tru-Vue stories are edited for children 4 to 14. Distribution is being made through regular toy jobber channels.

COX'S NEW GOLDEN BEE MODEL AIRPLANE ENGINE

A new star in the model aviation sky is the completely all-new Golden Bee .049 engine, introduced by the L. M. Cox Mfg Company, Santa Ana, Calif.

A sparkling addition to its already-popular line of Thimble-Drome engines, the Golden Bee has been designed to satisfy the needs of model stunt flyers. One of the most unusual and welcome features is the fact that it has spill-proof filler and vent tubes that permit the operator to perform acrobatic stunts without spilling a drop of fuel. No matter how the plane is twisted, turned, or rolled the fuel remains inside the fuel tank.

The increased capacity of the fuel tank is another innovation of the Golden Bee engine. It reportedly holds more fuel and will stay aloft for a longer period of time than most model engines. It can carry 3/10 of one ounce of fuel, said to be 50 per cent more than the average engine will hold. The Golden Bee will stay aloft for five minutes, as against the usual model flying time of three to three and one-half minutes, claims Cox.

In addition, the engine boasts polished aluminum propeller spinners, and the anodized crank case and fuel tank gives the engine a cleaner, fresher finish.

The Golden Bee also contains such outstanding features as an all-metal tank carburetor and rear needle valve. Intricate engineering of the unit has made it possible to completely eliminate outside fuel lines.

Comments Roy Cox, president of the firm: "We have engineered a product that can be expertly handled by the experienced stunt flyer as well as the beginner. The engine is adaptable to all kinds of fancy flying and makes for a smooth, well-timed flight whether it is straight flying or an acrobatic trip."

Retail price of the Golden Bee is $4.95.

NEW VOICE FOR DOLLS, TOYS ANNOUNCED BY FREY MFG. CO.

Frey Mfg. Company, manufacturers of doll voices, noisemakers, reed plates and pitch pipes at 14 Oliver Street, Newark 5, advise that one of their most recently patented voices—number 2,819,558—is a self-locking reed-sounding unit.

Inexpensively constructed and versatile in its application, this voice can be readily and quickly inserted by engaging the inside wall of the doll or toy with the unit's two shoulders.

Established 15 years ago, Frey Mfg. Company has gained recognition in the trade as a result of its development of many items for use by doll and toy assemblers.

Director of Purchases, Service Mgr. Named at Murray-Ohio

Walter F. Banas

William McCormick

A director of purchases and a service manager have been appointed by The Murray Ohio Mfg. Company. J. J. Harmon, senior vice-president of Murray, made the announcement.

Walter F. Banas is the new director of purchases, succeeding George Barlow who died in December after 33 years with Murray. Mr. Banas joined Murray in 1936 and was an assistant purchasing agent until moving up to purchasing agent in 1957. He moved to Nashville with his wife and son last fall when the Murray executive offices opened in that city. Walter, Jr., attends Columbia Military Academy at nearby Columbia, Tenn.

The new service manager, William McCormick, has been in charge of the velocipede wheel department at Murray's manufacturing plant in Lawrenceburg, Tenn. He took over that position in May 1956, after many years as office manager for Wheel Works in Kendallville, Ind. Mr. McCormick and his family live in Lawrenceburg, but the two sons are currently at Indiana University.

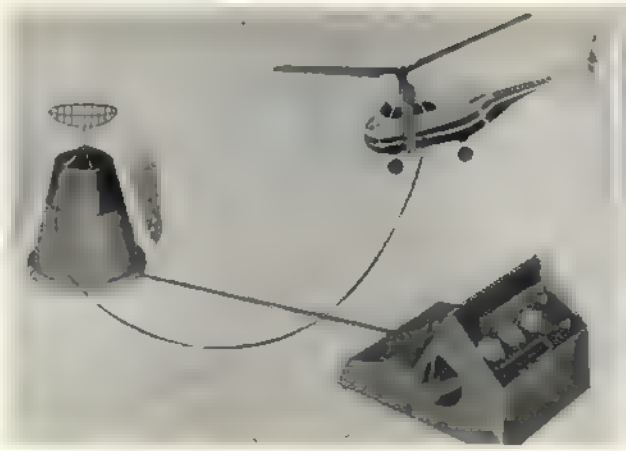
In announcing Mr. McCormick's appointment, Mr. Harmon also said that Murray's service department had moved from Nashville to the Lawrenceburg plant.

Bradford Novelty's Decorations Used in Monsanto "Dream Home"

A Christmas tree gets trimmed in Monsanto's "Dream House."

Reportedly one of the outstanding exhibits at Disneyland this past Christmas was Monsanto Chemical's "House of the Future," a futuristic home with advanced design details. The holiday decorations for this dream house were colorful, unbreakable Bradford Novelty items.

Long lines of people, totaling well over a million, saw the exhibit and the shiny, plastic balls, bells and figures supplied by Bradford. According to a spokesman for Disneyland, over 10,000 inquiries were received regarding the decorations and asking where they could be obtained.



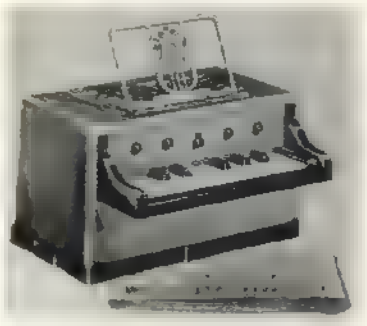
#187 Remote Control Helicopter

#185 Magic-Eye Moon Car

Knickerbocker Plastic Will Promote Line with Heavy National Advtg.

EIGHT imaginatively-conceived and designed items—five of which are illustrated here—are among those to be included in Knickerbocker's Plastic Company's 1958 national advertising campaign, a heavy program that will make use of television, Parents and Life magazines and other media.

The five numbers shown on this page are the #185 Magic-Eye Moon Car, #187 Remote Control Helicopter, #585 Electronic Bell Organ, #584 Electric Vibraphone and #170 Magic Ballroom. Not illustrated are the #679 Captain Crow Action Target, #686 Popeye Roly-Poly Target, and the #683 Siren Sparkle Space Target.



#585 Electronic Bell Organ

Revolutionary in concept, the futuristic space traveling Magic Eye Moon Car has a mysterious "eye" in its crystal dome that rotates constantly, searching for enemy targets. A motor-driven mechanism powered by two flashlight batteries allows the Moon Car to be moved in any direction. Flicking the control antenna with a "magic wand" governs the movement. Also, at the command of the "space pointer," two firing rockets can be launched into space. Measuring 12" by 7" by 9¼", the item has a suggested retail of $12.95.

The Remote Control Helicopter can be made to take off, fly in any direction, hover, or make a pinpoint landing—all by operating the remote control panel. Five separate landing pattern maps and a radar screen aid the pilot in maneuvering. An aluminum plane, the helicopter has safe, pliable polyethylene roto-blades. Suggested retail $12.95.

Widely popular last year and expected to sell as well or better in '58 is the Electronic Bell Organ, an instrument that produces electronically pure bell tones. It is accompanied by a 16-selection music book. Suggested retail: $12.95.

Actually four instruments in one—a vibraphone, marimba, xylophone and orchestra bells—the Electric Vibraphone retails for $9.95 with accessories that include a music rack, mallets, and a music book containing 16 solos of popular music, nursery tunes, folk music, sacred and Christmas selections. The vibraphone's battery-operated, motor-driven mechanism produces tone-rich music, enhanced by the aluminum-alloy keyboard and scientifically-tuned "tone chambers."

A pair of twirling dancers set in motion by battery power figures to enchant little girls will be presented with the Magic Ballroom, a $6.95 retailer that has a sales-compelling display box with a corrugated container for added protection. Visible through the clear plastic case mounted on a white base, and reflected in a mirrored backdrop, the storybook couple revolve to the music on a silver-plated ballroom floor.

#584 Toy Electric Vibraphone

#170 Magic Ballroom (battery-operated)

Of the three target games, two employ suction darts, the Captain Crow at $3.98 and the Siren Sparkle at $2.98—while the third, the $1.98 Popeye number, calls for corks. All three incorporate a multitude of action features to intrigue plenty of young marksmen.

The full Knickerbocker line can be seen during the Toy Fair in Room 500, 1107 Broadway, New York City.

END FRAME FIXTURE UNIT IN SPACEMASTER LINE

A new square-shaped merchandising end frame (#E4404) has been added to the Spacemaster line of Reflector-Hardware Corporation, Dept. FP-4, 1400 N. 25 Avenue, Melrose Park, Ill. The fixture can be used in combination with the same manufacturer's #70 or #90 Spacemaster merchandising frames.

Construction of the new end frame is of [illegible]" square, back-to-back, heavy-gauge welded tubing and is single-slotted on the outer sides at 1" vertical intervals to permit flexibility of shelf adjustments. It will take decorative panels when used with the #E1944 panel clip, or will take any 30" long shelf for promotional end merchandising.

Additionally, the end frame is furnished with Bakelite floor glides for firm footing and is finished in English silver. Packed in pairs, the end frames cost $19.80 each F.O.B. factory.

NEW HYDROPLANE BOAT KIT BY AMERICAN JR. AIRCRAFT

Clear evidence of a rising interest in model boating has encouraged the American Junior Aircraft Company, 1201 S.E. 3 Avenue, Portland, Ore., to release a new $4.95 racing hydroplane kit. The model to be made from it is a replica of the latest-design unlimited hydro, the "Thriftway Too."

Carrying the same name as the prototype, the new American Junior model comes in a four-color box and measures 24" long. It can accommodate large gas engines with displacements of .09 to .60 cubic inches for tether-racing, or engines of .09 to .19 cubic inches for free running.

The mahogany decking, sides and bottom as well as all balsa parts have been die-cut for ease of assembly. Other pieces of plastic cowl and metal engine hood. A large sheet of decals is included to take the effort out of decorating.

The prototype "Thriftway Too" has the new cab-forward configuration that places the driver up front instead of near the stern of the boat. Designer Ted Jones claims this makes for safer racing—visibility is greatly improved and fatigue from engine heat is eliminated. Also, the engine roar, oil mist and gas fumes are now well behind the driver.

Oak Rubber's Punch-O-Ball Has Heavy Rubber Band Attachment

An exciting new playball that flies back when a youngster bangs it with his fist, and which can also be used as a volley ball or tetherball or even hung like a punching bag, has reportedly become one of the hottest items in the Oak Rubber Company's 1958 line. Called the Punch-O-Ball, it is a durable, inflatable latex ball with a unique loop to which is attached a heavy rubber band.

The Punch-O-Ball, said to be the only toy of its exact kind on the market, provides year-long entertainment indoors or out for young and old alike. It also teaches coordination and provides good exercise for young muscles. Its suggested retail is $1.

For maximum display value the Punch-O-Ball is packaged in a colorful stand-up box with a cellophane window. Holes in the box permit it to be hung either vertically or horizontally on a pegboard display. An additional packaging feature is the pre-priced tab which can be removed if the dealer prefers.

Daisy to Increase Its Number Of Zorro Items from 3 to 5

As a result of buyer demand for their Zorro merchandise, Daisy Mfg. Company is planning to increase the number of items in this line from three to five, according to word from Floyd Brandon, sales manager.

Daisy's current official Zorro shooting outfits and holster sets are the #1968 Shooting Outfit, consisting of a 25½" rifle, 12" by 4½" holster, a pistol and 5" by 4¾" cuffs, retailing at $5.95; the #2731 Double Holster Set, with 12" by 4½" holster, 5" by 4¾" cuffs and two repeater pistols, at $4.98; and the #1730 Single Holster Set, with a 12" by 4½" holster, 5" by 4¾" cuffs and one repeater, at $2.98.

The two new Zorro items contemplated, says Mr. Brandon, will retail at from 98¢.

B & G SALES APPOINTED

B & G Sales Company, Canadian sales representatives located at King's Hall Building, 1231 Catherine Street W., Montreal, advises that they have been appointed exclusive agents in that country by Plastic Toy & Novelty Corporation, Jolly Blinker Company, Inc., Creative Products, Inc., and North Union Reel Company.

Hamilton Steel, 25 Years in Trade, to Unveil New Line

Nineteen fifty-eight marks the 25th Anniversary of Hamilton Steel Products, Inc. and this old-established producer of wheel goods will unveil a new line at the Toy Fair that will be highlighted with many new developments to which S. Ward Hamilton, Jr., president of the firm, and his organization can point to with justifiable pride.

Specializing in the manufacture of steel coaster wagons and other wheel goods items ever since its inception a quarter of a century ago, Hamilton Steel has grown consistently right from its earliest beginning. Believing that modern, cost-cutting production methods are at the heart of a firm's ability to offer genuine values and dependable service, Hamilton Steel over the years has left no stone unturned to keep its large plant with the latest and best machinery available, backed by the finest engineering talent procurable. Hamilton's plant is today one of the largest factories in the world devoted to the volume production of children's wheel goods.

Among the many feature attractions in the 25th anniversary Hamilton line is their new "Kiddybird." Designed to offer a distinct innovation in juvenile autos, the "Kiddybird" has an all-plastic body which combines lightness of weight with great strength and durability. It is mounted on a sturdy steel frame which further enhances its rugged qualities. Every styling feature found in real sport cars has been captured by Hamilton's engineers, and no realistic fine point such as semi-pneumatic rubber tires, has been overlooked.

Another Hamilton 25th Anniversary feature is their new #808 Tow Truck. It is replete with extra play-appeal sure to fascinate discriminating youngsters.

Wholesalers and retailers who handle the Hamilton line will be interested to learn that the firm this year will be shipping their products in new cartons of pastel colors. These new cartons are designed not only to create more eye-appeal, but have a practical purpose in helping to expedite distribution of the line. On each carton will be printed safety signs for the protection cut out as toys, rendering a selling aid to wholesalers and retailers.

Buyers visiting the Toy Fair will find the large Hamilton display in Rooms 546, 547, 548 at the Hotel New Yorker, as well as a complete showing of the line at the permanent New York showrooms, Room 1453, 200 Fifth Avenue. The complete Hamilton line includes Greyhound wagons, jeeps and autos, scooters, pedal cars, wheelbarrows and garden sets.

Hamilton Steel Products, Inc., is represented in New York and the eastern territory by Colman & Hirschman; by Hanson Southern Sales in the southeast; Paul Lewis in the mountain states; Anderson Sales on the Pacific Coast; Ellis & Marshall in the midwest; and S. Jurgens in the southwest.

Milton Bradley to Show Record Number of Items at Toy Fair

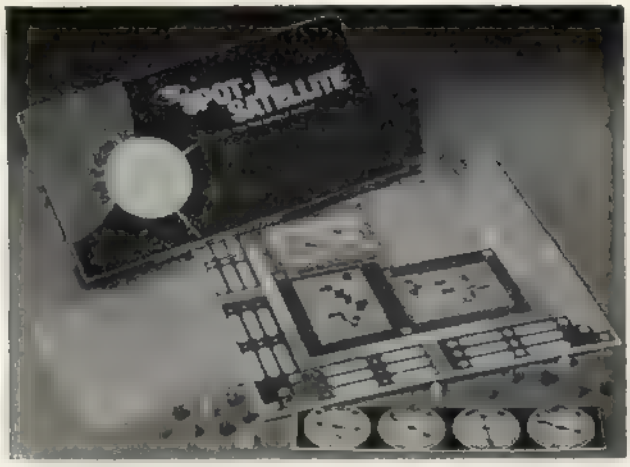
Milton Bradley Company is introducing a record number of new items at the Toy Fair according to James J. Shea, president.

"Twelve of the new items will be games," Mr. Shea said. "Three will be additions to the Milton Bradley puzzle line. Another will be a 'pursuit' game called Play Sheriff, to retail at $2. Milton Bradley's slogan 'Key to Fun and Learning' will be featured on the box covers of the new additions to the line, and the range of age suitabilities of each item will be prominently identified."

The year 1957 established three new games—Rack-O, Name That Tune and Test Driver—as additions to Milton Bradley's list of popular perennials which includes such long-term successes as Uncle Wiggily, Go to the head of the Class, Chutes and Ladders, Candyland, Easy Money, Pirate and Traveler, Game of the States, and Park and Shop, Mr. Shea reported.

"The increasing interest of parents in helping their children to succeed in school will continue to be a more and more important factor in game sales," Mr. Shea predicted, noting the success of Steps To Learning, the unique series of six multi-use educational kits retailing at $2.50 each and designed to help prepare children for favorable adjustment to school.

Fillum Fun's Spot-A-Satellite



Satellites are making headline news these days, and Fillum Fun, Inc., 409 E. 107 Street, New York City 29, have launched a game which they believe will make news in the toy trade.

Called Spot-A-Satellite, the item represents a new approach in game conception, according to the makers. It utilizes maps, log tape and latitude measurements, markers, and time spinners to determine the location of satellites used in play.

Packaged in an attractive 18½" by 9½" box, and with a suggested retail price of $2, Spot-A-Satellite is already gaining good trade acceptance, Fillum Fun notes in a recent report.

HUBLEY TO MAKE COLT GUN REPLICAS UNDER CONTRACT

Joseph M. Breneman, president of The Hubley Mfg. Company, has announced the signing of a contract with the Colt Patent Firearms Company that gives them the exclusive right to manufacture toy guns using the coveted Colt name.

Both Colt and Hubley have been manufacturing guns since prior to the turn of the century. A recently-discovered Hubley toy catalog shows that Hubley was marketing Colt toy revolvers in 1895.

The first new Hubley gun carrying the Colt name and trademark will be introduced at the Toy Fair. It is a replica of the famous 1860 Colt .44-.45 caliber and incorporates a number of unusual play features including a lever arm under the barrel that permits the removal of the gold-finished cylinder. The design incorporates two-piece bullets, intricate engraving, and a satin finish, bone-like handle. The 14" gun is full scale.

The association between the two concerns is said to offer mutual benefits. Hubley feels that the Colt name is offering an added value that can be effectively merchandised, while Colt realizes the importance of keeping their name before the eyes of the many thousands of potential purchasers of real guns.

Recently, the first Colt replica was presented to Fred Roff, executive vice-president of Colt.

A replica Colt .38 will also be available at the Toy Fair as well as Colt holster sets for both guns.

TOWNER TOYS TO SHOW "TOTRUK" AT TOY FAIR

The item illustrated herein, the #76 Totruk, is a new toy in the line of Towner Toys, 5936 N. E. 42 Avenue, Portland 13, Ore. It will be on view at Towner's Toy Fair exhibit in Room 638 of the New Yorker Hotel and in Room 813 at 200 Fifth Avenue.

Towner Phillips, head of the firm, and Mrs. Phillips will be on hand at the New Yorker display.

A $1 retailer, the Totruk is a yellow and blue wooden cart with red hardwood wheels and removable figures. Its size is 10½" long, 5" wide, 3½" high. Packaged in a clear bag, it is packed 12 to a carton weighing about 12 pounds.

KATHRYN KAY

Look to eight-inch dolls as size to bring in business

New dolls should not jeopardize the status of the eight-inch dolls, in the opinion of Kathryn Kay, sales representative for Ginger dolls and outfits.

"It is ridiculous," she contends, "to permit a population of more than five million eight-inch dolls to lose its profit potential. These dolls were methodically and persistently sold and merchandised, with emphasis on changeable apparel, for more than five years. Now the eight-inch doll has attained 35 per cent of the market.

"Five million eight-inch dolls are a lot to clothe and we are doing everything in our power to stimulate even greater interest in them. Our ten and a half inch Miss Ginger was meant to supplement the eight-inch Ginger and not to replace any part of its sales volume.

A similar viewpoint is expressed by Simon Berman, president of Cosmopolitan which produces the Ginger dolls.

"The eight inch doll has an established market position. It is a staple item on which toy departments can depend for year in and year out business We are backing our customers to the hilt in promoting it because we consider our eight-inch doll the head of the family and other dolls are sold in relation to her."

He also says that the ten and one half inch Miss Ginger is sold most effectively to little girls and gift purchasers as Ginger's big sister. Other dolls in the family are Baby Ginger and Ginger's playmate, Zippy the Chimp.

Miss Kay and Berman reveal that a sales contact procedure is in operation to help any toy buyer who wishes to heighten gains made by the eight-inch doll. The sales procedure is being re-enforced with extended use of follow-up calls.

For instance, all customers called on during one of Miss Kay's sales trips will be visited also by another company representative to see that their needs have been served well. The same approach will be used for calls made by Art Baar, vice-president of Kathryn Kay, Inc., William Hollingsworth, sales supervisor, and any other sales representative.

GLIMPSE INTO FUTURE reveals two youngsters playing with their toys at the beach on a summer day. Toys are from the Knickerbocker Plastics Co.

Knickerbocker beach toys make bid for spring trade

Three beach toys designed for the spring buying season have been offered by the Knickerbocker Plastics Co., North Hollywood, Calif., to retail at 98¢ each. One is a boat which resembles a landing craft and which can be used either in water or on land since it is equipped with three wide wheels. The toy comes in red, yellow and blue and has a contrasting sand shovel.

The company also is featuring Sand City, a pyramid toy with five interlocking parts which can be formed into a skyscraper or other building forms. Each section is in a different color and is hollow for sand-building at the beach.

The third toy is called the Prairie Sand Schooner and consists of three parts which, when assembled, become a Conestoga wagon. The top lifts off to become a sand sifter and the "tongue" of the wagon lifts out to become a shovel.

All three toys are made of polyethylene. Knickerbocker offers prepaid freight on shipments of 100 pounds or more

ABC opens TV licensing unit

A television character merchandising department has been established by the American Broadcasting-Paramount Theatres, Inc., with Walter R. McCurdy in charge. The network used one of its top new shows, Bret Maverick, to mark its entry into the field. The show is produced by Warner Bros. and sponsored by Kaiser Industries and Kaiser Aluminum & Chemical Co.

McCurdy has specialized in merchandising problems for the network for the past four years. He says that he and his staff can offer television's outstanding licensing names to the industry and can provide an effective approach to various aspects of the work. The network's publicity, advertising and art staffs will assist in promotion campaigns.

BRET MAVERICK is the card playing, gun toting star of ABC's hour long Western show on Sunday nights. The network says the show, which had its premiere in September, averages an audience of 20,000,000 for each performance and offers a good tie-up for licensees.

Buyers at the Toy Fair will see a new line of Keyston items in celebration of the company's 90th anniversary.

• KATHERINE ANN RAUSER, one of the most beloved persons in the toy trade, died at her home in Ontario, Calif., on February 4th. She would have been 90 on March 24, and had spent most of those years in the toy field.

As a young girl she went to work at Marshall Fields, was a buyer, then later went into her own business as a manufacturer of dolls clothes. She was one of the few displaying at the first New York Toy Fair. Then she went on the road, traveling with toy lines, from coast-to-coast, the only "woman peddler" in the field.

When she "retired" to California in the '30s, she traveled the west only, and it was only after World War II that she gave up the last line, after over 50 years on the road.

She has been hospitalized the last few months, but until then she kept that wonderful sense of humor, beautiful philosophy of life, with always a fine word about even the most "problem" buyer, she has a special place in the memories of all who ever crossed her path.

Bayshore Making Squeeze Toys Patterned After Comic "Stars"

Bayshore Industries, Inc., Elkton, Md., currently marketing one of the most extensive lines of squeeze toys in the industry patterned after "stars" of screen, TV tube and comic books, announces that "Circus Boy" and Paramount cartoon characters are among its new "names" for 1958.

Copyrighted by Screen Gems, Inc., Bayshore squeeze toys from the famous "Circus Boy" TV show are Bimbo the Elephant, Joey the Clown and Corky the Circus Boy. From the movies and comic books come Bayshore renditions of Baby Huey, Casper the Ghost and Little Audrey, copyrighted by Paramount Pictures, Inc. Moulded of soft, washable latex and individually packaged in poly bags with colorful saddle labels, these new squeeze toys are available as individual items or in carton packs of assorted dozens.

Craftmaster's Color-by-Number Set Made for 3-12 Age Group

An unusual color-by-number pencil set is being introduced to the small fry of the country by Craft Master.

This new and clever kit is Craft Master, Jr. For every youngster between the ages of 3 to 12, it is both educational and entertaining and promises many hours of coloring pleasure. Craft Master, Jr. is a visual aid to number mastery and also enables the child to distinguish and harmonize colors. All a child has to do is color the numbered areas. Since each picture is frame bordered, he will be able to exhibit his artistic abilities just as his parents do with Craft Master's numbered oil painting sets.

Each Craft Master, Jr. contains eight coloring panels of favorite children's subjects with color printed faces and eight pencils in a variety of colors. A pencil sharpener and an easy-to-follow numbered coloring guide complete this kit.

Craft Master, Jr. which is distributed by Palmer-Pann Corporation, 328 N. Westwood Avenue, Toledo, retails for $1.

"LI'L STINKER" POWERED BI-PLANE FROM L. M. COX

A new concept in engine-powered airplanes has been announced by L. M. Cox Mfg Company, Santa Ana, Calif., with the introduction of its "Li'l Stinker," called by Cox the world's smallest ready-to-fly model airplane. A bi plane, it is powered with the tiny, but super-powered Pee Wee .020.

Jewel-like in appearance, this unique plane has been precision-engineered and contains all the minute detail of the prototype from which it has been copied. It has a wingspan of 10" and a fuselage measuring only 9½". The tiny fuel-burning engine, perfectly balanced to body proportions, weighs just 21 grams.

Roy Cox, president of the firm, points

out that the double tier wings of this biplane, the landing gear pants, the wheel skirts, and the myriad other fine features incorporated in the "Li'l Stinker," are all believed to be exclusive in the powered plane field.

The origin of the name "Li'l Stinker" dates back to World War II, when the famous Pitts Special barnstormed the country. Cox chose the name "Li'l Stinker" because of his model's similarity to the original in designing and handling ease. Its high-impact, double-toned plastic body insures smooth flying, and makes for a virtually indestructible model.

Effectively combining the use of two colors, red and white, and with an amusing replica of the "Li'l Stinker" on its fuselage, this new Thimble-Drome powered plane is volume priced at only $8.95, handsomely gift-packed in a window package.

Reports Milt Grey, head of Milt Grey Associates, the sales and marketing organization for Thimble-Drome products: "Like the fabulous selling Super Cub of last season, the "Li'l Stinker" is another important step in the Cox program of ever widening the market base, of broadening interest in power model flying. This new addition can be flown on an extremely short line, possibly permitting its use in some backyards. Engine sound has been sharply reduced. Further, the instant-starting, easy-to-handle, Thimble-Drome .020 engine is designed for fool-proof trouble-free use even by the novices."

Concludes Roy Cox: "My engineers and I feel that the "Li'l Stinker" will fly its way into the hearts of all youngsters from 9 to 90, and will become synonymous with the words 'model airplane.' It has charm and appeal to girls and young women, too, who seem to be becoming more and more interested in this exciting sport."

The "Li'l Stinker," as well as the full Thimble-Drome line, will be on display at the McAlpin Hotel during the Toy Fair and at the MGA display offices in the 200 Fifth Avenue Building, New York City 10.

Gifts Made to Clinic by Employees Of Handi-Craft Mfg. Company

This picture, taken at the plant of the Handi-Craft Mfg. Company, 3207 Chippewa Street, St. Louis, shows Sister M. Isidore, director of social services at St. John's Hospital, and assembly workers Margie Quinn, center, and Mrs. Marie Haegle.

The employees at Handi-Craft, some 45 in all, each donated one day's pay in toys to the out-patient clinic at St. John's. In this clinic where the children of the poor are treated, toys are given to youngsters on or near their birthdays or in the event they have been sickness cases for an extended period.

Handi-Craft, owned and managed by Lester Truesdell, turns out a complete line of toy telephones, modeling toys and tether ball's.

"Main-Liner," New Irish Mail By Hub, for 3-10-Year-Olds

The Hub "Main-Liner," a new Irish Mail by a new company in the toy and wheel goods field will be introduced at the Toy Fair at the Sheraton McAlpin Hotel.

Made by the Hubline Division of Hub Tool Mfg. & Machine Company of Reading, Pa., the "Main Liner" is designed to attract the eye of girls as well as boys in the 3-to-10-year age range. It is available in bicycle-type, baked enamel colors—red, blue or pink, with black and ivory trim and chrome side rails.

The sprocket and chain driving mechanism is completely enclosed for safety. Operation—forward, backward, and braking—is by a single part, the tubular steel pivot arm.

Comfortable width (17⅞") and a low center of gravity (height to top of side rails is only 14¾") give good stability which means added safety. Over-all length of the item is 33" and shipping weight 36½ pounds. The back support is adjustable, permitting the toy to "grow" with its owner. A back step accommodates junior standees.

Fender shields guard against scuffing of the youngsters legs and, a metal stop plate insures a safe minimum turning angle. The "Main-Liner" is made of steel with a welded tubular frame while the drive sprockets are of alloy steel. Rust-proof bronze bushing (oil-impregnated) and nylon bearings are used.

SOUTHWICK NAMED HEAD OF NEW IDEAL DIVISION

Gilbert G. Southwick, formerly president of Childhood Interests, Inc., and a former president of the Toy Manufacturers Association, has been named general manager of the new infant and preschool division of the Ideal Toy Corporation, it was announced last month by Benjamin F. Michtom, chairman of the board.

This is the fifth divisional expansion for Ideal in the past 12 months. It recently opened new divisions in miniature dolls, stationery, vinyl packaging and housewares.

Mr. Southwick will be responsible for developing and marketing a line of infant toys which will include plush animals, plastic nursery toys, preschool toys and infant specialty items.

Gilbert G. Southwick

"Ideal's entry into the infant and preschool field will complement the company's present coverage of toys to children in the 3-to-14-year age group," said Mr. Michtom. "Ideal will thus be supplying toys to children from their birth to their teens."

According to Mr. Southwick, Ideal's first infant plush line will be presented at the annual Toy Fair in March. Other infant products will be introduced throughout 1958.

Mr. Southwick reported that the products of the new infant division will be planned, packaged and distributed specifically for retailers of infants' merchandise. He stated that all products will be carefully researched and designed to afford maximum pleasure and safety. The new Ideal line will be competitively priced and aggressively promoted through national advertising, publicity and point-of-sale promotion.

A new sales organization will be formed by Ideal, using an outstanding group of regional manufacturers' representatives for national coverage. This sales organization will cover infant wholesalers and the infant departments in chains and department stores throughout the country. Mr. Southwick also reported that specialty lines will be developed for the variety, drug and food chains.

Mr. Southwick was a pioneer in the development of Childhood Interest, one of the leading firms in the educational toy field. He served as president of the company from 1952 to 1957 and was elected president of the Toy Manufacturers Association in 1956.

AMSCO APPOINTS BRUNER DIRECTOR OF PURCHASING

The appointment of Albert J. Bruner as director of purchasing of American Metal Specialties Corporation, Hatboro, Pa., has been announced by Myron A. Menchel, executive vice-president.

Mr. Bruner, who joined Amsco seven years ago as assistant purchasing agent, has served as material coordinator and purchasing agent. He will be assisted in his new post by Carl Meremback, who assumes the duties of purchasing agent.

Amsco manufactures a complete line of metal doll furniture and packaged scaled-to-size toy versions of authentic adult household utensils and implements, and will introduce a new line of toys this year especially designed for pre-school age children.

Moulded Products' Hobby Horses Now Riding on "Strat-O-Spring"

Bill Horgan, inventor of the Harry Strat-O-Spring, shows key features to H. E. Wolner, president of Moulded Products.

Herbert E. Wolner, president of Moulded Products, Inc., announces a new concept of spring construction for hobby horses which is being introduced in their Royal Line of Harry Horses at the 1958 Toy Fair.

This new concept employs strong, steel springs to literally float the horse, giving the rider a smooth, soft and most natural gallop action, according to Mr. Wolner. For these reasons, it has been named the "Strat-O-Spring."

The Strat-O-Spring was designed and developed by William H. "Bill" Horgan, superintendent of Moulded Products to give not only a new, realistic galloping action, but to add a number of safety features. Eliminated are the four upright posts and the four coil springs. Instead, four steel strap "C" springs mounted on a tubular frame support the horse. In the deluxe model the tubular frame, "C" springs and body supports, are heavy gauge, chrome-plated. The no-crawl base has an easy mounting hardwood step on each side.

The Deluxe Strat-O-Spring base is available with two Royal Line numbers: King Harry, #5870 with real reins and stirrups, 38" long, 40" high, 20½" wide with a saddle height of 27½"; and Prince Harry, #5856 measuring 38" long, 37" high, 20½" wide and 26" saddle height. Duke Harry, #5800 has a Strat-O-Spring frame of black, steel spring mounted on a hardwood base and measures 34" long, 32" high, 17" wide with a saddle height of 21½".

Patents on the new Harry Strat-O-Spring construction are applied for, according to Mr. Wolner.

ART MASTERPIECES COPIED WITH NEW SET FROM AVALON

Pre-numbered paint sets, in the experience of the Avalon Mfg. Corporation, 128

Middleton Street, Brooklyn 6, N. Y. can enjoy greater demand than ever. But the key, according to this firm, is to avoid the ordinary in this merchandise and stress, instead, the unusual—sets that provide greater creative stimulus.

Avalon, makers of the Hobby-Kraft line, believe they have met this standard with a new set called "Paint Your Own Art Masterpieces."

With this $4 set, "paint-your-own" artists can mix and blend the colors to match those achieved by the masters. Actually contained in the set are two pre-sketched Utrillos and one Renoir "characteristique." The hobbyist follows the supplied full-color prints of the paintings that are supplied for color selection and then goes to work on the panels.

Contents of "Paint Your Own Art Masterpieces" include 16 pre-mixed oil paints in wide mouth jars; the two 10" by 14" Utrillos ("Montmartre" and "Banlieue"); the 12" by 16" "Coquette" of Renoir; a multi-sectioned palette for color mixing; one bottle of turpentine; one bottle of linseed oil; two quality artists' brushes; a mixing guide and simple instructions.

MATTEL'S POPEYE MUSIC BOX TOY TO BE ON TELEVISION

Millions of children will see Mattel's new Popeye-in-the-Music-Box toy on the local Popeye TV shows during 1958.

This full-action musical jack-in-the-box has a turnable crank which, when moved, plays the "Popeye the Sailorman" song. Popeye 'himself then pops to out of the spinach can music box with his characteristic "Ar!"

DARWIN ACCESSORIES BOARD REPORTED EASILY ATTACHABLE

The new Darwin Accessories Board shown here is designed to solve the dealer's problem of stocking and displaying colorful accessories.

This permanent display board is free with the purchase of an initial stock of fast-moving accessories. Dealers can easily affix the sturdy, colorful board to their shelf edge, a wall or to a pegboard display. The unit contains items with a list value of $47.55 and a cost to the dealer of $28.00.

The Quality Line is available from most model-hobby jobbers and is manufactured by Darwin Model Aircraft Company, Ann Arbor, Mich.

"Hot Stuff" Character Costume Latest Collegeville "Name" Item

Collegeville Flag & Mfg. Company, Collegeville, Pa., is adding to its full offering of costumes a character number based on "Hot Stuff," the Little Devil, a Harvey Famous Names Comics character.

To retail at $2.98, the new costume will join four other Harvey "names" in the Collegeville line. These, first introduced in costume form in 1956 are Casper the Friendly Ghost, Herman the Mouse, Wendy the Good Little Witch and Buzzy the Crow. The last-named retails at $2.98, the others at $1.98. All four are Paramount Pictures cartoon celebrities well known by all children.

Bill Wimmer and his associates at Collegeville state they are looking forward to an excellent year for their entire line of Harvey Famous Name Comic Stars. These are now on display at the manufacturer's newly redecorated showroom at 200 Fifth Avenue.

Rugged but Stylish Table-Chair Set Offered by Williamsburg

On the theory that children's play furniture must have ruggedness as well as style and price-acceptability, the Williamsburg Chair Factory, Inc., Box 98, Williamsburg, Ohio, manufactures a complete line of juvenile table and chair sets and rockers out of selected hardwood and makes frequent use of bent wood parts such as are shown in the small captain's chairs in the #81-14 table set (see illustration).

The company reports that the sale of children's play furniture has increased yearly until it is now a major part of their annual production. They maintain a permanent showroom at Space 1111 at the American Furniture Mart in Chicago and will show at the Toy Fair in Room 623 of the New Yorker Hotel.

All table and chair sets made by Williamsburg are made of hard maple, birch and beech with the table tops finished with lacquer to withstand the hard usage given them by small children. Early American styles predominate.

Eddy Associates' Gould, Shillig And Berlow Hold Sales Meeting

Wee Folks Wagon Runs Safely On Six-Volt Battery Power

Eve Arden and children try out auto.

Sturdily built and with a low center of gravity, the Wee Folks Wagon runs quietly at a speed that never hits the danger point according to Grant and Grant.

Equipment includes, besides the batteries, a battery charger and tester, puncture-proof 10" by 2.75" tires, a forward-reversing switch, ignition key, hand brake, foot throttle and aircraft-type steering wheel.

The Wee Folks Wagon is finished in red, weighs 187 pounds with batteries (107 without), and retails for about $300.

The Wee Folks Wagon, a battery-driven, safe-to-run automobile for youngsters is a product of Grant and Grant, 241 N. Westmoreland Avenue, Los Angeles.

Measuring 50" in length, 24" in width and 18' in height the auto can hold and transport four children up to a total weight of 200 pounds. The two 6-volt Trojan batteries which power the vehicle are rechargeable overnight under normal use and can furnish from six to 15 hours of running time.

ASSORTMENT OF 4 TARGET GAMES BY HARETT-GILMAR

To merchandise a toy successfully today, it must be well-designed and packaged as to make the customer want to buy it. A corollary need is that the purchase be made easy to consummate.

These are the beliefs of Harett-Gilmar,

Inc., 34-11 Far Rockaway Blvd., Far Rockaway, N. Y., a firm which has just introduced a line of carded 59¢ indoor-outdoor moving-target games that reportedly demonstrate the proper application of these "easy to want" and "easy to buy" principles.

Each of the four items in the assortment is in the form of a colorful grinning face "made to be thrown at." With every target, in its self-service package, are suction cup darts, plastic balls and poly rings. The headers show sketches of the toys actually in use.

NEW WESTCLOX WALL CLOCKS FOR CHILDREN INTRODUCED

A lively "Merry-Go-Round" counter display is now available to introduce the "Calico Horse Clock," a new children's specialty item made by Westclox, La Salle, Peru, Ill., under its Columbia Time

brand name. This children's key-wound wall clock with a pendulum motion comes in red, yellow and blue, with one of each color mounted on the display. The seal is known as assortment #530.

Individually packaged in specially designed red and yellow gift boxes sporting a gay circus parade theme, the clocks are expected to be in national distribution by about March 15.

EDUCATIONAL ELECTRONICS HAS SPACE SATELLITE "MOON RADIO"

Educational Electronics Company, Chicago 26, state that their U. S. Command Space Satellite, the "Moon Radio," is proving one of the best selling electronic hobby items they have ever introduced. Looking just like a satellite, yet no bigger than a baseball, the "Moon Radio" has all the features any youngster could wish for in a radio. It comes fully assembled and requires no tubes or batteries; the sensitive electronic instruments are pre-sealed in the satellite, which includes a Germanium diode and an ear-plug type speaker.

One has only to attach the clip to any metal grounding, lampshade, phone dial, window screen, water pipe, radiator, etc., plug the speaker into the ear and simply tune the "Moon Radio" in on any favorite program desired. No batteries are required.

The U. S. Command Space Satellite "Moon Radio" is molded in colorful, durable plastic and comes fully assembled in a colorful display box to retail for $5.95.

B & M SPORTOY'S OFFERING MANY NEW ITEMS FOR '58

Several new categories in the sporting goods field will be presented to the trade by B & M Sportoy at the Toy Fair. Added to the basketball and goal set line and the striking bags, for which B & M Sportoy has been noted for years, are the following brand new lines: badminton sets, volley ball sets, badminton-volley ball combination sets, home gyms, boxing gloves and training outfits. All these, and more, will be on display in the showrooms of Levy & Fryer, Inc., national sales representatives at 200 Fifth Avenue, New York City during the Fair.

B & M Sportoy also announces that they have been awarded the exclusive Joe Palooka franchise for Sportoys. This franchise reportedly has proved to be a strong sales stimulus in other sporting goods fields.

"Important to our customers, new and old, is the fact that we have made marked advancements in the packaging and design of our basketball and goal sets and our striking bags," says Mac Lewis, president. "With our new designs and packaging, plus the greatest expansion ever in the history of our company, we look forward to 1958 as a record breaking year in sales."

NEW YORK DOLL SHOE CO., INC. ADDS TWO NEW CORPORATIONS

Sam Farulla and his son, Bob, are happy to announce the addition of two new corporations to offer a complete service to doll manufacturers: The New York Vinyl Corporation and the New York Doll Accessories Corporation, both located at their new and spacious quarters at 360 Furman Street, Brooklyn, N. Y.

The New York Doll Shoe Company, Inc., founded back in 1934, first won popularity with doll manufacturers with their full line of doll shoes. They have now expanded to offer the assemblers a complete service, from doll shoes and stockings to vinyl doll bodies, parts, custom molding, and all the accessories that go with it, such as furniture, jewelry, roller skates, and so forth. Both Sam and Bob Farulla announce that they will have available every conceivable item in doll accessories.

The Farullas promise their customers quality and prompt delivery, at competitive prices, all made possible by many years of experience.

LOGAN ELECTRIC SPECIALTY TO ADD 12M SQUARE FEET

The Logan Electric Specialty Mfg. Company, 1431-35 W. Hubbard Street, Chicago, manufacturers of toys and games, photographic equipment, advertising displays and other products, is now in the midst of a plant expansion program, Jack Chizewer, general manager at Logan, states that the company is adding 12,000 square feet of floor space adjacent to their present building, this will give the firm a total of 40,000 square feet for production and storage purposes.

Logan is well known in the toy field for such products as the herein-illustrated Jet Basketball Game, juvenile sporting goods toys, floor-model striking bag sets, lithographed steel toys and games, novelty savings banks, and so forth.

The company's line, including many new numbers, will be on view at the Toy Fair in the Frank & Press' Suite 1462 in the 200 Fifth Avenue Building and in Logan's own New Yorker showroom, Room 530.

"MASS-CLASS" MARKET

Sixty three percent of the United States families earn from $3,000 to $10,000 a year and account for 72 percent of total consumer product expenditures, according to a Life magazine study released last fall.

DON BOLIN ADDED TO SALES STAFF AT STROMBECK-BECKER

Appointment of Don Bolin to the sales staff of the Strombeck-Becker Mfg. Company, Moline, Ill., has been announced by Frederick K. Strombeck, president, of the concern.

Representing the "Stromhecker" line of scale model kits and pre-school toys, Mr.

Don Bolin

Bolin will work out of Strombeck-Becker's New York office. His territory will consist of Connecticut, Delaware, District of Columbia, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, and Vermont.

Mr Bolin's background includes extensive sales experience in the toy field, and a wide knowledge of eastern and midwestern markets.

High on the Strombecker list of successful items are the recently introduced "Eggbert" toys, featuring the copyrighted character, "Eggbert." This line of plastic and wood vehicles is reported to have made an immediate hit wherever featured and will be extensively merchandised during the coming months.

RUSSELL CARD GAMES STILL IN 25¢ RANGE

Two new exciting card games—Mickey Mouse Funny Rummy and Walt Disney's True Life Adventure Cards—were introduced recently by the Russell Mfg. Company of Leicester, Mass. Both are Walt Disney-inspired games with authentic reproductions of many well-known Disney characters.

All Russell card games are reported to have undergone a complete repackaging job, with the new packs featuring full-color designs and reproductions. Along with the new packages, Russell is offering a new self-selling counter display unit. This display piece is specially designed to encourage customer selection and provides adequate stock space for Russell card games right in the unit itself. Retailers need no back-up stock as the display itself contains complete stock assortments.

"A complete 25¢ price range, new games and repackaging of our line plus our self-selling counter display enable us to offer customers a sound selling proposition," says Ralph Russell, president.

Russell Mfg. Company is represented exclusively by Levy & Fryer, Inc., national sales representatives at 200 Fifth Avenue, New York 10, New York.

NY-LINT

Three Ny-Lint toys linked to modern times

Toys to represent three contrasting fields have been introduced by Ny-Lint Tool & Mfg. Co., Rockford, Ill. They are a uranium hauler, a guided missile carrier, and a junior jack hammer drill.

The hauler is a big rear-dump truck with a powerful hydraulic cylinder to operate the dumping action. The front end, which has a modern design cab, is permanently pivoted to the rear section so that the two parts cannot become separated. The hauler is strong enough to dump even a heaping load of wet sand.

The toy, made entirely of steel with a sprayed on enamel finish in Army green, retails for $7.98.

The guided missile carrier has an all-steel side-lift fork truck equipped with a rocket missile modeled after those in use at Cape Canaveral. The fork mechanism lifts and traverses the cradle on which the missile itself is clipped and pivoted. The cradle can be reversed to form a pallet on which loads of lumber, logs, stone or toys may be conveyed. Retail price is $9.98.

The third toy, the junior jack hammer drill, represents Ny-Lint's return to the lower priced field and sells for $3.98. The jack hammer, which requires no batteries, sounds just like the pneumatic pavement breakers used on construction jobs. The toy is operated by applying its rounded plastic drill point to any surface.

Little Sportster Fishing Kit is a junior angling set recently introduced by the Aluminum Specialty Co., Manitowoc 4, Wis.

Designed either for fishing of play, the nine-piece set includes steel rod and aluminum reel, ten pound line, two lead sinkers, balsa float and pan fish hook.

The set is skin-packaged. Retail price is 98c.

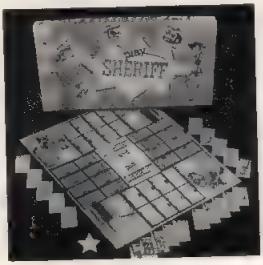
Bradley will show record number of items at Fair

A record number of items including twelve games will be introduced by the Milton Bradley Co., Springfield, Mass., at the Toy Fair. Among the games will be Play Sheriff which features a search for outlaws.

James J. Shea, president, says that three new puzzles have been added. He adds that each toy will carry the firm's slogan, "Key to Fun and Learning" and a prominent notation to indicate the age group for which it is suitable.

Three games, Rack-O, Name that Tune, and Test Driver were added to the list last year with the company continuing to make those which were long term successes. They include Uncle Wiggily, Go to the Head of the Class, Chutes and Ladders, Candyland, Easy Money, Pirate and Traveler, Games of the States, and Park and Shop.

Shea predicts that the interest of parents in helping their children to make out well in school will be an increasingly important factor in the sale of games. As an example, he cites the record made by Steps to Learning, a series of educational kits put out by his company which retail for $2.50 each. The kits are designed to prepare youngsters for classroom work.



BRADLEY

TIGRETT

Bright new package for Golden Sonic

Golden Sonic, remote control toy of Tigrett Industries, Jackson, Tenn., is now packaged in a corrugated display shipper printed in black, red, blue and yellow on bleached white board. Each carries a picture of the toy.

A master shipping container holds two of the display boxes. On the cover of each box there is a tuck-in lid, with multi-colored pylons, or pyramid shaped forms, printed on the inner flaps. These forms can be punched out of the flaps and assembled for use as obstacles for the toy which is guided by the sound of a whistle.

The shipper and container are manufactured by Gaylord Container Corp., a division of Crown Zellerbach.

Cuddly toys in demand as room decorations

Cuddly toy animals, which traditionally have been reserved for very small children, now are said to be in strong demand among teen-age and college girls who buy them as room decorations. Richard G. Krueger, Inc., says that the demand, however, is for toys larger in size.

The company has just issued a catalog featuring such animals as ducks, bears, lambs, bunnies, lions, dogs, elephants and owls. Some revolve to music and are able to sit, stand or recline. Requests for the catalog may be addressed to the company at 112 West 34th st., New York 1.

The toys range in size. Krueger expresses the belief this will mean increased sales since parents or relatives who decide to buy a present for a baby may wind up buying another one for the teen-age girl of the family.

MATTEL'S POPEYE MUSIC BOX TOY TO BE ON TELEVISION

Millions of children will see Mattel's new Popeye-in-the-Music-Box toy on the local Popeye TV shows during 1958.

This double-action musical jack-in-the-box has a turnable crank which, when moved, plays the "Popeye the Sailorman" song. Popeye himself then pops up out of the spinach can music box with his characteristic "Arf."

The music box is all metal, decorated with a four-color litho of Popeye and his friends, and retails for $3.

Measuring 5¼" by 5½" by 5½", each Popeye in the Music-Box comes in a standard pack of one dozen, weighing some 16 pounds.

DARWIN ACCESSORIES BOARD REPORTED EASILY ATTACHABLE

The new Darwin Accessories Board, shown here is designed to solve the dealer's problem of stocking and displaying control line accessories.

This permanent display board is free with the purchase of an initial stock of fast-moving accessories. Dealers can easily affix the sturdy, colorful board to their shelf edge, a wall or to a pegboard display. The unit contains items with a list value of $47.55 and a cost to the dealer of $28 net.

"The Quality Line" is available from most model-hobby jobbers and is manufactured by Darwin Model Aircraft Company, Ann Arbor, Mich.

"Hot Stuff" Character Costume Latest Collegeville "Name" Item

Collegeville Flag & Mfg. Company, Collegeville, Pa., is adding to its full offering of costumes a character number based on "Hot Stuff," the Little Devil, a Harvey Famous Names Comics character.

To retail at $2.98, the new costume will join four other Harvey "names" in the Collegeville line. These, first introduced in costume form in 1956, are: Casper the Friendly Ghost, Herman the Mouse, Wendy the Good Little Witch and Buzzy the Crow. The last-named retails at $2.98; the others at $1.98. All four are Paramount Pictures cartoon celebrities well known by all children.

Bill Wimmer and his associates at Collegeville state they are looking forward to an excellent year for their entire line of Harvey Famous Name Comic Stars. These are now on display at the manufacturer's newly-redecorated showroom at 200 Fifth Avenue.

Rugged but Stylish Table-Chair Set Offered by Williamsburg

On the theory that children's play furniture must have ruggedness as well as style and price acceptability, the Williamsburg Chair Factory, Inc., Box 98, Williamsburg, Ohio, manufactures a complete line of juvenile table and chair sets and rockers out of selected hardwood and makes frequent use of bent wood parts such as are shown in the small captain's chairs in the #81-14 table set (see illustration).

The company reports that the sale of children's play furniture has increased yearly until it is now a major part of their annual production. They maintain a permanent showroom at Space 1111 at the American Furniture Mart in Chicago and will show at the Toy Fair in Room 623 of the New Yorker Hotel.

All table and chair sets made by Williamsburg are made of hard maple, birch and beech, with the table tops finished with lacquer to withstand the hard usage given them by small children. Early American styles predominate.

Eddy Associates' Gould, Shillig And Berlow Hold Sales Meeting

Wee Folks Wagon Runs Safely On Six-Volt Battery Power

Eve Arden and children try out auto.

Sturdily built and with a low center of gravity, the Wee Folks Wagon runs quietly at a speed that never hits the danger point, according to Grant and Grant.

Equipment includes, besides the batteries, a battery charger and tester, puncture proof 10" by 2.75" tires, a forward-reversing switch, ignition key, hand brake, foot throttle, and aircraft-type steering wheel.

The Wee Folks Wagon is finished in red, weighs 187 pounds with batteries (107 without), and retails for about $300.

The Wee Folks Wagon, a battery-driven, safe-to-run automobile for youngsters is a product of Grant and Grant, 241 N. Westmoreland Avenue, Los Angeles.

Measuring 50" in length, 24" in width and 18" in height, the auto can hold and transport four children up to a total weight of 200 pounds. The two 6-volt Trojan batteries which power the vehicle are rechargeable overnight under normal use and can furnish from six to 15 hours of running time.

ASSORTMENT OF 4 TARGET GAMES BY HARETT-GILMAR

To merchandise a toy successfully today, it must be so designed and packaged as to make the customer want to buy it. A corollary need is that the purchase be made easy to consummate.

These are the beliefs of Harett Gilmar

Inc., 34-11 Far Rockaway Blvd., Far Rockaway, N. Y., a firm which has just introduced a line of carded 59¢ indoor-outdoor moving-target games that reportedly demonstrate the proper application of these "easy to wait" and "easy to buy" principles.

Each of the four items in the assortment is in the form of a colorful grinning face "made to be thrown at." With every target, in its self-service package, are suction cup darts, plastic balls and poly rings. The headers show sketches of the toys actually in use.

NEW WESTCLOX WALL CLOCKS FOR CHILDREN INTRODUCED

A lively "Merry-Go-Round" counter display is now available to introduce the "Calico Horse Clock," a new children's specialty item made by Westclox, La Salle-Peru, Ill., under its Columbia Time

brand name. This children's key-wound wall clock with a pendulum motion comes in red, yellow and blue, with one of each color mounted on the display. The deal is known as assortment #530.

Individually packaged in specially designed red and yellow gift boxes sporting a gay circus parade theme, the clocks are expected to be in national distribution by about March 15.

LAPIN

Circus Boy squeeze toys

Bayshore Industries, Inc., Elkton, Md., has introduced a line of squeeze toys inspired by characters from Circus Boy, a TV show, and Paramount Pictures' comic books and movies.

Circus Boy squeeze toys, copyrighted by Screen Gems, Inc., include Bimbo the elephant, Joey the clown and Corky the circus boy. Characters copyrighted by Paramount Pictures Inc. include Baby Huey, Casper the ghost and Little Audrey.

The toys are molded of washable latex and are individually packaged in polyethylene bags. They are available as individual items or in assorted dozens.

Pyro adds eight space toys to line

Eight new space toys have been added to the line of plastic toys manufactured by Pyro Plastics Corp., Pyro Park, Union, N. J., the firm announces.

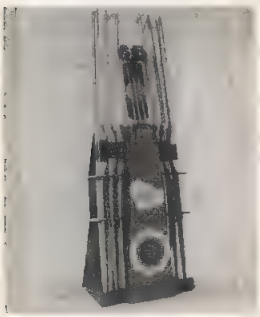
The toys were recently tested by customers at one of New York's variety chain stores where a futuristic display was set up. Pyro declares that consumer reaction to the display was favorable.

Toys include the space control gun, a clicker type trigger which retails at 15¢; the disintegrator space pistol with repeating sound trigger, retailing at 59¢, and a space rifle, a lever actuated machine gun also retailing at 59¢. The toys are made of silver metallic styrene plastic except for the disintegrator pistol which comes in a two-tone bronze and silver color.

Archery unit for supers

To meet the growth of self-service in chains, super-markets and variety stores, Withington Products, West Minot, Me., has developed a new, multi-colored, self-service archery sales unit and display stand.

The display unit is available in three popular-priced combinations of bows, colored arrows and accessories. Each unit is packed in its own display stand and is shipped as one complete unit to a carton. Archery sets, including one bow, three arrows and a target, will retail from $1 to $2, depending on the size of the bow.



WITHINGTON

Game for grown-ups

An adult game, based on the appeal of the personality quizzes now popular with magazines, has been put on the market by Rennoc Games & Toys, Inc., Port Norris, N. J. It is called "Malice" and can be played by any number.

Packaged in a black, bright green and shocking pink box, it comes with 64 illustrated cards, 80 winks used to score personality traits and half a dozen slate scorepads. Suggested retail price is $1.98.

Blocks can be used to form real city

A set of polyethylene building blocks which snap together has been added to the line of Lapin Products, Newark. The set, called Build-O-Rama, is on display in the company's showroom in the Sherry-Netherlands Hotel, 60th st. and Fifth ave., and in the showroom of Portugal & Krotman, Inc., 200 Fifth ave.

The company says the blocks permit the construction of a wide variety of buildings which can be handled and moved about, but that the blocks can be separated easily for re-use. Roofing material is provided. The blocks include windows, doors and cornices.

The set, which contains exactly 561 pieces, retails for $4 and is accompanied by an instruction booklet. The company describes the set as suitable not only for children but also for hobby fans interested in construction. Among the buildings which can be constructed with the set are offices, apartments, garages, banks, a theatre, a hospital and a school.

Diamond Miracle Vision Mat'l Useful for Swimsuits, Too

Miss America (Miss Marilyn Van Derbur) and Florida's Orange Queen at the Rose Bowl, Sheron Spencer, take time out at Cypress Gardens to marvel at perhaps "world's largest beachball."

Patience and research, reported to have paid handsome dividends to the Holiday Line in 1957 in the form of 3D Miracle Vision, a new development in the inflatable field, have paid off again this year, according to Dave Rosenberg of Holiday

This year's product of painstaking research is Diamond Miracle Vision, containing, says Mr Rosenberg, "all the sparkle and strength of diamonds."

A swim suit fashioned from the new Diamond Miracle Vision material was modeled at the National Sporting Goods Association Show and at the previously held Sporting Goods Fair by its designer Miss Marta Hernandez As a reward she was elected Miss 3 Dimensional at the two shows. "The requests for additional designs in three-dimensional bathing suits," notes Mr Rosenberg, "have resulted in a completely new fashion that will be seen during the Toy Fair."

A special display of Diamond Miracle Vision toys will also be displayed, for the first time, at the Fair along with newly-developed water toys such as ducks, seals and water horses with a special pontoon design to keep them upright while floating in the water. Prices on the ducks list at $1.98, on the water horse, $3.98.

NEW POLICIES, NEW MANAGEMENT MARK ARRANBEE'S 40th YEAR

To celebrate its 40th anniversary, Arranbee Doll Company, Inc., 200 Fifth Avenue, New York City is unveiling for 1958 the most complete quality line of dolls in their history. A new slate of officers and key management personnel has also been announced, as follow.

Robert Wanderman has been elected president; Jerry Lipsitz, vice-president, and Henry Weisser, sales manager. Mrs. Rose Rothstein, wife of William Rothstein, founder and president of Arranbee until his untimely death last November, is serving in an advisory capacity. Ownership and management is still maintained by the Rothstein family, a name well known to the entire industry The sales force is composed of Charlie Pettit (with the firm since 1929), Joel Tasman, Bob Liss and Wes Wetmore, west coast representative

Arranbee's spacious 50,000-square foot factory in Hicksville, L. I., N. Y., is under the supervision of four men and women who collectively have 114 years of doll manufacturing experience behind them. Ruby Hopf, dean of doll fashion designers has been with the company for 28 years Production men Virgil Kirby and Morris Goldberg have been with the firm for 27 and 29 years, respectively, and floor manager Felicia Monestaro has been with Arranbee for 30 years

Nineteen-eighteen saw the humble beginning of Arranbee in a small downtown loft as importers of foreign toys Soon after, the firm began manufacturing their own dolls. The company's success necessitated four moves through the years, all to larger quarters—to 579 Union Square, to 894 Broadway, to 881 Broadway, and finally to 250 Duffy Avenue in Hicksville, L. I.

The present factory contains the most modern of manufacturing facilities, which when combined with 40 years of hand craftsmanship "know-how," enables Arranbee to produce quality dolls at popular prices. One-hundred-eight sewing machines make possible the cutting and sewing of all clothes in the plant itself, while a complete wing is devoted to an up-to-date plastics division. More than 300 people are employed during the peak months

dolls have consistently set the trend for the entire industry. "Debuteen," which appeared in 1934, was the first of the slim dolls which are so popular today. "Debuteen" had a cloth body and jointed arms and legs. "Martha and George Washington" dolls, which also made their appearance in the 1930's, were a tremendous success—one of the few times in the history of the doll business that a boy doll sold more than a million units

What R & B claims was the first teat doll was introduced (and advertised) by them in 1937, reportedly well before this popular number ever caught the public's fancy

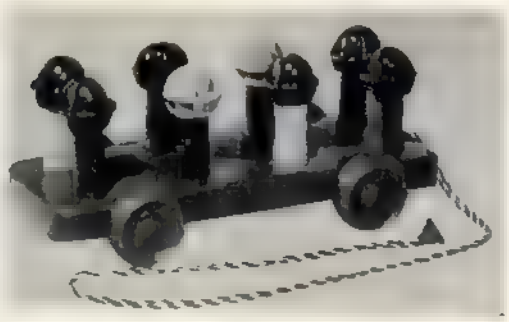
"Bottle Baby" was another R & B hit This doll featured a magic bottle (attached to her arm) which emptied and refilled itself as the arm was raised and lowered "Rock Me Baby" was a novel doll and cradle item When the cradle was rocked the doll was put to sleep.

R & B's current line is the culmination of 40 years of experience and success. It marks the return of R & B to a complete line of dolls and accessories—teen age dolls baby dolls, toddlers, tear dolls, new-born babes and wardrobe trunks

Geared to meet the demands of all buyers, the selection includes "Sweet Pea," "Angel Face," "Nanette," "Littlest Angel" and the popular "Coty Girl" illustrated here.

The reception accorded "Coty Girl" in her 1957 debut has prompted R & B to back this doll up with a nationwide newspaper, television and magazine publicity and advertising campaign. The campaign was kicked off on the NBC network's "Ruff and Ready" television program "Coty Girl" appeared on this show March 1 and will be shown again on March 15.

The complete R & B line for 1958 is now on display at the company's permanent showrooms, 200 Fifth Avenue, New York City



Peg Cart, Christmas Stocking Assortments by U. S. Plastic

A color peg cart and two assortments of toys in Christmas stockings have just been introduced by U. S. Plastic Company. The color peg cart is designed for teething, as a pull toy and as a color-coordination educational toy. It is unbreakable, safe, flexible and made of polyethylene. Also, it will not mar furniture and is attractively boxed to sell at suggested retail price of $2.49.

One of the stocking assortments is for infants, the other for older children, each one skin-packed on an attractive stocking-shaped card for impulse sales. Suggested retail is $1.98.

U. S. Plastic Company is located at 2570 E. Walnut, Pasadena, Calif.

WESTERN PURSUIT GAME, REWARD, BY HAPPY HOUR

What is termed an entirely new concept in game motivation will be unveiled at the Toy Fair when Happy Hour, Inc., of St. Paul, Minn., introduces its newest 3-D game.

Brightly packaged in an old west design, the game, Reward, has a mobile goal compared to the traditional set goals of other parlor games.

Happy Hour's president, Stanley Rindfleisch, said the game features this fresh approach to playing combined with the al ways popular Western flavor that intrigues youngsters and adults.

The game is to be premiered at the annual Toy Fair and will be on the market immediately following the introduction. It joins the Happy Hour family of favorites such as Billionaire, Kokomo Jr., Clown Ball, 9-All, Ticky the Clown Clock and Hunch.

Mr. Rindfleisch predicts an enthusiastic market for the new game, which he believes may exceed the selling power of Billionaire, currently Happy Hour's most popular package.

Reward, developed by the C. B. Donald Company of St. Paul, is priced at $2.98 retail. It is in the form of colorful sculptured plastic mountains, ski trails, lakes and hideouts.

An oversize cartoon of a cowboy desperado, complete with handlebar moustache, appears on the cover beneath bold letters proclaiming "Reward."

Two dice control the movements of the game, with deputies represented by the red dice and the villain by the green cube. Action starts from th sheriff's office in the center of the game, with deputies moving over various trails and the villain moving from one hideout to another, depending on the throw of the dice.

Rewards of play money go to the deputy who catches the villain and the winner is promoted to sheriff.

MONOGRAM BREAKS WITH NATIONAL AD CAMPAIGN

Monogram Models will launch a national advertising campaign in major consumer magazines, Fredric Wellmann, advertising [illegible] Monogram, said a full page ad in the February issue of Popular Mechanics inaugurated the campaign. This is to be followed by a full-page ad in the March issue of Boy's Life. Other ads are scheduled for fall.

Mr. Wellmann said that the campaign will sell model-building as a family hobby as well as selling individual Monogram plastic kits. "Building model kits as a hobby is increasing in popularity every day," he said. "Although many kits are purchased by adults for their own use, we will concentrate primarily on the youth market."

Mr. Wellmann encouraged retailers to keep on their counters copies of the magazines in which Monogram will advertise. "Local tie-up with the ads will give added mileage to the campaign," he said. "By showing the ads to prospective buyers when they are in your stores, a better sales-climate can be created."

STERLING LICENSED TO PRODUCE NEW SAD SACK NOVELTY DOLL

Sterling Doll Company, 902 Broadway, New York City, will display at the Toy Fair a Sad Sack novelty doll (all vinyl) 20" high. Costumed in an authentic army uniform with Sad Sack insignia and overseas cap, it is to retail for $3.98. The doll has been packaged in a self-contained display unit "designed to sell on sight."

This off-beat novelty doll is reported to have captured the intangible and humorous qualities that have made George Baker's Sad Sack one of the most talked about and loved comic strip figures.

Released for only five weeks in 1957, the Sad Sack movie starring Jerry Lewis scored a major box office success. It was among the top 20 high earning pictures of the year. Because of the enthusiasm with which youngsters greeted this picture, a second big Sad Sack Paramount Picture has been scheduled for a Christmas 1958 release.

The Sad Sack is also about to enter another medium with a television show scheduled for nationwide release this fall.

Sterling Doll Company has been tied in with this big fall promotion by Harvey Famous Name Comics, Inc., the exclusive licensing agents for all Sad Sack merchandise. The novelty doll and other licensed products will be promoted through the four individual Harvey comic magazines that reach over 48 million children per year through the sale of over 12 million Sad Sack comics.

TAMA INDIANS DEVELOP KEYED PAINTING KITS

Tama Indian Crafts, Mesquakie Indian Settlement, Tama, Iowa, is making and marketing a paint-by-yourself kit designed by Push-e-to-ne-qua, one of the members of that settlement. It consists of two complete pictures of Indian dancers which are keyed for coloring; 10 casein colors; two prepared mats for framing; and a brush.

The kit retails for $2, and is only one of several items being made by Tama Indian Crafts, which was initiated by the University of Chicago as an attempt to establish a profit-making home industry for this group of American Indians.

Ken Bevirt, Ray Kratky and Bil Wenzel in latter's office

H. Wenzel in New General Offices

The new executive offices and general headquarters of the H Wenzel Tent & Duck Company are now located at 2200 S Hanley Road in suburban St Louis. Previous, the firm had occupied for many years a building in the near downtown area of the city Its manufacturing and production facilities are at New Haven, Mo., within each easy reach of the new offices.

Bill Wenzel, secretary-treasurer of the firm, believes that the increasing number of American children in the 3-10 age bracket will mean another good sales year in the play tent field. "We expect," he said, "that 1958 figures will not only match but exceed last year's."

Advertising director Ken Bevirt is high on the use of miniature tent displays by retailers, most of whom rarely have sufficient space for displaying the full-size tents that are manufactured and sold by Wenzel

"Our line is made up of indoor and outdoor tents," noted Mr Bevirt, "which means they're not seasonal items as such. They can be sold at retail the full year around."

TONKA RESTYLES LINE; HAS NEW OFFERINGS FOR 1958

Tonka Toys, Inc., kept pace with Detroit again this year by redesigning its 1958 line of scale model metal vehicles to match the current trends in the styling of today's automobiles

Eight brand new vehicles or sets and two accessory packages are being introduced by Tonka, which patterned its realistic cab design after that of a popular truck manufacturer

Tonka's miniature reflections of contemporary automotive design total 29 this year, in addition to the seven accessory items aimed at supplementing the play value of the vehicles

Introduction of 1958's Tonka Toys is scheduled for the Toy Fair in New York City, according to President L. E. Baker Tonka's displays are arranged in Rooms 729 and 730 of the Hotel New Yorker as well as in Room 208 at 200 Fifth Avenue, the company's New York office. Four-color catalogs detailing the new line will be available.

Highlights of the general design change include more massive, broad hoods and an appearance of ruggedness; dual headlights; tinted, plastic wrap-around windshields; realistic grilles; and greater color variety

Tonka maintained its use of proven construction features in the 1958 models heavy-gauge steel and heavy aluminum, baked truck enamel, chromate finishing of plated surfaces, and adherence to scale model realism in a 1" to 18" scale ratio Attractive, protective packaging serves for shipping and display purposes

In keeping with the nation's swing to more leisure-time activities, Tonka has come up with a package that is expected to be one of the leaders in its 1958 line Called the Deluxe Sportsman, it consists of a two-tone sportsman-type truck, detachable trailer, plastic boat and removable outboard motor. The varied play combinations possible with this toy (#34) and its low price of $5.98 are expected to insure its popularity

The Sportsman truck (#05) is offered separately for a list price of $3.98. Blue in color, it has a trailer coupling and operating tailgate for convenience of those who enjoy camping

A third combination employing the Sportsman is the Sportsman with Box Trailer (#29), a versatile duo listed at $5.98

The young "farmer" was considered in the introduction of the Farm Stake with Two-Horse Trailer (#35), listed at $6.98. Patterned after its real life counterpart, the white trailer carries a team of polystyrene horses. The stakes can be removed from the truck for added flexibility

Another new member of the Tonka fleet is the (#39) white Nationwide Moving Van Priced at $7.98, it features a trailer that uncouples from the cab for loading purposes

A Utility Truck (#03) also joined the line this year. An all-purpose cargo vehicle, it has heavy metal posts that will contain most loads. It is listed to retail at $3.98.

Two new combinations of Tonka farm vehicles augment the 1958 offerings A Farm Set, listed at $14.95, caters to the "gentleman farmer." Its components include the Farm Stake Truck, Stock Rack, Stake Trailer with Animal, Horse Trailer and Team, and a wooden corral (Most of the units that toys in this and other sets are also sold separately)

The Deluxe Farm Set (#B209), priced at $22.95, contains all the requisites to start "farming" on a grand scale. Plastic animals comprise the cargo for the four separate vehicles, while a wooden corral serves to contain the animals. Vehicles in the set are the Livestock Van, Farm Stake Truck, Stock Rack and Horse Trailer

Tonka Toy accessories were expanded with the addition of the Boat Trailer and outboard motor (#AC311), priced at $1.98, and the Horse Trailer and Team (#AC314), listed at $2.98.

There are a number of other innovations in the new line. Among these are the white Tanker that replaces the rescue squad truck in the Fire Department, a new combination of vehicles in the Hi-Way Construction Set, and a retractable hose in the Gasoline Truck

GERBER'S BOWLING PIN AND POPEYE BEACH SETS

The #3-18 Popeye Beach Set and #8-04 Bowling Pin Set are two popular items in this year's line of the Peer Products division of the Gerber Plastic Company, 3001 Washington, St. Louis.

The name of Popeye, a character whose long-time popularity with children has been revived and strengthened in recent years as a result of his daily TV film appearances, is expected to aid the sales of the beach set It's a 98¢ retailer consisting of a rowboat, detachable oars, two seats, a shovel and Popeye sand mold. All are made of polyethylene and packed in a clear poly bag with a colorful illustrated Popeye cartoon tab. Packing is 12 to a carton weighing 4½ pounds.

Ten white polyethylene pins 6⅞" high and two red 3" high impact balls packed in a poly bag with a scorecard header comprise the Bowling Pin Set. Retail price on the item is $1.98. It comes in a one-dozen pack; shipping weight, about 8 pounds

PRIDE PRODUCTS TO UNVEIL DELUXE MARIONETTE LINE

Production is rolling full speed ahead on a new deluxe line of marionettes to be shown to the trade at the Toy Fair by Pride Products, leading manufacturer of puppets. The new line will be called "Depri Originals," and advance word indicates that a fresh new approach will be featured. The first showing of the deluxe line will be at the offices and showrooms of Levy & Fryer, Inc., national sales representatives located at 200 Fifth Avenue, New York City

Leonard Coplan of Pride Products reports that this deluxe line has been thoroughly sales tested in picked department stores and major toy departments throughout the country. The success of the "Depri Originals," he states, was "immediate and overwhelming." Therefore, Pride Products has greatly expanded production facilities on the new line, and is prepared to franchise a limited number of key jobbers throughout the country to handle it.

In addition to "Depri Originals," Pride will add four new numbers to their extensive line of hand puppets

Monogram Producing Models of U.S. Navy's Blue Angels Team

The U. S. Navy's famous flight demonstration team, the Blue Angels, has joined the fleet of authentic model planes produced by Monogram Models, Inc., 3421 W. 48 Place, Chicago.

Monogram has included the four-plane team, with a display stand on which the models can be mounted in realistic flight formation, in a new and unusual addition to its Plastikit Series. The planes carry the markings, numbers and colorful decorations used on the team's aircraft.

The Blue Angels fly the Grumman-built F11F-1 Tiger in spectacular demonstrations of precision techniques. Since its first demonstration in June, 1946, the team has shown an estimated 35 million people some of the most exact low-altitude formation flying ever performed.

Each of the four Monogram models included in the new kit is 5¾" long and has a wingspan of 3¾". The models are scaled from official blueprints and are molded in the authentic blue color of the originals with clear plastic canopies. Four sculptured figures of Blue Angel pilots are included in the kit

The clear plastic display stand, with base, standard and spreader, permits mounting of the four models in the Blue Angel diamond formation.

50-Calibre Machine Gun Added To Cordelco Industries' Line

Cordelco Industries, Inc., 727 E. Pico Blvd., Los Angeles 21, announces a new addition to their growing line of "Life Size Toys." This new toy is called the "50 Calibre Automatic Machine Gun," and is modeled after its namesake the famous heavy machine gun of World War II.

The gun has realistic action and is operated with push-button control. Manufactured out of tough hi-impact polystyrene with a 15" aluminum gun barrel, it has an adjustable sight and a flash concealer on the muzzle. A rugged die cast mechanism that will shoot any standard roll of caps fires a short or long burst at the touch of the button. The gun rests on a 14" tripod which can swivel completely around as well as up and down.

Over-all, the machine gun is 35" long and stands 18" high. It comes individually boxed in a strong colorful corrugated box and retails for $5.98.

The 50 Calibre Automatic Machine Gun is called a natural companion to the Commando M6 Burp Gun introduced by Cordelco last year.

H. Wenzel in New General Offices

The new executive offices and general headquarters of the H. Wenzel Tent & Duck Company are now located at 2200 S. Hanley Road in suburban St. Louis. Previously, the firm had occupied for many years a building in the near-downtown area of the city. Its manufacturing and production facilities are at New Haven, Mo., within each easy reach of the new offices.

Bill Wenzel, secretary-treasurer of the firm, believes that the increasing number of American children in the 3-10 age bracket will mean another good sales year in the play tent field. "We expect" he said, "that 1958 figures will not only match but exceed last year's."

Advertising director Ken Bevirt is high on the use of miniature tent displays by retailers, most of whom rarely have sufficient space for displaying the full-size tents that are manufactured and sold by Wenzel.

"Our line is made up of indoor and outdoor tents," noted Mr. Bevirt, "which means they're not seasonal items as such. They can be sold at retail the full year around."

TONKA RESTYLES LINE; HAS NEW OFFERINGS FOR 1958

Tonka Toys, Inc., kept pace with Detroit again this year by restyling its 1958 line of scale model metal vehicles to match the current trends in the styling of full-size automobiles.

Eight brand new vehicles or sets are in accessory packages are being introduced by Tonka, which patterned its realistic cab design after that of a popular truck manufacturer.

Tonka's miniature reflections of contemporary automotive design total 29 this year, in addition to the seven accessory items aimed at supplementing the play value of the vehicles.

Introduction of 1958's Tonka Toys is scheduled for the Toy Fair in New York City, according to President L. E. Baker. Tonka's displays are arranged in Rooms 729 and 730 of the Hotel New Yorker, as well as in Room 208 at 200 Fifth Avenue, the company's New York office. Four-color catalogs detailing the new line will be available.

Highlights of the general design change include more massive, broad hoods and an appearance of ruggedness; dual headlights; tinted, plastic wrap-around windshields; realistic grilles; and greater color variety.

Tonka maintained its use of proven construction features in the 1958 models: heavy-gauge steel and heavy aluminum baked truck enamel, chromate finishing of plated surfaces, and adherence to scale model realism in a 1" to 18" scale ratio. Attractive, protective packaging serves for shipping and display purposes.

In keeping with the nation's swing to more leisure time activity, Tonka has come up with a package that is expected to be one of the leaders in its 1958 [illegible]. Called the Deluxe Sportsman, it consists of a tractor, sportsman-type truck, detachable trailer, plastic boat and removable outboard motor. The varied play combinations possible with this toy (#34) and its low price of $5.98 are expected to insure its popularity.

The Sportsman truck (#05) is offered separately for a list price of $3.98. Blue in color, it has a trailer coupling and operating tailgate for convenience of [illegible] also can be carried.

A third combination employing the Sportsman is the Sportsman with Box Trailer (#29), a versatile duo listed at $5.98.

The young "farmer" was considered in the introduction of the Farm Stake with Two-Horse Trailer (#35), listed at $6.98. Patterned after its real life counterpart, the white trailer carries a team of polystyrene horses. The stakes can be removed from the truck for added flexibility.

Another new member of the Tonka fleet is the (#39) white Nationwide Moving Van. Priced at $7.98, it features a trailer that uncouples from the cab for loading purposes.

A Utility Truck (#03) also joined the line this year. An all-purpose cargo vehicle, it has heavy metal posts that will contain most loads. It is listed to retail at $3.98.

Two new combinations of Tonka farm vehicles augment the 1958 offerings. A Farm Set, listed at $14.95, caters to the "gentleman farmer." Its components include the Farm Stake Truck, Stock Rack Stake Trailer with Animal, Horse Trailer and Team and a wooden corral. (Most of the individual toys in this and other sets are also sold separately.

The Deluxe Farm Set (#B209), priced at $2.95, contains all the requisites to start farming in a grand scale. Plastic animals comprise the cargo for the four separate vehicles, while a wooden corral serves to contain the animals. Vehicles in the set are the Livestock Van, Farm Stake Truck, Stock Rack and Horse Trailer.

Tonka Toy accessories were expanded with the addition of the Boat Trailer and outboard motor (#AC311), priced at $1.98, and the Horse Trailer and Team (#AC314), listed at $2.98.

There are a number of other innovations in the new line. Among these are the white Tanker that replaces the rescue squad truck in the Fire Department, a new combination of vehicles in the Hi-Way Construction Set, and a retractable hose in the Gasoline Truck.

GERBER'S BOWLING PIN AND POPEYE BEACH SETS

The #3-18 Popeye Beach Set and #8-04 Bowling Pin Set are two popular items in this year's line of the Peer Products division of the Gerber Plastic Company, 3001 Washington, St Louis.

The name of Popeye, a character whose long time popularity with children has been revived and strengthened in recent years as a result of his daily TV film appearances, is expected to aid the sales of the beach set It's a 98¢ retailer consisting of a rowboat, detachable oars, two seats, a shovel and Popeye sand mold. All are made of polyethylene and packed in a clear poly bag with a colorful illustrated Popeye cartoon tab. Packing is 12 to a carton weighing 4½ pounds.

Ten white polyethylene pins 6⅞" high

and two red 3" high-impact balls packed in a poly bag with a scorecard header comprise the Bowling Pin Set. Retail price on the item is $1.98. It comes in a one-dozen pack; shipping weight, about 8 pounds

PRIDE PRODUCTS TO UNVEIL DELUXE MARIONETTE LINE

Production is rolling full speed ahead on a new deluxe line of marionettes to be shown to the trade at the Toy Fair by Pride Products, leading manufacturer of puppets. The new line will be called "Depri Originals," and advance word indicates that a fresh new approach will be featured. The first showing of the deluxe line will be at the offices and showrooms of Levy & Fry Inc., national sales representatives located at 200 Fifth Avenue, New York City

Leonard Copelan of Pride Products reports that this deluxe line has been thoroughly sales tested in picked department stores and major toy departments throughout the country. The success of the "Depri Originals," he states, was "immediate and overwhelming." Therefore, Pride Products has greatly expanded production facilities on the new line, and is prepared to franchise a limited number of key jobbers throughout the country to handle it.

In addition to "Depri Originals," Pride will add four new numbers to their extensive line of hand puppets

Monogram Producing Models of U.S. Navy's Blue Angels Team

The U. S. Navy's famous flight demonstration team, the Blue Angels, has joined the fleet of authentic model planes produced by Monogram Models, Inc., 3421 W. 48 Place, Chicago.

Monogram has included the four-plane team, with a display stand on which the models can be mounted in realistic flight formation, in a new and unusual addition to its Plastikit Series The planes carry the markings, numbers and colorful decorations used on the team's aircraft.

The Blue Angels fly the Grumman-built F11F-1 Tiger in spectacular demonstrations of precision techniques. Since its first demonstration in June, 1946, the team has shown an estimated 35 million people some of the most exact low altitude formation flying ever performed.

Each of the four Monogram models included in the new kit is 5¾" long and has a wingspan of 3¾". The models are scaled from official blueprints and are molded in the authentic blue color of the originals with clear plastic canopies. Four sculptured figures of Blue Angel pilots are included in the kit.

The clear plastic display stand, with base, standard and spreader, permits mounting of the four models in the Blue Angel diamond formation

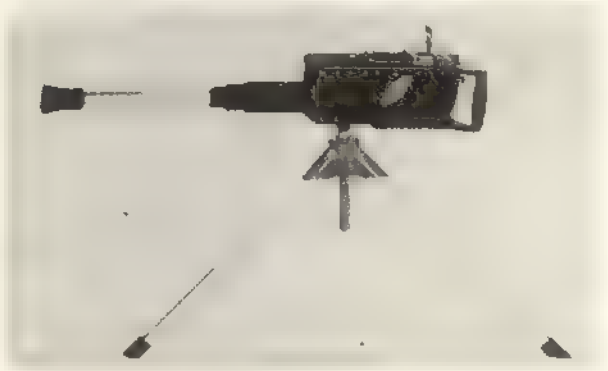
50-Calibre Machine Gun Added To Cordelco Industries' Line



Cordelco Industries, Inc., 727 E. Pico Blvd., Los Angeles 21, announces a new addition to their growing line of "Life Size Toys." This new toy is called the "50 Calibre Automatic Machine Gun," and is modeled after its namesake the famous heavy machine gun of World War II.

The gun has realistic action and is operated with push-button control. Manufactured out of tough hi-impact polystyrene with a 15" aluminum gun barrel, it has an adjustable sight and a flash concealer on the muzzle. A rugged die cast mechanism that will shoot any standard roll of caps fires a short or long burst at the touch of the button. The gun rests on a 14" tripod which can swivel completely around as well as up and down.

Over-all, the machine gun is 35" long and stands 18" high. It comes individually boxed in a strong colorful corrugated box and retails for $5.98.

ALBRIGHT'S 12 NEW MODELS

► Seven outboard and five inboard runabouts, described as all re-designed for 1958, make up this year's Albright fleet. Transoms have been altered to take the increased horsepower prevailing in the outboard motor field. The Albright boats are mahogany plywood planked over Philippine frames. Prices in the outboard line range from $375 to $1595. In the inboards, power options run from 60 to as high as 225 hp., and speeds in excess of 45 m.p.h. are reported.

Albright stresses their "Rainbow range" of color in two and three-tone effects. Another specialty is their "packaged accessories," in which the purchaser can pick any one of 15 accessory groups and have them installed free at the plant.

ALBRIGHT BOAT & MARINE CO., 430 Penman St., Charlotte 3, N.C.

THOMPSON SKIS AND BINDERS

► White ash, favored by expert skiers, is the material of most of the Thompson Skis. The Thomboy line skis are painted white, for high visibility in the water, and other models are varnished in a light, clear finish. They also offer a lower-priced line of plywood skis. Thompson Original Footbinders come in four styles, for children, "Sunday skiers," intermediates and professionals. The latter models feature deep heel, extra reinforcement of the binder, and harder durometer rubber, for maximum control. A complete line of Thompson accessories is available.

THOMPSON SKIS, INC., Cristiz, Wis.

NEW 16' SPAN AMERICA MODEL

► For 1958 there will be presented a new 16' Span America "Cruiser" model. It is claimed to have sufficient flotation to stay afloat under any conditions. The hull is made completely of fiberglass and features a non-flex bottom and panoramic windshield. Also provided are a sports top and built-in motor hold to prevent water from entering over the transom. Chrome hardware and stainless steel rub rails are used.

Two "Cruisers" and one "Runabout" model make up the entire line.

SPAN AMERICA BOAT CO., Box 513, Fort Dodge, Iowa

BRITISH 17-FT CRUISING SLOOP

FERRIER MARINE, LTD., 150 Spring St., New York 12, N.Y.

BURROUGHS POLYETHYLENE BATTERY BOX

► Made of rigid polyethylene, the Burnite Battery Box is designed to withstand rough handling while protecting boat batteries against salt water, sun and rain. The cover has overlap slots to protect the terminals against moisture and shorting. The box is installed by locating two brackets. A web strap holds it in place and serves as a carrying handle. Either 6 or 12 volt batteries can be accommodated.

EXPLORER, NON-SINKABLE KETCH

This boat is flooded—yet it doesn't sink. But that was the way the 40′ diesel auxiliary ketch, Explorer, was designed. She was made non-sinkable through the use of special foam type material installed throughout the hull. She was built by James E. Graves, Inc., of Marblehead, Massachusetts.

The Graves Explorer, a new design 40′ diesel auxiliary ketch, was demonstrated a few months ago in Marblehead Harbor, definitely establishing the fact that she is non-sinkable and can be sailed efficiently when flooded with water.

Explorer was designed by E. Selman Graves of Marblehead, Mass. The boat is 30′ waterline, 40′ o.a. 11′ 2″ beam, 3′ 2″ draft with centerboard up. The centerboard is operated by a hand crank on the side of the wheelbox and can be easily removed through the well in the cockpit floor for inspection, cleaning and painting.

The rig is entirely inboard with the exception of a boomkin which carries a permanent backstay for the mizzen. The masts are stepped on deck and can be easily taken down without outside help, by a simple arrangement of her own rigging.

The keel is a 7500-pound casting, 42″ wide and 14½′ long, shaped to conform with the lines of the hull, which gives the bottom tremendous protection when grounding or hauling out.

Diesel oil is the only fuel on the boat. No gasoline, kerosene, stove gas or alcohol is used. Cooking is done by electricity. The electrical system is 110-volt with generous battery capacity and 2000-watt generator.

Explorer has a double cabin layout with two single berths forward, and, coming aft, a toilet on the port side and a clothes locker on the starboard side.

Then the main cabin with a dinette on the port side which converts to a double berth and a galley with large refrigerator on the starboard side.

The cockpit is 6′ 5″ long by 6′ 4″ wide with removable canopy top for bad weather. The port side seat is extensible to provide a day bed or extra berth.

The after cabin has accommodations for two, with toilet and shower on the port side and a clothes locker on the starboard side.

There is clear deck space aft of more than eight feet for carrying a dinghy or for sun bathing.

On her non-sinkable trials, the sea-cocks to both toilets and exhaust connection amidships were opened while sailing with eight men aboard. In about three quarters of an hour, the entire hull was completely flooded and the boat would sink no lower. The boat was sailed in this condition for several hours.

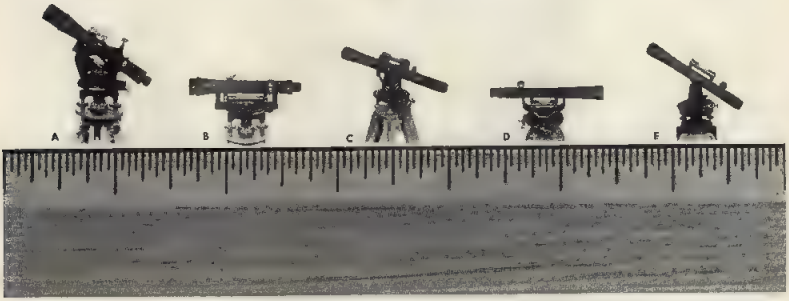
"biggest dollar return per square foot of shelf space"



that's what dealers say about Berger Builders' Instruments

Berger Instrument business is new business and good business.

New business because customers formerly had to buy these transits and levels from other sources. Now it's your turn.

Good business because every Berger is a big ticket item with a generous profit margin. Selling time, writing sales checks, wrapping and bookkeeping cost no more than for many "penny" items. And there's no competition from discount and premium houses.

There's a Berger to be sold wherever there's a house or a barn to be built, a driveway to be laid out, a stone fence aligned or any day-to-day construction. Your best customers—builders, contractors, farmers and maintenance men—see Berger advertising month after month in building, construction and farm magazines. Berger builders' instruments—like Berger Engineering Instruments since 1871—are famous for their quality, and yet priced so remarkably low that they are moving off dealers' shelves by the thousands. Customers are quick to recognize their outstanding value.

Don't waste another day in this building season. Start with a trial run of just a few instruments. Watch how quickly they sell—and how they help sell other builders' and hardware items, too. Fill in and mail the coupon today and we'll quickly send you complete information and dealer discounts.

1958 BORUM SLEEPER

Next season's most beautiful outboard! The Safari is a 16' all-mahogany runabout that keeps a promise of day-long cruising comfort and safety, and a season full of fun for all the family.

This popular model provides comfortable sleeping accommodations for two adults by letting down the back of the forward seat to form a bunk for its mattress of interlocking pads. Top folds up quickly and with the snap-on aft curtain in place the happy travelers are secure for the night.

An original design by Otis C. Borum, leading small boat designer

COMBINATION HORN-LIGHT-STAFF

Named the Navigator, the unit has been carefully engineered to meet all U. S. Coast Guard Class I requirements for whistle signals and navigation lights. The Navigator is manufactured from die-cast metal, heavily chrome plated. The running light has red and green Fresnel lenses—the mast has chrome flag rings and is removable from the horn and light assembly. The Navigator has its own specially built horn with stainless steel diaphragm and spring plates; the motor is protected by a die-cast base and chrome-plated brass screen. All parts can be replaced in case of damage.

A companion accessory is the new Sparton Marine Horn Button, Model PB-1. Built specially for marine use, the all brass body is heavily chrome-plated with bakelite interior.

ANNOUNCE NEW RIGGING SERVICE

Merriman Bros., Inc., 185 Amory Street, Boston 30, Mass., outfitters of racing and cruising yachts, have introduced a special off-season rigging service plan for boat owners to insure against dismasting. Potential rigging trouble can be eliminated at less cost to the boat owner during this service plan, open until February 15, before the regular fitting out season begins.

Even the most complicated rigging problem can be solved by Merriman's experienced yacht riggers. As part of this service, all standing rigging and turnbuckles are tested to 40% of breaking strength.

All end fittings, tru-locs and sockets, splices and running rigging fittings are thoroughly examined for indications of possible failure. After testing, engineering recommendations and costs for necessary replacements are sent to the boat owner, along with a permanent reference record to keep on board of each assembly, including size, length, type—plus testing results. There is no charge for service if replacement work exceeds ten dollars; otherwise there is a minimum service charge.

Merriman is now delivering new self-bailers for both sailboats and outboards. In the Gibb Bailer, machined metal-to-metal contact when closed insures absolute tightness. It operates at speeds of approximately 3 mph and higher. By pushing down on the lever, the inner portion of the bailer protrudes into the water and at the same time the bailing holes in the inner and outer portions coincide. When closed, the fitting is flush with the bottom of the hull.

Principle of the Lewmar bailer is similar to the Gibb, but addition of a self-sealing valve insures against accidental leakage when the boat slows momentarily.

For complete information about Merriman's self-bailers and all Merriman Lightweight Tufnol Hardware, send 25 cents to: "Tufnol Catalog," Merriman Bros., Inc., 185 Amory Street, Boston 30, Massachusetts.

DEVELOP SPECIAL SKI BOAT

One of the most interesting collaborations in many years preserved the supremacy of the United States in the field of water skiing. The scene of this triumph was the International Water Skiing Championships held last fall at Florida's Cypress Gardens. Water ski champions from all over the world were present. Dick Pope, director of Cypress Gardens, needed a fast boat.

So began the teamwork of Dick Pope and Dick Pope, Jr., directors of the event, boat manufacturers and engine manufacturers. W. C. Meloon, of Correct Craft, Inc., was brought in as adviser. Ralph Meloon, Correct Craft president, supervised the building of a special boat, the International Skier. John Mulford, president of Gray Marine Motor Company, tackled the problems of installing a 225 hp Gray Fireball V-8. Top speed, stability, reliability and responsiveness to controls were the prime considerations. From this collaboration was born the Correct Craft International Skier.

The International Skier is 17' 6" long with a 6' 2" beam, and draws 1' 6" at rest. Its speedometer is calibrated up to 75 mph. Coupled with the speedometer, in a special instrument mount attached to the deck inside the windshield, is an electric tachometer which enables the pilot to calculate his timing to a split second. Reverse control is mounted on the wheel. A special extra-strength ski pull is anchored through the center deck. So many requests for the International Skier came in not only from foreign countries but from spectators and American water skiers that Correct Craft has added this model to their regular line.

The International Skier of Correct Craft is the official boat of the 1958 International Water Ski championships. Built of laminated mahogany it is 17' 6" over all with 6' 2" beam and is powered by a 225 Gray V-8 Hydraulic Clutch.

LEGISLATION & WATERWAYS

coastal Waterway have that 55' limit on their height (Myrtle Beach, S. C., for one) and there is a project on the books for erecting one over the inside passage at Barnegat Bay with only 35' vertical clearance.

Bertram points out that "the bridge question is of national importance insofar as the yachtsmen are concerned, and yet we have not found any organization of national scope which will organize the opposition. When you stop to consider this point, you realize that there is no organization of national scope composed of the owners of a large number of our masted vessels."

It is obvious from all of the foregoing that there is no shortage of major problems awaiting the formation of an association with the means to attack them and that there is a concomitant feeling that such an organization should be brought into being.

It remains only for the yachtsmen themselves to take one relatively simple step—throw their lot in together. After that it won't be difficult to fight pressure with pressure. If something isn't done soon, tall-sparred vessels will have the choice of making New York-Florida passages entirely offshore, or taking out their rigs before venturing into a waterway criss-crossed by fixed bridges too low for them to sail under.

▶ SAN FRANCISCO Y. C. BUILDS HARBOR: An outstanding example of how to finance and develop a small boat harbor, complete with breakwater and berthing facilities, has just been completed at Belvedere by the San Francisco Yacht Club. The $300,000 project, financed by notes sold to club members, derives its revenues from the facilities provided which include berths for 136 boats. Belvedere is just east of Sausalito across Richardson Bay.

▶ PUBLISHER NEEDLES CHARLESTON: Charles F. Eaton, publisher of Inland Waterway Guide, is one of those fortunate yachtsmen who does his boating in Northern waters in the summer and follows the sun South in the winter. On a recent inland waterway passage from Marblehead to Fort Lauderdale, he paused long enough in Charleston, S. C., to be interviewed by a reporter from the News and Courier and tell the old Carolina port what he thought was wrong with it from a yachting point of view.

"Charleston has everything to offer yachtsmen, but is making no use of it," he said. "The city is in a phenomenally advantageous position for those traveling the Intracoastal Waterway and, in addition to its proximity to the waterway, offers historical background plus all types of commercial and amusement facilities."

On the subject of specific recommendations he said: "I don't know where to begin. For one thing, there are no showers, clean or otherwise, available at wharfside for visiting yachtsmen. The docks here are virtually the same as those that

RIVERSIDE YACHT CLUB'S 70TH ANNIVERSARY

THE Riverside Yacht Club, whose station is near the mouth of the Mianus River in Riverside, Conn., will mark the 70th anniversary of its founding this year by pushing ahead on a three-year program of improvement and expansion calculated to make the club establishment one of the finest on the Atlantic seaboard.

The responsibility for undertaking the club's most ambitious project since the present clubhouse was built in 1929 will rest on the shoulders of Commodore Albert Blattmann, his flag and staff officers, and a number of special committees.

It is obvious from the magnitude of the operation that Riverside has faith not only in the future of the sport of yachting, but an appreciation of the role Riverside will play in its development on Long Island Sound.

The first step was the dredging of a considerable area in the Mianus River last year to permit the erection of a marina that will accommodate 24 boats of up to 50′ length and 7′ draft. This project, scheduled for completion before the 1958 season, will tend to relieve crowding in Riverside's over-populated mooring area which is being restricted further by silting in the river and has virtually no room for visiting yachts in the sheltered part of the anchorage.

Additional deep water is available to permit the expansion of the marina to double the size and capacity it will have by June of this year. Fuel, ice, shoreside electricity and fresh water will be available at the marina.

The second section of the expansion plan calls for the filling in of recently purchased tideland acreage adjacent to the club property. Reclamation has already begun and the new land, built up several feet above high water, will be the site of tennis courts, automobile parking lots and a clubhouse for Riverside's flourishing Junior Yacht Club, construction of which will be delayed until 1959. The tennis and parking facilities will be completed this year.

The final phase of the program will see the installation of a large swimming pool and filtration plant, and a new set of bathhouses. A start has been made on the pool and it is expected to be ready this summer. Existing bathhouses will serve until the new structures go up in 1959. The pool will be L-shaped so that high and low board diving exhibitions can be held at the same time that swimming races are taking place. Either fresh or salt water can be used to fill the pool.

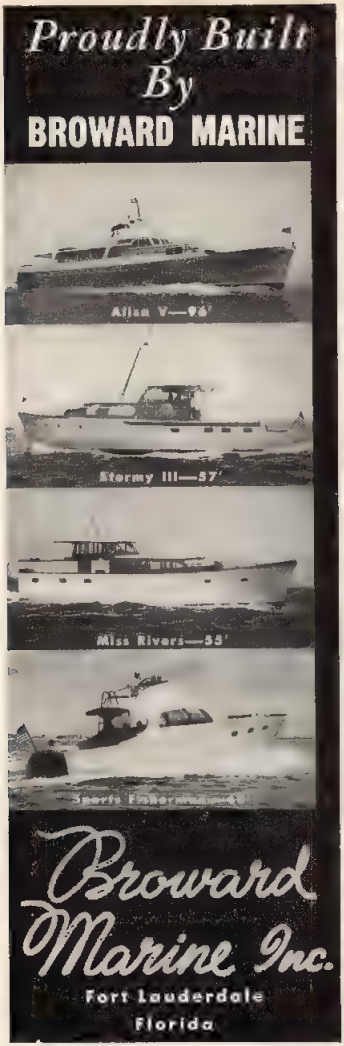
Serving with Commodore Blattmann, a former official of the Junior Y. R. A. of Long Island Sound and present secretary of the North American station of the Royal Swedish Yacht Club, are Kenneth C. Ballantyne, vice commodore; Frederick S. Doscher, rear commodore; James A. Mulcahey, fleet captain; Kenneth J. Clapp, secretary; Allan F. Ayres, Jr., treasurer, and John W. de Milhau.

Riverside is the base of a large Lightning Class fleet, a unit of the Quincy Adams One-Design Class, and several auxiliary cruising-racing yachts. It conducts racing on a year-round basis for its locally owned fleet of dinghies, sponsors annually an overnight race to Stratford Shoals Lighthouse and return for cruising vessels, and for several years has been a leader in the support and development of junior yachting at the Western end of Long Island Sound.

The growth of the community of which the yacht club is a part, mounting pressure on the club to stretch its membership limits, and a desire to provide better than adequate facilities for the club's growing family activities influenced the decision to expand instead of trying to maintain the status quo.

ACCESSORIES, STEM TO STERN

The skipper can accessorize his boat from stem to stern with linens, china and glass offered by Hammacher Schlemmer, 145 East 57th St., New York 22, N. Y. Furthermore they will flag the owner's burgee on all items. If the owner has none, the company will be glad to help design a burgee. A brochure is available on request.



RIVERSIDE YACHT CLUB'S 70TH ANNIVERSARY

THE Riverside Yacht Club, whose station is near the mouth of the Mianus River in Riverside, Conn., will mark the 70th anniversary of its founding this year by pushing ahead on a three-year program of improvement and expansion calculated to make the club establishment one of the finest on the Atlantic seaboard.

The responsibility for undertaking the club's most ambitious project since the present clubhouse was built in 1929 will rest on the shoulders of Commodore Albert Blattmann, his flag and staff officers, and a number of special committees.

It is obvious from the magnitude of the operation that Riverside has faith not only in the future of the sport of yachting, but an appreciation of the role Riverside will play in its development on Long Island Sound.

the secret treasure of a bold Buccaneer

Buccaneer has devised a bold stratagem to capture the imagination of adventurous spirits like yourself. It's a secret treasure. But the secret is an open one. The people who've made Buccaneer the fastest-growing outboard motor in America have already discovered it. You can too.

CLUE 1 Take Buccaneer's special features. The new automotive-type ignition, for instance. Turn the key "ON" to start, "OFF" to stop. Or the new tilt-lock that holds the motor safely out of the water for beaching. To these special features, add Buccaneer's top-to-bottom silencer system and its full-powered engine responding instantly to your touch. That's part of it.

CLUE 2 Take a good lo-o-ong look at the photograph above and picture yourself on top of the world of outboard motoring. All alone, away from it all . . . or taking the family for a holiday spin. That's a big part of it.

CLUE 3 Man of action? Discover the secret treasure for yourself. Grab the nearest "Yellow Pages" and find the Buccaneer dealer under "Outboard Motors." Or drop us a card. We'll send you the material for dreaming. You can take your pick of eight sparkling models, from 3 hp to 35 hp.

14'S PROTEST ROACH LIMITATION

To all intents and purposes, virtually every International 14' Dinghy mainsail made on this side of the Atlantic in the last three years is now illegal. This state of affairs was precipitated by an edict of the International Yacht Racing Union which, at its November meeting, put a limit on the amount of roach it would regard as proper.

Heretofore roach size has been limited only by what could be carried effectively with the prescribed 30" and 40" battens.

The United States Fourteen Association and the Canadian Dinghy Association take a dim view of the situation. They do not question I.Y.R.U. jurisdiction in the matter, but they do protest the manner in which the change was put through, particularly in view of the fact that England is to play host this summer to a gala international team racing series for 14's.

Dick Besse, U.S.I.F.A. vice president, thinks that his prexy, Dr. Stuart Walker, and the Canadians, whose activities are very closely coordinated with those of the Americans, will set up their own roach limitation based on the largest sails built to date and then work for a practical reconciliation of ideas at the 1958 meeting of the I.Y.R.U.

BLOMQUIST FASTEST FIREFLY

Bob Blomquist, of the Marblehead Frostbite Sailing Club and one-time intercollegiate star for Northeastern University, won the Essex Yacht Club's first invitation series for Fireflies in mid-November. Piling up the points with four firsts and a third in the second day's heavy going, Blomquist wiped out a big lead negotiated in light weather the previous day by Bunny Glazebrook of the Boston Y.C.

Blomquist scored 71 points and Glazebrook, a crack Jolly boat skipper in his own right and George D. O'Day's International "14" crew, had 69½. Other scores: H. Jones 62¼, Fred Quirk 61¼, A. Perry 60, Stan Renehan 51, B. Guertin 40, L. Winer 26, A. Closson 21, S. Keating 4.

Essex, incidentally, has been "frostbiting" in its Blue Jay fleet ever since the regular racing season ended and had 21 of them out the week end the Fireflies entertained. The Essex crowd, always noted for the eagerness with which it tackles interclub competition, has arranged one team match with Yale Corinthian, is working on another with the Jet 14's which Bill Dodge has sailing at Masons Island, and hopes to challenge Larchmont to a match for the Bermuda Cup.

INTERCOLLEGIATES ON WEST COAST

The Intercollegiate Yacht Racing Association of North America has awarded the finals of the 22d annual Henry A. Morss Memorial Trophy competition for the intercollegiate dinghy sailing championship to Newport Harbor, Calif., June 18-20. The event will be conducted by the Pacific Coast I.Y.R.A. with the cooperation of Occidental College of Los Angeles and the Newport Harbor Y.C.

In addition to the Morss Trophy finals for which two crews from each of the four college sailing associations will be nominated, there will be inter-district team racing for the Sir Thomas Lipton Memorial Trophy on June 16-17 and an Afterguard regatta for old grads on June 20.

Morss bowl racing will be done in sloop-rigged International 14's without spinnakers and in 12' cat-rigged Metcalf dinghies.

BRUNONIANS RETAIN ANGSTEN TROPHY

Despite a disqualification which cost the team a first place in one of the last day's races, the defending Brown University pair of Bob Turner and Charley Shumway won the eleventh annual Timmy Angsten Trophy series for college dinghy sailors at Chicago's Belmont Harbor on December 1.

Turner, a sophomore from Savannah, Ga., won the final race of the meet and by so doing gave Brown first place with 241 points to Michigan's 237 in 24 races spread over three days. The other finishes: Notre Dame 209, Ohio State 194, Wisconsin 180, Cornell 165, Purdue 164, Wooster 164, Wayne 138, Fordham 135, Marquette 139, Northwestern 107.

Turner scored 124 points and Shumway, an International 14' dinghy sailor from Rochester, registered 117 in the other division despite his foul. Michigan's Dexter Thede had 119.

METERS Assure the Correct Exposure

L NEW GENERAL ELECTRIC GUARDIAN

• Gives exact lens setting in 5 seconds!
• For movie, still, Polaroid and stereo!

New from General Electric . . . an exposure meter more sensitive than ever before! It's lightning-fast, fascinatingly simple. To set exposure index, simply press GE monogram in center. To set shutter speed, just turn dial until desired number shows (no confusion . . . just one appears). Then, aim Guardian and press memory button . . . there's your reading, an exact lens setting for a perfectly exposed picture in five short seconds! No need to keep eyes glued to pointer . . . famous GE pointer-lock holds your reading for as long as you like. Temperature-compensated for year 'round use. Technically speaking . . . shutter speeds from 1/800 to 120 second, ASA film speeds up to 12,000. Also calibrated in Polaroid-Land numbers, movie frames per second and new Exposure Value numbers (LVS). The new GE Guardian comes complete with leather case.

21-8602 A2610 GE Guardian $34.50

M NEW WESTON III Exposure Meter

• Follow the arrow! That's all!

Sure and instant . . . for all cameras and systems! Simply set arrow to light reading and, automatically, you have all f/stop-shutter combinations, correct number settings for Polaroid cameras and accurate exposure for light value shutters. Flipped baffle turns high light scale into low. Shock-absorbent spring-backed jewels. With case.

21-8636 A2430 Weston III $32.50

N WESTON 850 Exposure Meter

• No figuring! No involved calculations!

Simple enough for the amateur, versatile enough for the "pro". Measures incident light only . . . natural or artificial. Based on exposure setting of 1/50 second (with allowance high as 1/200), calibrated in Weston system of 8 to 125 emulsion speeds. Reads direct from f/2 to f/32 in full stops. Easy to take along in leather case.

21-8693 A1275 Weston 850. . . . . $16.95

P ARGUS L-3 Exposure Meter

• Hand-held type! One movement sets it!

Gives direct setting data for reflected or incident light! Set film speed, aim and read . . . correct f/stop from f/1.4 to f/22 and shutter speed from 1/1000 sec. to 2 minutes! Flexible carrying chain; case. For widest range, plug in booster . . . get accurate reading, even in dim light.

21-7083 A635 Plug-in Booster 7.95

R NEW ARGUS L-44 Exposure Meter

• Clip-on type! Covers every condition!

Direct-reading meter clips onto camera, leaves hands free. Slip-on adaptor achieves indirect incident light reading. f/stop scale from f/1.4 to f/22, speeds from 1/1000 to 120 seconds, movies from 8 through 64 f.p.s. Plug-in booster cell increases low light sensitivity ten times. With case.

BELL & HOWELL Stereo Colorist Outfit

• Adds a dimension of fun to the picture (and to its taker, too)!
• Stereo Colorist camera, deluxe viewer, flash unit and case!

Take pictures as your eyes see, then . . . shoot in three dimensions and in full color! It's actually easy when you equip yourself with the TDC Stereo Colorist camera by Bell & Howell. Beginners like its built-in "deep focus" that assures sharply defined details . . . and experts echo this praise with kind words of their own. There's never a chance of a double exposure with the Colorist because advancing the film automatically cocks the shutter. Precision f/3.5 Rodenstock Stereo-Trinar lenses produce perfectly matched pictures and Gauthier shutters have speeds from 1/10 to 1/200 second. Synchronized for all flash, too . . . so the fun doesn't set with the sun! Rich leather covers rugged die-cast aluminum body. You save money and collect all the fun of stereo by getting the complete outfit . . . the camera, deluxe viewer, flash unit, handy carrying case

22-0533 A7450 Bell & Howell TDC Stereo Colorist Outfit. . . . $109.50
22-0541 A4750 Bell & Howell TDC Stereo Colorist camera only. 69.50

BELL & HOWELL Stereo Vivid Outfit

• Here's how to take breathtaking stereo in five easy steps!
• Complete . . . everything you need, from camera to viewer!

"The most automatic stereo camera you can own" is a phrase that describes only the TDC Stereo Vivid. These five steps get you 3-D color pictures as simply as snapshots: select shutter speed, set exclusive Exposure dial (this automatically sets the lens, takes the arithmetic out of stereo), sight through one window (rangefinder and viewfinder are coupled), adjust focus (exclusive depth-of-field scale shows nearest and farthest objects in focus) and shoot! Five steps . . . that's all there is to it! Film advance cocks shutter and indicator counts exposures . . . both automatically. Matched f/3.5 Rodenstock lenses, minimum focusing distance of 2½ feet (take close-ups!), Gauthier shutters, full flash synchronization. All-metal body is covered by rich leather. Complete outfit includes camera, TDC Stereo Vivid Deluxe Viewer, flash unit, pair of filters and handy carrying case.

22-0558 A12150 Bell & Howell TDC Stereo Vivid Outfit. $178.00
22-0566 A8750 Bell & Howell TDC Stereo Vivid Camera only 129.50

POLAROID LAND CAMERA!

NEW POLAROID SPEEDLINER OUTFIT

• New version of the Polaroid "pioneer"!
• 4 shutter speeds and 5 lens openings!

Today's advanced model of the original Polaroid camera! Why not order the Speedliner . . . and join the half-million owners who have made 60-second photography a dream come true? Single dial selects correct setting for both 4-speed shutter and 5-opening lens. At your service is a fast, coated anastigmat lens with quick-action lever for focus from 3 ft. to infinity. Its combination optical and press-type viewfinder guides you to excellent composition . . . extremely helpful in close-ups. Complete with built-in flash synchronization for conventional and electronic flash. Prints measure an over-sized 3¼x4¼". Kit includes die-cast, chrome-trimmed camera . . . flash gun, bounce flash bracket, case, 2 rolls film, orange filter, 1 package Postcarders, 2 write-in albums.

NEW POLAROID HIGHLANDER OUTFIT

• "First-street" model with a price tag to match!
• Convenient small size, clip-on flash!

Look how inexpensive pictures-in-a-minute can be with the Highlander! And think of the thrills . . . around the house and at parties, picnics, parades! It goes where you go in your pocket or purse. Easy to load, easy to operate. Just drop film into place, turn one dial to set sharp lens and precision shutter, sight and shoot. Viewfinder frames picture exactly. You get what you see and get it in a minute . . . a 2⅝x3¼" picture, plastic-coated to preserve its brightness. Synchronized flash clips to camera without cords. Contents of the outfit two-tone gray Highlander camera with convenient handle, flash gun, bounce flash bracket, compartment case, 2 rolls film, orange filter, 1 package Postcarders and 2 write-in albums to proudly display shots.

POLAROID DELUXE PATHFINDER OUTFIT

• No other system, no other camera like it!
• 9 speeds to 1/400 sec., coated f/4.5 lens!

Imagine . . . just 60 short seconds between shooting and showing a 3¼x4¼" picture! Here's a creative hobby for the individual, group activity for the family . . . fun for all! You'll also find the Pathfinder at work . . . in research labs, art studios, publishing firms.

To understand why the popular Pathfinder camera is the deluxe model of the Polaroid family . . . consider these features one by one. There's a Rapax II shutter with 9 speeds from one to 1/400 second . . . and a famous, fast f/4.5 Wollensak 127mm lens that focuses from 3 ft. to infinity. Single dial automatically sets lens and shutter without complex figuring. Coupled to the lens is a built-in Kalart rangefinder. Merely by focusing this rangefinder, you simultaneously bring the lens into needle-sharp focus. And there's full flash synchronization so you can take your wizardry indoors, after-dark. Truly deluxe, this outfit includes camera, flash, bounce bracket, case, 2 rolls film, postcards, write-in album.

REFLEX CAMERAS

"Taken with a Rollei"

Most widely used credit line in the photographic world!

(E) NEW ROLLEIFLEX f/2.8E

- Experts cheer the new Rollei . . . now ahead of its time!
- New built-in exposure meter! New depth-of-field scale!

Improve the best? Rollei did it . . . because tomorrow's features are Rollei's today! Example: built-in exposure meter with two scales for accurate readings of dimmest to brightest light. Example: automatic indicator, always visible from above, that shows exact depth-of-field at all distances. Example: diaphragm-coupled Synchro-Compur shutter with speeds to 1/500 second . . . change one and the other adjusts automatically. Example: f/2.8 Zeiss Planar lens with new five-element, air-spaced construction for improved definition, more even illumination. Plus Rollei's unique parallax compensation and unequalled automatic transport. Collapsible hood shades ground glass as full 2¼x2¼" image springs sharply into focus at the turn of a knob. Magnifiers allow eye- and waist-level focusing. With Eveready case.

(F) NEW ROLLEIFLEX AUTOMAT f/3.5

- A better-than-ever model of the best camera ever!
- No depth-of-field confusion! No exposure guessing games!

This new model of the world's most famous twin lens reflex camera challenges you to create your finest . . . whether you take pictures for love or money, for personal use or publication. New, exact, exclusive depth-of-field indicator extends the photographer's control, eliminates confusion by showing only the zone being covered. Now, the exposure problem belongs to the past . . . thanks to a linear-coupled Synchro-Compur shutter. You simply translate light reading from exposure table on back of camera to one setting for both lens and shutter speed. Adjust one and a mechanism changes the other. Light Value Scale permits rapid setting without recalculation. Ground glass viewing screen shows image in full 2¼x2¼" negative size. f/3.5 Schneider Xenotar lens. Built-in flash "synch". Eveready case.

(G) NEW ROLLEICORD Va . . . f/3.5

- Versatile . . . to everything from angle to size of picture!
- Light Value Scale helps prevent error in determining exposure!

(H) ROLLEIFLASH FOR ALL LATE MODEL ROLLEI CAMERAS

- Mounts on lens, bayonet-style, without brackets!

Capacitor-type for long-lasting 22½v battery. Crackle finish of 5½" reflector throws more light than smooth surface. Flexible coil spring prevents camera vibration. Built-in extension cord reel and extra-long cord for off-camera use. Open switch with safety lock, test light, bulb ejector.

21-7584 A1995 Rolleiflash for Rollei f/3.5 Cameras. $24.95

(K) YASHICAMAT TWIN LENS REFLEX CAMERA

- Top quality . . . with an inviting price tag to top it off!
- Sturdy die-cast body, leather-finished and chrome-trimmed!

(L) MINOLTA AUTOCORD "L" TWIN LENS REFLEX CAMERA

- Revolutionary . . . from loading of film to system of focusing!
- Lowest-priced reflex camera with a built-in exposure meter!

"Exclusives" of its own plus features of more expensive reflex cameras . . . you really get your money's worth! For one perfect exposure after another, give credit to the built-in exposure meter. Super-simple . . . just add up diaphragm and shutter scales to equal light value. Exclusive helical focusing lever sweeps focus from 3 ft. to infinity, frees one hand entirely. By loading from top to bottom, film can't curl before exposure. Features galore: Fresnel viewing screen, four-element Rokkor f/3.5 lens, one-to-1/500th synchronized shutter speeds, automatic film transport, depth-of-field.

FIRST BIG FAMILY CAR—

WITH A SPORTS-CAR HEART

PICTURE a big and spacious automobile with the heart and soul, the sparkle and spirit, the control, obedience, response and maneuverability of the sportiest sports car ever.

We're talking about the bold and buoyant Buick for '58—and until you drive it you don't know what driving is.

For here in this straight-from-tomorrow Buick you boss a B-12000 engine as modern as the look of the car itself.

Here, you pilot a Flight Pitch Dynaflow* literally born of aircraft design.

Here, in brief, you discover totally new concepts in driving delight—extending from noise and vibration suppression to ingeniously air-cooled aluminum brakes*...

Because this is a car born of more aircraft principles—including greater use of aluminum—than any other car yet built. This is the first big car that's really light on its feet.

Drive a B-58 Buick—at your Buick dealer's—today.

BUICK Division of GENERAL MOTORS

Flight Pitch Dynaflow standard on* LIMITED and ROADMASTER 75, optional at extra cost on other Series. Air-Poise Suspension optional at extra cost on all Series. Aluminum Front Brakes standard on all Series except SPECIAL.

When better automobiles are built Buick will build them

YOUR PRIDE WILL PERK UP whenever you're seen in your '58 CHEVROLET. One look at those low, wind-whisked lines and you know you're bound to be noticed. And you'll find still more to be proud of in the quick, sure way Chevy responds to your touch.

Sure as it's a Chevy, you're going to be looked at when you drive this good-looker. Don't be surprised if you even hear a soft whistle of approval now and then. There's just something about Chevy's low, straining-at-the-bit beauty that makes people sit up and take notice.

The way this Chevrolet moves is something to be admired, too. Its quick-sprinting power, for example, and the reassuring way it keeps its poise, even on sudden dips and curves.

Another big reason you'll be prouder of a Chevy is that it's the only honest-to-goodness new car in the low-price field. There's a new X-built Safety-Girder frame . . . new Turbo-Thrust V8* . . . new longer, lower Body by Fisher . . . a choice of new standard Full Coil suspension or a real air ride.* Cars just don't come any newer—or nicer—than this one.

FIVE BIG REASONS WHY YOUR NEXT STATION WAGON SHOULD BE A Plymouth

If you're driving a wagon now, you've already moved ahead into that pleasant realm where motoring is a little more interesting . . . a little more satisfying . . . than it is for the owners of less exciting cars.

But are you paying an undue premium for your fun? Are you getting all that station wagon money can buy these days at a low, low, budget price?

Plymouth has a story for you if you're driving a wagon of any other make. Size, for example: it's the biggest of the low-price 3. And value: you can pay almost twice as much and not get an inch more room . . . an inch bigger car (You just can't buy a bigger station wagon at any price.) There are other advances and features that put Plymouth far ahead now and make it worth more when you trade.

Nobody wants to put enjoyment solely on a bookkeeping basis, but a good look at the Plymouth wagon . . . a ride in it . . . a study of its low cost and high value . . . is likely to satisfy you that now you can have your cake and eat it too.

1 Biggest in the low-price 3! Longest over-all . . . 122-inch wheelbase. As big as wagons costing thousands more! Ideal for your vacation travel!

2 Holds more than "other two"! 7 cu. ft. more cargo space than wagons C and F. Extra 7.5-cu-ft. secret luggage area in 6-passenger models.

3 Wide-view Observation Seat! Folds into floor. A Plymouth low-price 3 exclusive.

4 Rear window disappears! Rolls down into tailgate. Only Plymouth has it in its field.

5 Rides with big-car luxury! Luxurious Torsion-Aire Ride—only on Plymouth in low-price 3

NORTH WINS TITLE

Flying fishes, sparkling sunlight, lazy whitecaps, mingled with slightly heeled Star boats in what might be considered perfect racing weather on Long Island Sound, or San Diego, or Acapulco, or the Bay of Naples—but not in Havana. Six former World's Champions, another dozen Silver Star or Olympic Champions, plus other top skippers, viewed all this with a jaundiced eye.

But Lowell North and Jim Hill of San Diego, Cal.—good in any going—seemed particularly pleased with the conditions like those in which they won the North American Championship last August in their own home waters. They alone, out of the welter of champions present, turned in a consistent performance. No skipper won more than a single race, but North Star III, after winning the opener, and with it the George Elder Memorial Trophy, took a second, third and a fourth, a sequence marred only by a 10th in the second race. A serious contender for half a dozen years and runner-up last year at Naples, Lowell North, ably assisted by Jim Hill, corralled his Gold Star.

Not one of the six former Gold Star winners nor any of the three Olympic Champions, finished in the money. A well-earned second in the series went to Albert Debarge of Paris, whose crew was Paul Flystrom of Denmark three times Olympic dinghy champion.

Going into the fifth and last race there was a two-way tie between North and Debarge—to all intents and purposes a three-way tie, because Jor Duplin, representing Boston Harbor Fleet, was only one point behind. As the next in line, Bill Ficker of Newport Harbor, Cal., was 13 points back of Duplin, these leaders could put on a three-way battle without much fear of letting a dark horse through.

But when the wind settled for the start and Harry Nye's race committee, which did a splendid job throughout, hoisted signals for a windward-leeward course, it was obvious that Lowell North had already drawn a couple of aces. The breeze was light, and no sign of much else. Albert Debarge, with no light weather sail, and Joe Duplin, with his masterly touch in heavy weather, just didn't hold the right cards. Very soon North had his series competitors where he wanted them. At the end of the second beat North was in second place. Alvero de Cardenas and Dick Stearns had alternated up front, and Stearns had stepped out to round the last mark with a 50-yard lead. North was second and Bob Lippincott third.

The run home was a battle the spectators will never forget. Bob Lippincott, on occasion a master at running, pressed down on North and North, not having a

$1,539 in Three Weeks! Homelite Chain Saw

Mr. Robert Thomas, Arvada, Colorado is another in the long list of American farmers who have turned their trees into money with the help of a Homelite Chain Saw

Mr. Thomas has 40 acres of old apple orchard on his 600-acre ranch. Last year, Mr. Thomas cut 70 tons of the wood in just three 40-hour weeks with his Homelite Chain Saw and only occasional help.

At $25. a ton, Mr. Thomas' wood is worth $1,750. His total expenses, including the part-time help, were only $211, leaving him a net profit of $1,539!

Mr. Thomas is sharing the income with his two teen-age sons who helped him haul the wood and sell it as cordwood.

POULTRY

Mystery "Disease" Kills Broilers in Nine States

The mysterious broiler-killing "disease" which swept across nine states east of the Mississippi last month is apparently being brought under control.

When FARM JOURNAL first reported it last month, it was killing birds in four states—half or more of the birds in some flocks. Field Editor Jack Bickers reports that one Georgia operator lost 74% of his birds.

But as FARM JOURNAL went to press, Dr. S. C. Schmittle, head of the University of Georgia Poultry Disease Lab, had just reported that losses had been brought almost to a standstill.

No one knows for sure yet just what was causing the deaths. But growers think that it might be bad fat in the feed.

Dr. Schmittle says: "Fat in itself is not responsible. As far as we can tell now, it is some contaminant associated with the fat. We do know that the killer is not contagious to other poultry or humans."

The trouble usually begins showing up when the chicks are very young. They start gasping and become inactive. By the time they're three weeks old, some are dying.

From there on, mortality increases rapidly. Henry Miller, a hatcheryman and dealer near Gainesville, Ga., tells FARM JOURNAL that he lost 600 birds out of a batch of 7,000

Dr. Schmittle believes that an enlarged heart sac is what finally causes death. The only sure way to diagnose the trouble is by autopsy.

How many broilers have been lost over-all is hard to guess. But it might be enough to help prices in the next few weeks, one marketing expert guesses.

A week or two after the Georgia outbreak, Dr. E. F. Waller of the University of Delaware reported that the killer was showing up increasingly on the DelMarVa peninsula and had been traced to five different feeds.

Meanwhile, the feed companies have been taking drastic action to track down the exact reason and to stop the heavy losses.

Rather than run the chance of losing the birds when they were larger, they've gone in and killed entire batches of chicks. In the Gainesville area alone, 200,000 chicks were killed for this reason.

Most feed companies in the affected states are paying off the heavy claims.

And they're pouring money into research to find the answer. Early this month they got together with scientists in Cincinnati, Ohio to map out their next moves.

New Hustle!
New Muscle!
New Style!

New Chevrolet trucks for '58 roll in with a new broad-shouldered build, with new power in both V8's and 6's! They're here with the latest truck developments designed to lighten your hauling chores!

Here are new trucks that are built to get more work done on the farm—and save your dollars while doing it! They rate a blue ribbon on their good looks alone—on snappy new styling that makes 'em stand out in a crowd. Yet, '58 Chevrolet trucks are tough! Some models show their new muscle with high-capacity rear axles and extra-strong rear springs. They haul heavier loads with lower-than-ever maintenance and upkeep expenses. And they can hustle, too! New engines with higher horsepower, greater durability, and money-in-the-bank economy make light work of big jobs. See your Chevrolet dealer today! See the trucks that stay and save on the toughest jobs! . . . Chevrolet Division of General Motors, Detroit 2, Michigan.

NEW WAGONS WITH WONDERFUL WAYS—THESE NEW '58 CHEVROLETS!

There's new lilt in the way they look. New verve in their way with roads and loads. And you have five to choose from. Pick a two-door model or four, six-passenger or nine, you can be sure of this: You'll move in the smartest station wagon set there is!

You never had handsomer reasons to move into a new wagon. These 1958 Chevrolets are dramatically lower and wider—nine crisp inches longer.

Note that the larger liftgate curves clear around at the corners. It's hinged into the roof and raises completely out of the way for easier loading.

Chevrolet's new standard Full Coil suspension puts an extra-soft cushioning of deep coil springs at every wheel. Or, as optional choice at extra cost, you can have the ultimate of a real air ride—Level Air suspension. Bumps get swallowed up in cushions of air. And your wagon automatically keeps its normal level, regardless of how heavy the load.

There's still more to like. More steam in Chevy's budget-minded Blue-Flame 6. More really potent performance with the new 250-h.p. Turbo-Thrust V8,* an ideal running mate for honey-smooth Turboglide* drive. Better see your Chevrolet dealer. . . . Chevrolet Division of General Motors, Detroit 2, Michigan.

NEW Ford POWERMASTER Tractors

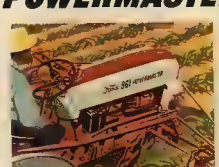
MORE PULL-POWER PER DOLLAR!

Here's big-tractor power without the penalty of big-tractor costs. You can pull a four-bottom plow in many soils—handle a 10- or 11-foot tandem disc at a surprising pace. Cost? Ask your dealer to tell you about Ford's low price per horsepower! About Ford's many plus-value features!



EASIEST HANDLING TRACTORS EVER!

They're Ford comfort-engineered throughout—handy controls, Rest-O-Ride seat, ample leg room, light-pressure brakes, easy on-and-off design. They're compact—short turning, get around easier. And POWER STEERING—available on all Ford tractors—is standard on all Ford row crop models!

LIVE PTO AND DOZENS MORE FEATURES!

Ford offers you many other great advantages—standard on some models, optional on others. Ford's live PTO operates from the regular clutch pedal—safer, more convenient. With exclusive Ford Vari-Weights, you tailor traction to the job. Also power-adjusted rear wheels; new powerful headlights . . . much more!

The finest Ford tractors ever await you at your nearby dealer's. So stop in and look them over—find out all that's new and better. Then compare Ford's low prices—see how much more you get, how much more you save. Ask about convenient terms—take up to three crop years to pay. Stop in soon!

GENERAL MOTORBOAT

The General Motorboat Company, Mayo, Maryland, manufacturers of the Little Mariner boats, has added three new outboard runabouts, called the Sea Flyer line. The new line will include a standard runabout, a ski boat and a deluxe model, all designed for speeds up to 40 mph.

The Sea Flyer Standard Runabout has a walk-through center deck, and a walk-through rear seat back. Designed especially for water skiing enthusiasts, the Sea Flyer Ski Boat has a forward seat with back along with a conventional aft seat. The Sea Flyer Deluxe Runabout features a full-view windshield and 32" mahogany rear deck.

Dimensions for all three models are the same: overall length, 14' 5", with a 65" beam and freeboard of 26" forward and 18" aft for greater safety. The 21" high, 1½" thick mahogany plywood transom will take the largest outboard motors made.

New, redesigned models of the famous Little Mariner Fishawk and Day Cruiser have been developed. Features of the new Fishawk design are a lengthened cabin with sleeping facilities for two and increased headroom under the Navy top. To take long shaft motors, the motor mount has been increased to 20" high. Removable aft seat allows easier handling of outboard motors.

The new Day Cruiser with complete sleeping arrangement, for two, now has increased headroom in the deckhouse and a 32" deep cockpit that provides extra safety. A 20" high motor mount and removable rear seat make the Day Cruiser well suited for use with the larger outboard motors.

Specifications for both the Fishawk and Day Cruiser are the same: length overall—20' 5", beam—7' 3", draft—9¾". with outboard power and 1'6" inboard power. All Little Mariners can be adapted for inboard or outboard power. Speed to 35 mph is possible depending upon power selection.

FERRIER MARINE

Ferrier Marine, Ltd., Newton Abbot, Devon, England, has announced the appointment of Ferrier Marine, Ltd., 150 Spring Street, New York as exclusive American sales representatives for their 17' Mark II Silhouette, an English two-berth sailboat. The builders report that they have reached a capacity of 20 boats per day.

The Silhouette has a water line of 12' 6", a beam of 6' 7". Its overall length is 17'. Mainsail area is 75 square feet, working jib 45 square feet, storm jib 25 feet.

While the boat does not have an engine, there is a bracket on the transom for an outboard motor. Standard layout indicates berths to port and starboard, with galley space under the bridge deck. While it was originally designed for off-shore racing, it is equally at home in estuaries and small lake areas.

DURATECH

For 1958 the Duratech Manufacturing Corporation now of Peekskill, New York, announces a complete line of all-aluminum boats—from 8' dinghies to 19' day cruisers. Duratech's three series of boats —Pramline, Vceline and Sealine—comprise seventeen separate models, offering a full range of craft suitable for all rowing or outboard boating needs.

Duratech offers three new Sealine models. Sealine Model S-168RD is a wide beam, deep 16' deluxe runabout featuring full seat and backrest upholstery. It has bow, side and stern Duradecking; self bailing motor well; and stern hatch and is rated for use with the new 50 hp motors.

The Sealine Model S-168RF with a wide beam is a deep fishing runabout featuring forward steering, forward seat upholstered walk-through backrests, and a full rear floorboard.

For open water Duratech offers the Sealine Model S-198RF, an aluminum 19-footer designed for single or twin outboard installation. Its deep (44") bow, wide (85") beam, round chine, soft riding, fast hull design provide comfort and room for the deep water fisherman.

For 1958 the Duratech Pramline series of lightweight 8, 9 and 11½' aluminum prams remain unchanged in design. Nor are any design changes contemplated for its Vceline series of 12' and 14' cartop and utility hulls.

For 1958 the Duratech series of 14' and 16' round chine hulls have undergone modifications, including higher styling of its standard and deluxe runabouts general cleanup of detail designs, and the addition of features such as lower seats in Model S-148R and tank shelves in all 14' and 16' runabouts.

THOMPSON

Leading boats featured by Thompson Brothers Boat Manufacturing Company of Peshtigo, Wisconsin, and Cortland, New York, include the flared bow Thompson 18' Off Shore which seats four persons. The open cockpit makes this an all-purpose craft. The comparable Thompson 17' Sea-Lancer performs excellently with 35 hp.

The Thompson 16' Sea-Coaster is fast on the straightaway and takes hairpin turns safely. It is popular with skiers. The Thompson 14' Lap-Chine takes larger motors than comparable boats and is patterned after Thompson Sealap line.

Sea-Lap or Safety-Lap construction means that each lap of planking on lapstrake models is brass-bolted from stem to stern. Before this is done a rubber mastic is applied to each lap, completely sealing the boat.

Thompson boats are of all-wood construction. Extra-heavy keels and transoms plus the Sea-Lap construction protect the boats while trailering as well as on water. Information on these and their many other models can be obtained by writing to either of their two plants.

FIBERGLASS BARRACUDA IS OFFERED

Roberts and Olthouse, 3945 Division Ave., Grand Rapids, Mich., are distributing the 19'6" Barracuda, constructed of polyester bonded fiberglass.

It is powered by the Dearborn V-8 Interceptor, 185 to 215 hp. The boat can develop up to 48 to 50 mph. Built by Arena Craft, the modern-designed Barracuda has a beam of 6'9" and weighs 2,300 pounds.

PAINTING THE MAYFLOWER

Hervey Garrett Smith, author-illustrator and an expert in the art of marlinspike seamanship, has recently completed a painting of Mayflower II for the National Geographic Society.

Writing in the November Geographic, Smith himself explained the problems he faced in painting the rigging and ancient fittings of the ship and in "striving to bridge the gap of more than three centuries and make her live."

Smith comes from a seafaring family and his love of ships and familiarity with the arts of the ship builder and sailor date from earliest childhood. He has condensed his wealth of knowledge into the text and illustrations of two practical little books: "Boat Carpentry," and "The Arts of the Sailor." They are published by Van Nostrand, 120 Alexander St., Princeton, New Jersey.

BROILWAY BOTTLED GAS RANGE

The new Broilway bottled gas range provides complete broiling facilities along with surface cooking. Made by Don Smith Marine Hardware, 3406 West Lake Road, Erie, Pa., the stove has stainless steel double reflectors.

The company says it is a clean and efficient way to broil. Besides a broiler pan and rack, it features white porcelain and chrome guard.

WEBBER'S 40' SPORT FISHERMAN

The 40' Sport Fisherman is popular for charter fishing. It has large cockpits. The round bottom and deep keel make it a comfortable boat in the seaway according to the manufacturer, Webber's Cove Boat Yard, East Blue Hill, Maine.

MONTGOMERY WARD

Flared tail fins, have been adapted to marine design for Montgomery Ward's 1958 line of sports boats. The fins flow into the aft deck forming a motor well in Wards Deluxe 14' Sea King Sport Boat, one of two new ones of this type that will appear in the company's 1958 catalog.

The Deluxe boat, designed for Wards by Wizard Boats, Inc., is made of fiberglass and can be powered by motors up to 50 hp. It has a red hull, gold-flecked deck and red and white vinyl upholstered seats and seat backs. Tail fins also are a style feature of a thrift-priced 14' fiberglass sports boat.

Wards is expanding its line of fiberglass cruisers, begun this year with a 15' model, to include 17' and 19' models. The 17' cruiser has a cabin 5½' long and an 8' open cockpit. It is designed to be powered by motors up to 60 hp. The cruiser is equipped with running lights, portable head, deck hardware, grab-rails and steering. An open runabout model, on the same hull as the 17' cruiser, will be available. The 19' cruiser has a 6' cockpit, 94" beam and can be powered by motors up to 70 hp with speeds up to 30 mph.

PLUMMER'S CHINA, LAMPS, STATIONERY

Yachts can be outfitted with china, crystal, silver, linen stainless steel, lamps and stationery from Plummer, LTD., Dept. M-14, 734 Fifth Ave., New York 19, N. Y. or 240 Worth Avenue, Palm Beach, Fla. A brochure is furnished on request. Plummer designs personalized yachting equipment. They will incorporate an owner's private burgee or club flag on dining accessories. Replacements or fill-in orders get prompt attention because Plummer keeps a record of each design and purchase.

'BURGEES" BY SCHUMACHER

You can brighten up your wheelhouse or cabin or add color to porthole curtains, bunks and chair covers with the "Burgee" —a new, seaworthy fabric with the burgees of 96 yacht clubs. F. Schumacher & Co., 60 W. 40th St., New York 18, N. Y., has had the burgees printed on specially treated cotton sailcloth. The cloth is pre-shrunk, water repellent, mildew-proof and crease-resistant.

REVERSE GEARS BY AUTO ENGINES

Auto Engine Works, Inc., 331 No Hamlin Ave., St Paul, Minn., offers a Model EF Reverse Gear which is especially adapted for Chevrolet 1 8 and 6, Caterpillar D-311, Cadillac 210 hp, Oldsmobile 88 and 98, Buick V-8, Ford and Mercury (85 hp and up) and Ford Diesel Engines.

SAGEN ELEVATOR BOAT HOIST

The new elevator boat hoist was developed by Sagen especially for boat owners with a bulkhead or a sea water front. It has a 1,000 pound capacity.

The elevator boat hoist manufactured by Sagen Boat Hoist Co., Weedsport, New York, was designed especially for boat owners with a bulkhead or sea water front.

The boat is supported from the bottom. Therefore the use of slings, spreaders and special eyes is eliminated.

Sagen has also developed a new dock davit especially for the handling of heavy motors on and off boats. It has a capacity of 300 pounds and is operated by a back-geared winch.

Another new offering is the swim platform which, the company says remains rigid in the water. A self-supporting unit, it utilizes adjustable steel framework with plywood decking.

REVERSIBLE TOP AND PILOT SEAT

A Sun Visor convertible—a top with a breeze-through ventilation feature that tilts forward for snug, windshield-hugging protection against rain or spray is offered by R. S. COMPASSES FOR SMALL CRAFT

The Mariner Model (70) (L) is a big compass designed for motor or sail. The Outboarder Model 80 is for small craft and features a chromium-finished case.

Aqua Meter continues to expand its line of quality marine instruments with the introduction of two new marine compasses specifically designed for the small boat. Called the Mariner and the Outboarder, both compasses offer distinctive nautical styling and many unique construction details.

The Mariner Model 70 is a big compass at a popular price, designed for motor or sail, featuring a crystal-clear, liquid-filled lucite dome measuring 3⅜" in diameter. The translucent dial is calibrated in 5° and is underlit for night operation, with easily detached plug-in connecting wire for light. Card bearing and pivot are the same rugged design as supplied for the Navy, providing full 32° tilt.

In the Outboarder Model 80, Aqua Meter has recognized the dominance of chromium finished accessories in the small boat field. Featuring a chromium-finished case, this new compass matches the hardware complement of any small boat fitted out in line with the modern trend.

The Mariner and the Outboarder are manufactured by Aqua Products division of Ketcham & McDougall, Roseland, N. J.

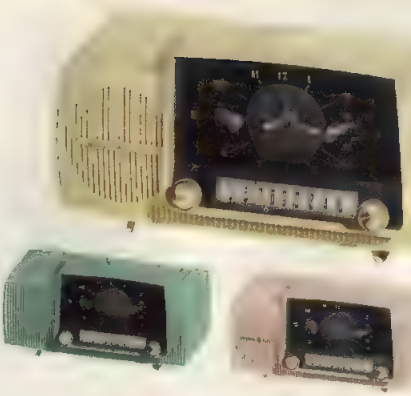
CLOCK RADIOS
By GE and ROLAND

The radio, best "waker-upper" since the barnyard rooster!



GENERAL ELECTRIC CLOCK RADIO
• Select Ivory, Pink or Turquoise cabinet

Twenty-four hours with a GE clock radio . . . and you'll wonder how you ever got along without it! Now you can drowse off to dreamland without the radio playing all night. Slumber Switch turns it off within a 60-minute cycle. In the A.M., you're stirred by the radio and/or buzzer rather than being rudely awakened by a noisy alarm. If you like, you can catch an extra forty winks . . . because buzzer will sound-off every seven minutes after you press "Snooz-Alarm" Control. This may be repeated five times. Outlet for starting appliances by clock, plug-in socket for playing records by radio. Self-starting clock features: lever-shaped controls, luminous hands. Radio features: dial beam tuning, 4-inch speaker, 5 tubes including rectifier, built-in antenna. Back of cabinet is fully molded. 13x6¾x6½" deep. AC

77-5049 B3195 Turquoise Plastic Cabinet ... 39.95

ROLAND DELUXE TWIN SPEAKER CLOCK RADIO
• Charcoal with White trim or White with Coral trim

A clock radio with an earphone jack for private listening! Now, if you want to lie awake and listen to music . . . you can do so without disturbing anyone. (Marvelous gift for invalids!) Clock radio lulls you to sleep with music . . . turns itself off, then comes on again next morning to wake you ever so gently. Buzzer alarm gives you a second nudge minutes later, to make sure you don't drowse off again. Appliance outlet turns on your coffee-maker! Clock has luminous hands and dial. Radio has Roland's exclusive big-model "Bi-Fidelity" audio system. Includes two matched, extended-range Alnico V speakers, and 5 tubes including rectifier. Illuminated slide rule dial can be tuned in dark. Built-in loop antenna for maximum reception. Made of rugged polystyrene in two stunning color combinations. 13x6x5¾" deep. AC.

ROLAND DELUXE CLOCK RADIO
• Choice of cabinet color . . . Pink or Oyster White

Rise and shine! That's a promise when this Roland radio starts the day pleasantly . . . even for those reluctant to get up. As a safeguard, buzzer alarm follows by minutes after the radio turns itself on. Not only awakens you the modern way . . but an appliance outlet can start the coffeemaker without your personal attention. On the night before, you can slip off to sleep without a worry about the radio . . . automatic control shuts it off at pre-set time. Advanced-design clock with sweep second hand runs in silence. You'll marvel at the performance of the radio, considering its size. Give credit to its 4" Alnico V speaker and 5 tubes including rectifier. Built-in loop antenna attracts faraway signals. Like-new appearance of polystyrene cabinet endures for years. Side tuning knob, automatic volume control. Only thing more marvelous than its features: the low price! AC.

GE PORTABLE RADIO

- 3-Way operation: batteries, AC or DC!
- Plays everywhere you take it, indoors or out!

Upstairs, downstairs, all around the house! On beach, in backyard, throughout city and country! Indoors and out, you'll find 101 ways to enjoy this mighty 3-way General Electric portable! Its versatility stems from its trouble-free power change . . . from "long life" batteries to AC or DC household current. There's no need to open the case to remove or replace the power cord . . . it simply glides in and out of its hideaway position. When you set the radio down, carrying handle folds flat against the unbreakable polystyrene case. It's midget-sized (10" long, 6½" high, 3¾" slim) with giant-sized sound (large 4" Dynaflow speaker, 5 tubes including rectifier). Full range tuning with Civil Defense band markings, built-in antenna, printed circuit chassis.

lazarette sufficed to get her down to the acceptable standard. Brisote has 9.8′ overhang on 31.3′ overall length when in long distance racing trim so she is well within the pale.

Brisote has considerable V and rocker in her underwater body, a form which evolved as Morgan and Hunt evaluated their experiences in designing Moth Class skimmers, other small sailboats and outboard motorboat hulls. They had the amateur, home-builder in mind when they put her together and were not trying to make her a modification of the Star, Mouse of Malham or anything else. "Frankly speaking, though," spake Hunt, "We expect to create a disturbance on the Southern ocean racing circuit this season. Brisote has proven phenomenally fast off the wind and now sails better than her rating in 18-20 mph winds."

GERARD B. LAMBERT, the Princeton, N. J. industrialist financier and some-time author who contributed time, money and yachts to the furtherance of America's Cup yachting in the 'Thirties, is back again 20 years later as a member of one of the cup defense candidate syndicates.

He has joined Henry Sears, former New York Yacht Club commodore, and Briggs S. Cunningham, of international 6-meter yacht and sports car racing fame, in the underwriting of one of the three 12-Meter Class sloops which are scheduled to be built to vie with the 18-year-old Vim next summer for the honor of meeting the British challenger, Sceptre, off Newport, R. I., on September 20.

The as yet unnamed Sears-Cunningham-Lambert contender is now in the lofting stage at the Nevins shipyard on City Island after several months of exhaustive tests in the towing tank of the Stevens Institute of Technology in Hokoken. Her keel is to be laid in January.

COINCIDENTAL WITH THE ANNOUNCEMENT that Lambert would help him and Cunningham to pick up the tabs for the building and campaigning of the first of the new boats to get underway, Sears revealed the make-up of his afterguard. It will include the Stephens brothers, Olin and Rod, who were with Harold S. Vanderbilt on Ranger when that incomparable Class J sloop swept aside Endeavour II's challenge in four straight races in 1937, and Colin E. Ratsey, youngest member of the Cowes-City Island sailmaking firm which is now in its seventh generation. Olin designed the Sears yacht. Rod is a rigging expert, among other things that are necessary to make a boat go fast.

Fred Lawton, war-time naval officer, and sailing master in the ocean-racing yawl Bolero before she was sold to Sweden in 1956, will take a leave of absence from his present duties in the sales division of Raytheon, Inc., marine electronics manufacturers, to assume charge of the S-C-L yacht's professional crew.

There are very few professionals left in the sport who can organize and run a foredeck as smoothly and efficiently as Lawton, and with such amateur keenness.

Lambert has been out of big time yachting since World War II, but he was one of its more prominent figures in the 'Thirties. When four new Class J sloops were built in 1930 to meet the last of Sir Thomas Lipton's challengers, Shamrock V, Lambert refitted and completely modernized the larger Class I sloop Vanitie, unsuccessful defense candidate in 1914 and 1920, to serve with her conqueror, Resolute, as a trial horse for Enterprise, Weetamoe, Yankee and Whirlwind.

He had Vanitie out again four years later and used her to help Thomas Sopwith tune up the first Endeavour preparatory to the match she came very close to winning from Rainbow. In 1935, Lambert bought Yankee and took her to England to do a season's racing in the British big cutter class. She won eight time in 35 starts then returned here to help Ranger to get in shape to tackle Endeavour II in 1937.

The two other proposed defense candidates, one to be created by C. Raymond Hunt for Chandler Hovey, of Boston, and the other by Philip L. Rhodes for a syndicate of New York shipping men headed by Henry Mercer, are still in the drawing board-tank testing stage.

He had Vanitie out again four years later and used her to help Thomas Sopwith tune up the first Endeavour preparatory to the match she came very close to winning from Rainbow. In 1935, Lambert bought Yankee and took her to England to do a season's racing in the British big cutter class. She won right time in 35 starts then returned here to help Ranger to get in shape to tackle Endeavour II in 1937.

The two other proposed defense candidates, one to be created by C. Raymond Hunt for Chandler Hovey, of Boston, and the other by Philip L. Rhodes for a syndicate of New York shipping men headed by Henry Mercer, are still in the drawing board-tank testing stage.

YOURS FOR '58

THE 29' SEA SKIPPER

NOTHING NEWER IN THE BOATING WORLD!

In all the boating world there never was a cruiser safer, more dependable or more excellent than the Sea Skipper—brand new for '58.

Expert designing and craftsmanship are yours throughout. Lapstrake mahogany planking, double-planked bottom; teak decks and trim; all chrome hardware; bow lights, running lights; compass and spotlights; hydraulic controls; fuel and water tanks of Monel; salt-water fastenings—all are features of the magnificently new Sea Skipper.

The interior has 6' 2" headroom throughout; the settee converts for sleeping two; there's a complete galley; a dinette that converts into a double berth; head with basin, hanging closet, mirror and sliding windows, opening windshield; forward hatch; foam rubber mattresses and cushions; stowage space to the mate's delight. The large cockpit has plenty of room for all and Monel fish boxes for the catch.

Like all other Commodore Boats, she's available in seven to-suit-you color choices, with power options up to 450 hp for speeds to 36 mph.

Step aboard and take over the helm of the cruiser that will triumphantly be the leader for '58.

MOLDED FIBER GLASS

Molded Fiber Glass Boat Company of Union City, Pennsylvania, has expanded its line of "MFG" Boats for 1958 to two sizes (12½' and 15') and five models. All models feature the Molded Fiber Glass hull, mass-produced in matched metal dies, with molded-in lapstrake design.

New to the MFG line is the mahogany-trimmed 12½' MFG Corry, featuring a reverse lap between keel and chine for speed and stability.

It is presently available in two models. The Corry Utility model is an open fishing boat with three full-width mahogany seats; the Suburban features a 44" forward deck and two full width seats.

Sporting new features are the three MFG 15' models, Erie, Cambridge and Union. Foremost is a new hull resin, recently developed in the Molded Fiber Glass Research Laboratory, which give MFG hulls even greater strength and impact resistance.

Other new features of the 15' models include strong, attractive, rustproof metal tubing seat back supports for Erie and Cambridge models; a redesigned Cambridge coaster deck; a redesigned Erie aft deck, strong inner plywood transom and redesigned motor cut-out; and easy-to-clean interior floorboard and hull finish for all models.

PERMA-DOCK FOR EASY SECURITY

Now a dock can be put up or taken down in half the time because of Perma-Dock metal brackets manufactured by the Marine Specialties Division of Central Machine Works Co., 1203 Central Ave., Minneapolis 13, Minnesota.

With Perma-Dock mooring bars, it's easy to step in or out of a boat. Perma-Dock float brackets securely fasten 55-gallon drums to landing or swimming floats of any size. And with the Perma-Dock motor cart-lift, one person can lift a big motor. A self-locking winch holds the motor safely regardless of the motor's position.

BOON TO NAVIGATION STUDENTS

One of the finest aids to students of celestial navigation has been devised by Robert F. Carey of East Falmouth, Mass. Called the Star-Da-Cator, it was developed as an aid in teaching United States Power Squadrons courses.

Essentially, Star-Da-Cator is a table model planetarium 20" high. In three-dimensional clarity, it illustrates the operational principle of every type of celestial problem. It shows the position of every celestial body used in navigation, at any time of day or night, for any year, as viewed from any place on earth. All the interrelationships of the earth and celestial bodies in their relative movements are shown in a manner which the student can clearly visualize. Star-Da-Cator, in fact, can illustrate any celestial situation that can be devised.

FLOATING LAUNCHING SITE FOR SKIERS

The Aluma-Raft, an 8-foot aluminum square is offered by Aluminum Tubing Company of Jacksonville, Florida, as a multi-purposed floating island. Ideal, says the firm, as a water-ski take-off platform, for sun-bathing, to mark off a swimming area, etc. It is supported by five 8-inch aluminum tubes.

MATTEL CREATES NEW STAFF OF LIAISON MEN—FIELD REPS

The first of a team of field representatives in the Marketing Division was added to the staff of Mattel last month, according to an announcement made by Herb Holland, sales manager. Mr. Holland is in charge of selecting and training the team, programming its activities and introducing the field representatives to the trade.

The first such staff addition will be Dean Beaumont, who joins Mattel immediately and will begin his new duties and responsibilities. Mr. Beaumont was formerly sales manager for Western Washers, Inc., and, previously, sales representative for Westinghouse in the Los Angeles area. His experience in working with retail outlets and wholesalers includes several years with the U. S. Steel Corporation and the Empire Specialties Company in southern California.

In making the announcement, Mattel issued the following statement. "The job of selling toys is not finished with shipping to wholesalers or even with our pre-selling the line through promotion and national advertising. One of the most important links is the retail dealer and it will be the job of the field representatives to educate the retailer on conditions in the industry generally and to share useful selling hints with him as an extension of the work done by the manufacturer's and wholesalers' representatives."

"This man is many men," Mr. Holland said, in describing the first of Mattel's new liaison team. "Through his efforts he will make the job of the wholesaler's salesmen easier and increase their income since all orders for Mattel merchandise from the retailer will be turned over to the wholesaler named by the retailer. This is in line with Mattel's policy of selling through the wholesaler only. He will help conduct sales meetings for wholesalers and represent the manufacturer to the retailer. He will act as a stethoscope on the pulse of the retailer, providing a feedback on design, packaging and general trends to Mattel. In this sense the field representative will actually perform market research by passing on information directly to the factory so that we may serve the retailer and wholesaler more effectively."

He added that Mattel's field representatives will help inform dealers on the product, its usage, age level and other selling factors. Proper display will be another "assist" offered through the new liaison man, who will also supply retailers with all promotional material, in-store aids, mats, banners and other displays made available by Mattel.

QUOTE-UNQUOTE

"The armor that can shield us from the foes of democracy must be reinforced and impregnated against the prejudices which gnaw away at our national unity. Intolerance and bigotry must be replaced by intensive education aimed at promoting better race relations, ending "second class" citizenry and creating equal opportunities for all." Herman Appelman, N. Moboco's 37' Zeeland yawl now is masthead rigged

MASTHEAD RIG FOR ZEELAND YAWL

► Mobaco Marine has announced that the 37' steel hulled Zeeland yawl that it imports is now available masthead-rigged for the skipper who likes to race as well as cruise.

Her dimensions are 36'9" × 28'3" × 9'8" × 5'4" with 623 square feet of working sails and a displacement of approximately 18,000 pounds. She sleeps six, with two berths forward and four in the main cabin, where there is a convertible dinette, dresser, chart table, complete galley, enclosed head, hanging locker, oilskin locker and linen locker. Cabin sole is teak as are the decks, and the interior is mahogany. She is powered with a 25 hp. Graymarine. Her CCA rating is 26.3.

There have been 29 boats of this class sold in the past three years, and three are available this year. Optional racing sails and extra equipment are available to fit the boat out completely for racing and cruising.

Mobaco also imports Eastward Ho, Calypso and Dutch Treat cruising boats and Indian Scout, Flying Dutchman, Blue Jay and Finn racing daysailers, providing junior trainers, planing boats and cruising craft for week-ending or the most extended voyage.

U-Mak-It's kit line starts with an 8' pram (left) complete with sail for $70 and includes an 18' cruiser for outboard or inboard power

U-MAK-IT KIT BOATS

► Kit boats or the same models factory-assembled are available from U-Mak-It now in operation in a big new plant at Deland, Fla. The completed boats are known as Olympias, and the production of these models has been transferred from Europe to the Florida plant. The line covers from an 8' pram to a 22'11½" inboard cruiser, two new models being introduced this year.

They are outboard runabouts 16' × 6'8" and 15' × 6'4". The Little pram kit sells for $52 and the complete sailing pram kit, including sail, is $70. There are outboard runabouts at 13'3" as well as the two new ones, a Texan skiff with lapstrake sides and V-bottom, and outboard cruisers at 18' and 21' with bunks, head and galley space. They may also be fitted as inboards. Runabout kit prices start at $196, and the cruiser kits are $600 and $760. The V-23 inboard cruiser has two bunks and a big cockpit with 7'10" beam and 14" draft.

MOLDED SHAPES FULL LAP MODELS

or could recognize records if established. Plans were to operate a one-mile and kilo trap simultaneously. After phone conversations between Harper and Hitchcock and Schelling and Hitchcock were reported to me, I wired Guerin, Trimper and Foulke under the assumption Rule 27 re timing equipment was in question. Replies from all three ruled APBA could not accept records if established over the kilo so after a conversation with Southern California Speedboat Club officials the kilo was cancelled.

"Any statement that our drivers and officials want to sneak in the back door to world records is certainly unfair and unwarranted. Every driver's ideal of ultimate achievement is a world record in his class, however, such a record must be won fairly and in competition with every other APBA member eligible and inclined to compete."

Reports from Las Vegas, Nev., indicate that on Nov. 16 the APBA Council voted to authorize speed trials over the kilometer distance. Just how the Council could change a General Racing Rule I can not imagine, in view of the proviso in the APBA by-laws limiting that power to a vote of racing members having racing equipment.

Perhaps we have not yet heard the end of this ado.

► Power boat racing lost one of its best known early competitors and officials when Art Bobrick died suddenly on Nov. 13. He was 69. Bobrick was an ardent participant in cruiser racing in the 1920s. In the early 30s he campaigned a Gold Cup boat as owner-driver. He held many important APBA offices including the chairmanship of the Rules Committee starting in 1926, membership in the Racing Commission as early as 1931, and chairmanship of the Racing Commission (later the Inboard Racing Commission) from 1942 through 1947.

► One of our listening posts has come up with the rumor of a new $100,000 project dedicated to winning the Gold Cup. Reported as the active participants are: designer Doug Van Patten; engineer, George Eddy; builder, Ben Huskins, owner, a Mr. Evans. Two Packard PT-boat engines are reported to be the basis of the power plant.

► In Seattle a committee consisting of Jerry Bryant, Bill O'Mara, Howie Richmond and Phil Smith has been attempting to obtain the battered remains of famous old Slo mo-shun IV, rebuild it and place it in the wing of Marine History in the Seattle Historical Museum. One of her former drivers, Stanley Dollar, contributed $2,500 to the cause. Early in November the former Slo-mo crew headed by Mike Welsch (the 1957 operators of Hawaii Kai) added $1,300 to the fund in a fine gesture of loyalty to the memory of Slo-mo owner Stan Savres.

► Announcement has been made that the famous Albany-New York marathon will be revived in 1958. First started in the late 1920s as an event for what we now call alky-burning outboards, this Hudson River classic was later expanded to take in the inboards. When it was renewed after World War II, it was confined to the then-brand new stock outboards. It grew to be the biggest stock outboard marathon in each of several years, then ran into sponsorship difficulties and was allowed to drop some five years ago.

The 1958 version is to be sponsored by the New York "Daily Mirror." With most of those enthusiasts who used to labor to make this show "click" now unavailable, we wonder who is going to have the know-how and drive to take over.

► There have been whispers that the highly successful Hawaii Kai would be bought by Seattle's Bill Boeing, Jr. Our best information on this score is that no such deal is seriously contemplated.

New 16' Whirlwind Deluxe by Molded Products

FOUR NEW WHIRLWIND MODELS

► Four new outboard runabouts will appear in the Whirlwind line for 1958. Of Wingo-Abramo design, they are the 12'6" Standard, 12'6" Deluxe, 16' Deluxe and 18' Deluxe. All have improved bow flare, increased depth and wider beam. With six-ply hulls and reinforced transoms, they are intended for the larger motors, the 16 and 18-footers being capable of handling up to 75 hp.

Other changes in the Whirlwind line include flared bow, wider beam and greater depth for the 1433 Standard, panoramic windshield, two-color hull and foam rubber upholstery for the 1443 Deluxe.

The complete line consists of 17 models ranging from the 18' Deluxe to the 12' Fisherman.

SWITZER'S NEW LIGHTNING COMBO

► Switzer-Craft expects its new 15' Lightning Combo to be one of its sales leaders in 1958. She is described as three distinct models wrapped up in one hull, which can be rearranged in a jiffy as a professional ski boat, a fishing boat or plain pleasure craft. Ski items include boarding ladder and towing mast. Upholstered seats can be reversed or removed to suit the sport of the day. Improved strength has been engineered into the ¾" plywood bottom, and there is ample locker space and a self-draining transom structure. This 13-footer sells just under $900; a 16' version for $100 more.

Other Switzers for 1958 include Lightning, Fleetwood, Shooting Star and other models, 14' to 18'.

SWITZER CRAFT, INC., Crystal Lake, Ill.

NEW ALUMINUM POLAR KRAFT

► Two new boats, the Ski-King 16 and Ski King 14, have been added to its established line of 18 other aluminum outboard boats by Polar Kraft. The 16 is 15'6" o.a., 5'2" beam, 30" midships depth, while the 14 is 13'6" o.a. with other specifications the same as in the 16. Either is recommended for up to 60 hp and 15" or 20" height transoms are optional. Heavy gauge aluminum is used in the construction of all Polar Kraft, and the new boats have Styrofoam-filled seats for extra buoyancy. Prices on the new boats are $675 for the Model 14 and $750 for the Model 14 Ski-Kings.

'58 Dodge Power Giants give you new style for jaunts to town . . . new power for heavy hauls!

Your first trip to town in a new Dodge Power Giant will give your spirits a wonderful lift.

People are bound to take notice, because Dodge is one truck that's really new for '58—from smart new styling to exciting new performance. Matter of fact, comparisons show that Dodge for 1958 leads the low-priced three all four ways:

1. Dodge leads in styling—with sculptured, flowing lines, dual headlights, richly chromed grilles —styling you can count on not to go out of style!

2. Dodge leads in V-8 power—in every single popular farm model. This reserve power gives you better performance, safer passing on the highway, plenty of extra pull when you need it!

3. Dodge leads in payload. Advanced engineering adds strength without weight, lets you haul up to ⅓ more—save trips, time, fuel!

4. Dodge leads in economy—low in price, low in operating cost. Exclusive Power-Dome V-8 design gives full power—and more miles per gallon —on money-saving regular gas!

Remember, it pays to compare before you buy a new truck. So, instead of habit-buying the same old make, be sure to take a few minutes to drive a new '58 Dodge Power Giant—and to get your dealer's special Dodge Truck 40th-anniversary deal. You'll be money ahead if you do!

Something for nothing not always enticing

Staking motorists to pennies for parking has paid off in good will for the PBSW Supply & Equipment Co., Phoenix, Ariz.

The store discovered that many shoppers discover belatedly that they lack coins for the meters. As a result, a large bowl of pennies was placed in the store under a hand lettered sign which told shoppers to help themselves.

The store finds that while some customers appreciate the service, they apparently are too independent to accept something for nothing and use the pennies to make change.

Two cylinder, air-cooled Enfield marine diesel

BRITISH MARINE ENGINES

► The Stuart line of 2 cycle marine gasoline engines now includes an 8 hp. two cylinder model designed for use as sailboat auxiliary power. The new engine uses the triple-port system for automatic intake, compression and exhaust operations and therefore has no valves or cams. Stuart 1½ hp and 4 hp. single cylinder models, as well as the new "twin," mix lubricating oil with the fuel. An interlock between throttle and gear shift lever on all Stuart engines gives one hand control of speed and direction.

The 1958 line of Enfield air-cooled lightweight diesels includes one and two cylinder models in a choice of sizes. Featured is the Mark III twin cylinder 25 hp model. The Enfield is cooled by air provided by an integral blower. Exhaust air is vented outside the hull through simple ducts. Singles of 10 and 15 hp. and a 15 hp. "twin" complete the Enfield diesel line

BLUE STREAK LUBRIPOINT SETS FOR DISTRIBUTORS

► Blue Streak LubriPoint sets have a built-in Lubri-Wik designed to lubricate the lobes of the distributor cam while preventing an accumulation of grease on the flats. The device is treated to hold a sufficient amount of special silicone lubricant so that just a small amount need be added at the time of installation. It is claimed that no further lubrication is required during the normal life of the points.

STANDARD MOTOR PRODUCTS, 37-18 Northern Blvd., Long Island City 1, N.Y.

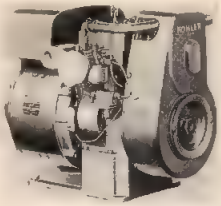
ELGIN HAS NEW 35 HP. OUTBOARD

► Leader of the 1958 Elgin line is the newly-designed "Skipper 35." Its features include a 12 volt, coil-type ignition system, 20 amp generator, push button starting and a "Regu-lock" switch, permitting the operator to regulate horsepower at 35, 15 or 7½.

Elgin also presents a new simplified remote throttle and gear shift control which can be installed in a boat in just a few minutes by simply plugging it into the Elgin motor. Most 1958 Elgins include the necessary fittings.

Also in the current Elgin line are 2, 5½, 7½ and 12 hp. models, plus standard "35s" with either manual or electric starting.

SEARS, ROEBUCK AND CO., 925 S. Homan Ave., Chicago 7, Ill.



Kohler model 1A27, a 1 kw electric plant

NEW ELECTRIC PLANTS BY KOHLER

► Three new Kohler models have been announced. All are powered by single cylinder Kohler water cooled gasoline engines. Model 1A27 turns out 1 kw. at 115 or 230 volts, AC. It starts when any switch in the circuit is turned on, stops when all switches are off.

Model 1CD7 is a 1 kw. battery charger.

Rated at 2.5 kw., 115 or 230 volts, is the model 2.5R67.

Current Kohler plants are direct water cooling models from 1 to 5 kw. and keel cooling in 10, 15 and 35 kw capacities. Cooled with fresh water through heat exchangers are 2, 5, 10 and 15 kw. gasoline and 10, 15, 20 and 35 kw diesel units.

Mow, Condition, and Rake with Leaf-Saving
JOHN DEERE Equipment

Lost leaves . . . lost dollars! Poor timing and poor handling really cost money in legume hay crops. With better than 70 per cent of the feed value and most of the carotene (vitamin A) in the leaves, you'll need the fast but gentle handling of John Deere Equipment to save the valuable leaves and pocket full profit.

How Does a John Deere Mower Save Leaves? By being there ready to cut 35 or more acres per day when the crop is ready to be cut! By cutting cleaner, even at faster forward travel speeds! By reducing clogging . . . by cutting like new over the years . . . by reducing field time losses.

How Does a John Deere Hay Conditioner Save Leaves? By crimping stems so leaves and stems cure together faster, making the crop ready for windrowing before leaves become brittle and shatter off stems—by cutting curing time 35 to 50 per cent! By doubling your chances of getting hay put up without weather damage!

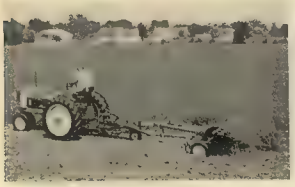
How Does a John Deere Rake Save More Leaves? By gently moving and lifting the hay into neat, fluffy, well-formed windrows with leaves inside . . . stems outside for faster curing! By not beating the crop, shattering the leaves from the stems! By raking cleaner in every condition.

See your John Deere dealer. Write today for free descriptive literature!

New High-Capacity Mowers Cut 35 or More Acres per Day

Two brand-new mowers—the flexible No. 8 Caster-Wheel Mower (shown at left) and the convenient 3-point No. 9 Mower—give new meaning to fast, clean cutting. Higher capacity . . . practically vibrationless running . . . protected operation . . . simple adjustments for like-new performance . . . and quick, easy attaching and detaching are features.

Hay Conditioner Saves Precious Leaves . . . Cuts Curing Time in Half



You'll make better hay with the John Deere Hay Conditioner. Its interlocking, corrugated metal rolls pick up and kink each stem at about 2-inch intervals, insuring fast, even curing. Mower hookups are available for new No. 8 and No. 9 Mowers to make mowing and conditioning one cost-cutting operation.

High-Speed Rakes Make Faster-Curing Windrows

John Deere Rakes feature the 4-bar reel, reducing the number of times tooth-bars contact hay . . . reducing the shattering of leaves. Curved teeth lift hay gently onto stubble, forming fluffy windrows. Rakes are available with right-angle reel and conventional reels . . . ground- and PTO-drive . . . in semi-integral, drawn and 3-point-hitch types.

The Only Modern Planter for Today's Needs

The new 4-row 494 with dry-fertilizer attachment, pre-emergence sprayer, and insecticide attachment.

PROFITABLE corn production today is a science . . . a science that not only dictates accurate planting at faster speeds, but the combining of four big jobs into one operation. Today, you need a planter that will plant fast and accurately, precision-place high-analysis fertilizer, and apply weed and insect-controlling chemicals in one fast cost-cutting trip across the field. And the new John Deere Planters are the only ones on the market that live up to these specifications. It's only a new John Deere that gives you this four-in-one job of planting, and it's only with a new John Deere that you can practically insure a perfect stand of corn every time.

Whether you choose the 494 Four-Row or the 694 Six-Row, you can equip it to meet your every planting need. You have your choice of big-capacity dry- or liquid-fertilizer attachments that are real time-savers. You have a wide choice of ground-working equipment and fertilizer openers. The insecticide attachment can save your replanting . . . or getting a half stand. The pre-emergence weed sprayer can save you one or more cultivations.

Put your corn-growing operation into high gear this season by planting with today's only modern planter—the all-new John Deere.

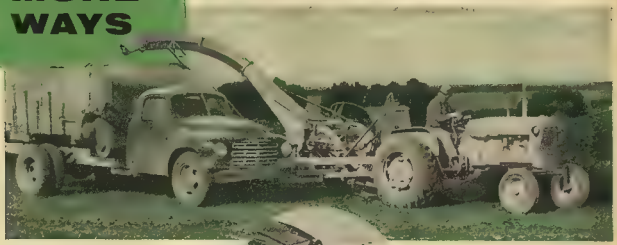
PAYS MORE WAYS

than any other Feedmaker on the farm



Feed more animals off the same acreage—college feeding tests show that one acre, green-chopped or ensiled, can equal up to two acres grazed.

WHEN THE FIRST BLOSSOMS APPEAR, your pay-harvests of grasses and legumes begin.

From then on, your own Allis-Chalmers Forage Harvester repeats its busy pay-off: daily green feeding, grass or row-crop silage, straw, bedding, cornstalks or whatever chopping job you wish to use it on.

You can chop up to 100 tons a day at lowest possible cost with big savings in labor. A steady stream of silage heaps up the load behind or at the side.

Allis-Chalmers cut-and-throw cylinder design does it. Wide 3-ft. knives are cupped and curved a special patented way to both cut and throw material into truck or wagon. You get a more uniform mix of leaves and stems.

Knives are power-sharpened right in the machine with a built-in hone. They are protected by a Stone Stopper safety clutch on the feed rolls.

Step up output from your land and your herd. See your Allis-Chalmers dealer and learn how you can really cut your feed costs with this modern Forage Harvester and its big-capacity companion blower for both grain and forage.

ALLIS-CHALMERS, FARM EQUIPMENT DIVISION, MILWAUKEE 1, WISCONSIN

The Sonar Model D 120 Depth Indicator.

Sonar Radio Corporation, Brooklyn, N. Y., will offer for 1958 three new models of marine radio telephones which will feature the Antennapak for greater talking power.

Model 65 is a 65-watt, 6 marine channel plus broadcast band radio telephone designed so that the power supply and the receiver transmitter is all self-contained. It is available for 6 or 12 volts.

Sonar Model 90, a 90-watt unit, features 6 marine channels plus broadcast band available for 12 or 32 volt DC operation.

Model 160 is a 160-watt 6 marine channel plus broadcast band marine radio telephone, available for 12 and 32 volt DC and 117 volt AC operation. It has a two dynamotor and vibrator power supply.

All of the above units comply with Coast Guard regulations relating to public boats for hire and will meet all new FCC regulations.

MARINE ADHESIVE TAKES ABUSE

Operation South Bay Blue Jay—the 25-boat community building program which attracted so much attention in Northeastern boating circles last spring—used AR-703 exclusively for gluing and protecting the plywood planking on their Blue Jay Sloops. They report the product has performed beyond all expectations.

In spite of a season's abuse by 25 novice junior skippers in a strenuous 5-month sailing program, all report the AR-703 is as good as the day it was applied.

During the racing season a number of the boats were involved in collisions leaving them with fractures and holes in their plywood planking—some of which were 3" or 4" across. It was found that AR 703 mixed with Part C thickener proved ideal for making quick, flawless and permanent patches for these holes.

In addition to its use as a marine glue, plywood and fiberglass patching material and plywood protector, AR-703 has many other uses ranging from securing teak decks to underdecks to protecting wooden hulls from marine borers in southern waters. Complete details on AR-703 Marine Coating and other "AR" Products are available from Alroy Process Corp., 6 East 46th Street, New York 17, N. Y.

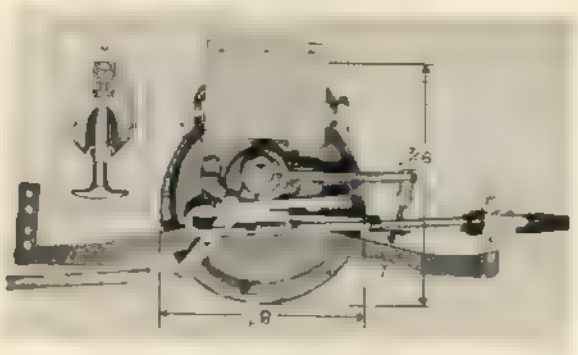
HEAVY DUTY SYNCHRONIZER



Marmac Products of Detroit have developed a new, heavier duty synchronizer for operation on twin-engine, inboard gasoline and diesel powered vessels. It eliminates vibration.

A new and heavier duty synchronizer for twin-engined, inboard gasoline and diesel powered boats is now being marketed by Marmac Products, 2400 Bellevue, Detroit 7, Michigan.

The accurate and sensitive new unit is said to keep the "lead" and "following" engines within one rpm of each other. Four tachometer drive outlets are provided as a source of power, with the result that the throttle control arm can be set to travel from left to right, or right to left as desired. The synchronizer will also handle engines having opposite rotating tachometer drives without the provision of additional equipment.

Of especial interest to boat owners is the fact that the unit may be mounted in any convenient location below deck.

According to the manufacturer, the new unit completely eliminates all propeller noises and engine vibrations set up by frequency variations due to non-synchronization.

Marmac also announces a new "topside dual steerer," especially adapted for use by sport fishermen. Entirely mechanical in its operation, the new device eliminates the need for opening or closing valves at either of the wheels mounted on the flying bridge or in the deckhouse. It is especially noteworthy, also, for the lack of any material play in the upper controls.

The main portion of the mechanism is contained within the lower control tower. It consists of dual racks, mounted in parallel within tubular brass housings and actuated by a single pinion located between these racks. The movement of this pinion is controlled by the rotation of the shaft.

HATHAWAY SAILS POWER WINNERS

Twenty yachts using Hathaway, Reiser & Raymond, Inc. dacron sails produced 31 first places in middle and long distance racing in 1957, including the Trans-Atlantic race from Newport to Santander, Spain; the Fastnet, Halifax and Storm Trysail-Block Island events. In five M.O.R.C. races, eight of 12 classes in the Off Soundings Club spring and fall cruises, the Britannia Cup, Watch Hill long distance fixture, American Y.C. cruise, Norwalk Y.C. Cruise, Single Handed Creepstakes, Riverside-Stratford Shoals, and Storm Trysail-Mt. Desert test, this company's sails powered prize winning yachts.

In the Columbus Day Indian Harbor-Stratford Shole-Execution race, 10 entries using H. R. & R. sails drove eight of the first nine boats on corrected time.

PERKINS MARINE ADDS NEW ITEMS

Streamlined lights, modern-designed hardware and fittings, made to meet the new requirements of the U. S. Coast Guard for motorboats and other types of vessels, are being offered this year by Perkins Marine Lamp and Hardware Corporation, 1941 Pitkin Ave., Brooklyn 7, N. Y.

The 1958 Combination Bow Light with flag pole socket and a patented Perko rebulbing feature is one of its offerings.

For 50 years they have manufactured marine lamps and hardware. Their 1958 general catalog, available for $1.00, shows their complete line. A small boat catalog, showing items for outboards, inboards and cruisers, can be obtained for 25 cents.

Their many new items; lights, hardware and fittings, are made to meet the new U. S. Coast Guard regulations

MAINE-BUILT 35-FOOTER

A new, 35′, twin-screw fishing cruiser is being introduced by Poly-Craft Marine of Boothbay Harbor, Me. The firm is a division of the Poly-Choke Company of Hartford, Conn., long known among outdoor sportsmen and hunters as a pioneer manufacturer of adjustable shotgun chokes and hunting accessories.

Designed to combine seaworthiness with modern styling, Poly-Craft's chief structural feature is a tested underbody form which couples round-bilge construction with light weight to provide maximum comfort and safety in rough water with maneuverability. Built by experienced Down East craftsmen from plans and specifications by Eldredge-McInnis of Boston, this newcomer is actually a semi-custom boat produced at a price that compares favorably with stock boat prices. Production will be limited, for the present.

Poly-Craft's materials and equipment are the finest available. Frames and keel are oak, planking is mahogany. Everdur-fastened. Decks and self-bailing cockpit are teak. Flush cockpit is 17′ long and has 6′ 2″ headroom under the deckhouse extension. The cabin has sleeping accommodations for four, and optional bunks for two more in the deckhouse, which is completely enclosed by a removable, white canvas covering or, if desired, by a permanent bulkhead.

Power is provided by twin Chrysler Crown 125 hp engines with 2.04:1 reduction gear, and may be varied at the owner's option. Other specifications include Wilcox-Crittenden hardware, Marmac controls, Crowell hydraulic steering control, Columbia propellers, Danforth anchor, Allcraft monel gas tanks. Optional features include a flying bridge, bow and stern rails, and outriggers.

Complete information is available from Poly-Craft Marine, Dept. 161, The Poly-Choke Co., Inc., East Hartford, Conn.

The 35′ fishing cruiser introduced by Poly-Craft Marine of Boothbay Harbor, Me. Eldredge and McInnis designed it.

PURITAN SKI TOW ROPES

A new type of polyethylene and a new construction are combined in the 1958 addition to the Puritan Marine Products family of water ski tow ropes. The new yarn offers lower stretch, superior resistance to abrasion and to deterioration from ultra violet sun rays. The new diamond braid construction highlights greater strength, less tendency to kink and better knot holding power.

The new Poly-Flyer set is completely assembled with the tow line spliced for attachment to the bridle. The bright yellow hardwood tow bar is 1″ in diameter for a good comfortable grip. Regular and slalom models are available. For additional information write Puritan Marine Products, 126 Cable Street, Louisville 6, Kentucky.

PRICE CHANGE ON OUTBOARD OIL

In face of rising material costs and handling charges, Dew-coated Lubricants, Chicago 80, Illinois, is reducing retail prices on the complete package line of outboard motor oil and upper cylinder lubrication for the West Coast market, thus making the product available throughout the United States at a standard price level (slightly higher in Canada).

Also, Dew-coated products will offer more profit to the jobber and dealer in 1958 as a freight allowance plan has been put into effect which is equivalent to a prepaid basis of distribution.

the secret treasure of a bold Buccaneer

Buccaneer has devised a bold stratagem to capture the imagination of adventurous spirits like yourself. It's a secret treasure. But the secret is an open one. The people who've made Buccaneer the fastest-growing outboard motor in America have already discovered it. You can too.

CLUE 1 Take Buccaneer's special features. The new automotive-type ignition, for instance. Turn the key "ON" to start, "OFF" to stop. Or the new tilt-lock that holds the motor safely out of the water for beaching. To these special features, add Buccaneer's top-to-bottom silencer system and its full-powered engine responding instantly to your touch. That's part of it.

CLUE 2 Take a good lo-o-ong look at the photograph above and picture yourself on top of the world of outboard motoring. All alone, away from it all . . . or taking the family for a holiday spin. That's a big part of it

CLUE 3 Man of action? Discover the secret treasure for yourself. Grab the nearest "Yellow Pages" and find the Buccaneer dealer under "Outboard Motors." Or drop us a card. We'll send you the material for dreaming. You can take your pick of eight sparkling models, from 3 hp to 35 hp.

KONIG OUTBOARD MOTORS FROM ABROAD

Manufactured in West Berlin and distributed in this country through Overseas Dealers, Square Street, Dallas, Ga., are the Konig outboard motors which piled up an imposing array of successes in both A.P.B.A. and N.O.A. competition in the 1957 season.

Konig motors are built to meet the specifications for seven categories of competition: stock and racing for Classes J, A and B, and racing only in C.

The J motors are 9.98 cubic inches displacement, single-cylinder models operating at 9:1 compression ratio and 6000 rpm for the stock version and 12:1 and 7000 rpm for the racing engine. The A and B engines are twins of 14.82 and 19.87 cubic inches, respectively, and the C racing motor is a three-cylinder, 29.80-inch machine which operates at 12:1 compression ratio and pulls 45 hp at 7000 rpm

ESSO GASOLINE WITH MARNOL

Esso Marine Gasoline with Marnol works to keep fuel lines and tanks clean. This results in smooth valve action, quick starts, fast warm-ups and knock-free operation, the company declares. Esso Marine dealers also offer copies of the Esso Cruising Guide, a valuable navigational supplement.

DEVELOPMENTS IN SEARCHLIGHTS

Portable's new searchlight comes with this gunwale mounting unit for use on runabouts

Half-Mile-Ray and One-Mile-Ray marine searchlights manufactured by The Portable Light Co., Inc., New York, N. Y., range from 5" to 20" in diameter and include types for all kinds of craft from canoes to large ships

Among the new items are two interesting searchlights. No. 60-T is a gunwale mounting unit for runabouts. It has a bent bracket so it can be adjusted to clear the windshield and can be raised or lowered as desired.

The second new unit is a Twin-Beam searchlight with cabin control mounting. This light can be supplied with one searchlight bulb and one floodlight bulb. The bulbs can be operated separately or together to give whatever type of illumination is required.

EVENTS THAT CHANGED THE FACE OF THE GLOBE

MARCH 30, 1867: UNITED STATES BUYS ALASKA FROM RUSSIA FOR $7,200,000

AND CRAM WAS THERE!... Since 1867, keeping close check on every geographical world change to assure the up-to-date accuracy that has made CRAM GLOBES the first choice in schools throughout America. NOW . . . for the first time, this fine line of quality globes are available for general distribution through toy wholesalers.

ILLUSTRATED BELOW: THE CRAM DUOGYRAL: a touch of the finger swings both the globe and meridian forward and back, or completely around; bringing both poles or any portion of the map instantly into view. Perfectly balanced, brilliantly colored and completely up-dated, the globe has a hard-polished lacquer surface that is washable. The unbreakable, die-cast meridian, fork and base comprise a strong, permanent, beautiful assembly. Available in a choice of blue or black water areas, in two sizes at $9.95 and $12.95

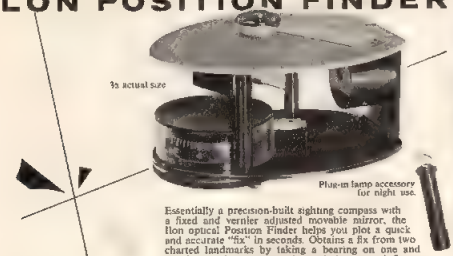
ILON POSITION FINDER



Essentially a precision-built sighting compass with a fixed and vernier adjusted movable mirror, the Ilon optical Position Finder helps you plot a quick and accurate "fix" in seconds. Obtains a fix from two charted landmarks by taking a bearing on one and simultaneously measuring the angle between. A fix can likewise be obtained from a lighthouse or other single charted object of known height by taking a bearing and a vertical angle to give distance-off.

Amateur or expert, it takes the guesswork out of re-finding fishing hotspots and skin-diving finds without reference to a chart and proves invaluable in return to safe anchorages, for bow-and-beam bearings and for avoiding shoal areas or obstructions by computing the "danger angle". Now small boat owners have a superb navigation aid small enough for use in a rowboat yet so accurate they can fix position as expertly as ocean-going skippers. $35.00

REIMANN AND GEORGER

Because this new boat lift has heavy vertical supports, it lifts the boat higher

A new boat lift, heavier, higher and wider than past models, is announced by Reimann and Georger, 1847 Harlem Road, Buffalo 12, N. Y. The new model, OB 1800, has heavy vertical supports and lifts the boat higher than previous models protecting the boat during storms and high water. The new model is good for outboard cruisers up to 20′ in length or 7½′ beam, weighing up to 1800 pounds. The extra height provides for cabin boats in this class. It may be equipped with electric hoist, cover and side curtains if desired.

An electric boat lift for boathouse installations is also shown. Winch and pulleys are mounted on the boathouse rafters with an electrical control conveniently located. The ¾ hp 110- or 220-volt reversible motor operates the winch. Boats can be raised by lifting eyes or slings. Models are available to handle boats up to 4500 pounds.

MONEL AND NI-BRAL

Monel tanks, shafts, accessories, fastenings and nickel-aluminum bronze propellers are now more readily available for the motorboat field and are displayed by the International Nickel Company.

On display in the tank section is a large outboard motor hooked up to a permanently installed Monel nickel-copper alloy gasoline tank emphasizing the need for increased gasoline-carrying capacity with large motors. Tanks fabricated by Skyline Products, Allcraft Mfg. Co., L. O. Koven and Lee Corp are shown.

Monel shafts, available from jobbers' warehouses, are featured along with new nickel-aluminum bronze (Ni-Bral) propellers used in conjunction with the shafts. This exhibit emphasizes the higher horsepower being used in the marine industry and the need for stronger shafts to handle increased torque.

Among the accessory items displayed are Monel nickel-copper alloy stoves, seawater strainers, mufflers, an exhaust sweep, a hydraulic steering unit, water heaters, and other hardware.

RULES OF THE ROAD

An ingenious animated display showing the six basic rules of the nautical road is the principal attraction at the Texaco exhibit. By means of moving lighted boat shapes, the correct action to be taken when meeting, overtaking or crossing another boat is illustrated, and synchronized telephones around the display narrate the correct whistle signals and the maneuvers to be made to avoid collision.

Located in Booths 184 and 185 on the third floor of the New York Coliseum directly opposite the main bank of elevators, the Texaco booth displays the company's complete line of specialized marine products: high octane Sky Chief Marine Gasoline, Havoline Motor Oil and outboard lubricants.

A section of the booth is devoted to Texaco Waterways Service, the Company's marine information bureau, and applications may be made for Texaco Cruising Charts and cruise data.

The 1958 Texaco Cruising Charts covering the Atlantic Coast from Maine to Texas, the Great Lakes, Hudson River and Lake Champlain, and the Mississippi River System are now off the press and will be mailed shortly after the close of the Motor Boat Show to those requesting copies.

The new Texaco Cruising Charts have been greatly revised and, among other new data, they show the locations, signals and frequencies of the principal aircraft radio beacons which can be used as aids in coastal navigation.

BENSON'S ANCHORS

A snag-proof anchor, easily freed when fouled is made by Benson's Anchors, Inc.

A snag-proof anchor, offered by Benson's Anchors, Inc., 316 South Orchard Rd., Syracuse, New York, can be freed if fouled, according to the company, because of a ring which slips back along the shank to the crown. Thus the anchor backs out—the same way it went in. When on the way up, the anchor flips back to "drop" position. This automatic reset keeps it always ready for anchoring.

Benson's Life-Saver Bow Chock is adaptable to any type boat. It holds the anchor on the bow, ready for instant action. When hauling in, the line rolls over stainless steel rollers until anchor is cradled in the Bow Chock. The Ben-Lok Deck Chock is a one-piece, self locking item. The anchor is placed in the chock and a ring locks it securely. Both the Bow and Deck Chock eliminate the hazard of carrying an unsecured anchor

WATER-REPELLENT PRESERVATIVES

Water-repellent preservatives for boats and ropes are offered by Protection Products Manufacturing Co., 2305 Superior Ave., Kalamazoo, Mich.

Marine-type Woodlife is used for docks, boats, water skis, boathouses, etc. It is designed to protect against termites, fungus growths, warping, decay-rot, etc. It is not a temporary treatment, but will last for years, says the company. It also makes an excellent base for boat finishes because it tends to keep the wood drier underneath.

The marine-type Stormy Weather preserves fabric materials used in sails ropes, boat covers, fish nets, etc. It is used to protect against moisture, mildew, decay and mold

SPERRY RAND COMPLETES PLANT

Sperry Rand Corporation has announced that an additional 100,000 square feet of production area has been completed at its Sperry Piedmont plant in Charlottesville, Va. The modern facility represents an investment of more than $3,500,000.

The Sperry plant, located on an 83-acre tract, Route 29 just north of Charlottesville, now employs over 600 people in the Piedmont, Virginia area and manufactures such products as marine radars, gyro-compasses, loran, rudder angle and ship's course indicators. The Sperry Piedmont plant is also producing SPQ-5 Navy radar systems for the Sperry Gyroscope Company. SPQ-5 is a class of super radars now in service with the fleet for guidance of Terrier missiles.

COAX YOUR WIFE TO LIVE AFLOAT

want gave me the courage to start in again.

"Listen to that guy," I said to Dorothy. "He's a symbol of this phoney, hustle-hustle life. He's driving me nuts, because I know there are so many more like him. It's not their fault that they're phoneys, but they carry on anyway. They're regimented and they're scared."

"What do you mean, scared?" Dorothy demanded.

"Well, they're scared of themselves and their futures, and this makes them willing to do anything for a dollar. I don't mean just radio announcers. They're sort of a symbol of all the young and middle-aged men who have given up all their individuality, and even worse, their personal sincerity, to make a little dough for themselves and their bosses."

Then, knowing Dorothy as I did, I came up with a statement that I still don't know where I found the courage to make: "Money just doesn't mean that much to me."

In her opinion, I had uttered blasphemy. I feared I had overstepped myself and that Dorothy might never again let me bring up the subject.

But I did some deep and desperate thinking in the days that followed, and the more I thought the more aware I became of the shallowness of my life. And I realized that most of the men I worked with had no goal or aim except to be on hand next payday and the payday after that and so on until retirement at 65. I even had it rationalized that the tensions built up in such lives could cause wars.

I worked out a different approach to Dorothy. Bit by bit, in our dinnertime chats, I sketched word pictures of glorious sunrises over the clear, blue-green waters of the Gulf of Mexico, of the many kinds of fish that abound there. I told her of a mass movement of porpoises I had once witnessed when thousands of the gay beasts went rolling and leaping out through New Pass at Sarasota in a parade that lasted for a half hour.

I described a snowy egret, standing motionless on long legs, reflected in the still water of a bay, and I asked her if she didn't feel like she was missing a part of this world that was not intended to be overlooked.

I tied knots and spliced rope and told her how they were used. One night she completed a long splice, and it thrilled her a little when I told her she was probably the only woman among the millions in Los Angeles who could do that. She's enough of an individualist to appreciate something of that sort.

I took advantage of another facet in her make-up, too. She had not been very good at mathematics in school, and this weakness irked her. I began talking about navigation, and it was a challenge she couldn't ignore. She borrowed a book from a teen-aged neighbor and began studying the mathematical fundamentals of the subject.

But time was passing and I had made no real progress—and I was getting older. Rope splicing and the introduction to navigation were merely passing fancies to Dorothy.

Then one day I stumbled into the very heart and core of my job of salesmanship. It was so simple it startled me.

"Before you get mad at me," I began that evening, "listen to me for just a minute. We're already saving money and pretty soon the house will be paid for. Now why don't we just pretend we're saving for a boat? It'll give us a target and something to dream about, and we can set an imaginary date for when we'll get her. It'd be sort of fun, eh?"

That was the phrase—"pretend we're saving for a boat." Dorothy caught the spirit. In the weeks that followed we did a lot of figuring and it added up that in six years the house would be paid for and the bank account would be well up into four figures—and I would be only 43 years old. So we played it as a game for many months. It became part of everything we did and planned and we found ourselves believing in it. Dorothy took swimming lessons and we enrolled in a night school to study navigation seriously.

Suddenly, six years had passed. As if it were the most natural thing in the world for her to do, Dorothy quit her job and I took a leave of absence from the Los Angeles newspaper. The leave has since expired and my termination is complete. We sold the little house in Tarzana.

We are living now on our 36-foot schooner, Whistling Cat II, cruising out of the charming Gulf Coast town of Venice. Dorothy makes our $80-a-month income from savings and house payments stretch all the way. We eat a lot of fish and, in season, dine on stone crabs which we take from the water within ten yards of our dock, instead of paying $4.50 or $5.00 in a restaurant.

We sleep soundly in our double bunk forward. We are tanned, and I have lost the 14 pounds that began to pile up around the middle-aged midsection in Los Angeles. Our old "normal" life—regimented, smog-bound, dependent for security upon the whims of bosses—might just as well never have been, so remote does it seem.

The glorious sunrises and sunsets, the frolicking porpoises, the sea birds and wading birds, the fish in the crystal waters, belong to us. We live with them and have found peace and contentment, not only in them, but in the knowledge that a dream can come true, that a house and a car and a job are not downright necessities if you make up your mind otherwise.

Just the other day a bachelor friend of mine, preparing to enter matrimony, told me sorrowfully that the wedding bells could ring only after the sale of his handsome and beloved ketch because his bride-to-be "just can't stand boats."

I hope she reads this.

SHE MAY FIND SHE'LL LOVE IT

discovery. Your mental attitude is a very important factor, and I had convinced myself that I was going to love it.

I don't know why we were so lucky, but in less than 15 days our "dream boat" had been found. We had been looking for a ketch, because Gordon said that rig would be easier for us to manage, but we fell in love with a 36-foot schooner. As far as I am concerned, she is perfect. Many sailboats don't have much living space, but our schooner has more than any boat we looked at: two double bunks, a breakfast nook, a large, handy galley, a good-sized head, three hanging lockers, and loads of storage space. There is even room for a beautiful-hand-carved chest that Gordon bought for me in California.

A week after we found her, we moved aboard. Suddenly all my fears and misgivings vanished. The boat was in spotless condition and all we had to do was move on and stow our gear. Then I set about learning to handle her. Before long I knew how to hoist and lower the sails, coil line, handle the tiller and sheets, drop and raise the anchor, furl sails and do many other jobs.

Top-Flite model planes use new skin-like foil

Two of the lightest materials known are said to be in use for the first time on the production of model planes. The statement comes from Top-Flite Models, Inc., Chicago, which says it is using a special aluminum foil and balsa wood. The foil, called Duralume, is made especially for aircraft.

The company explains that the aluminum "skin" is laminated to the balsa wood and that this permits a reduction in the thickness of the wood. At the same time, however, the process gives greater flexibility and strength to the plane.

The company lists several other advantages—the foil won't chip, peel or separate from the balsa wood because it has been bonded and the need for fuel-proofing or sealer is eliminated. The surface is said to provide an ideal base for any kind of dope or paint.

A complete line of Duralume gas models and Jigtime construction sets, as well as the rubber-powered ready to fly planes, soon will be available

The company says that the first of the rubber-powered, the Silver Hour, has received a warm reception among youngsters. Completely assembled and ready to fly, it has a formed fuselage instead of a stick-type, a canopy, spinner, free-wheeling prop, and wheels. They are made of plastic. A pilot, landing gear and extra rubber motor are included.

The plane has a wingspan of eighteen inches and and overall length of fourteen inches. It is trimmed in two bright and contrasting colors and packaged in a display box with a clear plastic window. Retail price is $1.98.

Airplane model accessories display board offered dealers

Darwin Model Aircraft Co., Ann Arbor, Mich., is offering a display board designed to solve dealers' problem of stocking and displaying control line accessories. The display is free with the purchase of an initial stock of Darwin model plane accessories

The board is made so that it can be attached to a shelf edge, wall or Pegboard display. Each display board contains accessories with a list value of $47.55. Cost to the dealer is $28.00.

MONOGRAM

Snark guided missile in 3-D display

Monogram Models, Inc., 3421 W. 48th pl., Chicago, has introduced a new counter and window display for its Snark guided missile.

The three-dimensional, full-color display features the plastic scale model of the Snark, scale models of a 16" wheel mobile launching ramp, a caterpillar tractor used to pull the ramp, and four sculptured figures of an officer, technician, radioman and mechanic.

LINDBERG

Built-up hobby displays

Hobby retailers will be receiving a new point of sale display for the hobby construction kits of Lindberg Products, Inc., Skokie, Ill. The displays, just recently introduced by the company are now being shipped with all built-up models.

Important feature is the fact that the displays contain a new Lindberg model, the upper portion holding a package of the new item, and the lower body of the display providing space for an assembled model.

Lindberg's new display will hold all models in the 79c to $2.69 price range. Overall size is 18 inches high and 12 inches wide at the bottom. It is colored yellow, red and black.

Revell shows display aids for space and missile line

Revell, Inc., Venice, Calif., has developed a series of point-of-sale merchandising aids to introduce its space and missile line. They will be available in "promotion packs" which will include all the necessary materials for coordinated window and interior displays.

Promoting the company's three-stage rocket space ship model is a movable window displayer showing the model traveling through outer space. Colored lights silhouette the model against a background of stars and planets. A globe of the earth revolves in the center of the unit.

Retailers can find out how to obtain the window display from their jobbers by writing to Revell, Inc.

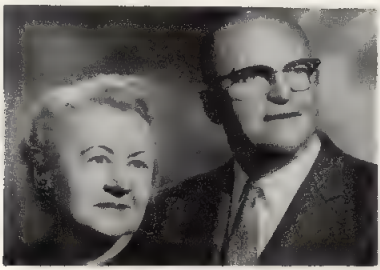
Husband and Wife Form Sales Team Covering Western States



Polly and Charles Reilly

Charles J. Reilly, veteran West Coast representative for The Goshen Mfg. Company, Inc., Goshen, Ind., and his wife Polly have teamed up to form a unique and effective sales combination.

Mr. Reilly has been selling furniture for the past 30 years, and for the past several years Polly has accompanied him on his trips through California, Arizona and Nevada. She had a lot of time to think as she passed the hours sitting and knitting and waiting while Charlie made his calls. So, she decided to start a selling career herself and the logical line was Goshen's playground equipment.

Now, while Charlie is selling Goshen Outdoor Furniture, Polly is working "the other side of the street" selling gym sets, lawn swings and other items in the comprehensive Merriplay line. The results, states Goshen, have been gratifying to all concerned—sales have more than doubled in their territory.

Mr. Reilly's record as a straight-shooter, the manufacturer notes, has earned for him the esteem of customers and colleagues alike. Recently, he was elected president of the National Wholesale Furniture Salesmen's Association, a national organization of over 17,000 members.

NEW DART GUN AND WATER PISTOL NUMBERS BY PARK

The #204 Buccaneer Double Barrel Dart Gun and a #110 Snub Bee revolver style water gun are expected by Park Plastics, Linden, N. Y., to be among their most sought-after items this year.

The new dart gun, styled after an authentic flintlock, fires one suction-cup dart a time or both simultaneously. It is sprayed with a bright gold finish that covers all the hand-engraved portions on the left- and right-hand side of the gun as well as the grip. To attract impulse buyers, the Buccaneer is packaged either in a gift box with a Mylar window or as a bubble pack. A set-up target is included at the retail of 98¢.

Fitting compactly in the palm of the hand, or easily concealed in a pocket, the Snub-Bee incorporates Park's new recessed high compression nozzle feature and will fire a stream of water up to distances of 30 feet. Suggested retail 29¢.

TWIN SET OF KALEIDOSCOPES BROUGHT OUT BY TRI G CO.

Kaleidoscopes to be sold as a twin set have been added to their line this year by the Tri G Company, makers of the Odd-Ball game and the Optical Star Finder.

Retailed at two for $1 packaged in a plastic bag, the kaleidoscopes have tubes 1¾" in diameter and 6⅞" in length. The wraps are in three colors and white.

One kaleidoscope has a compartment containing colorful pieces of plastic, bright beads, thread and other materials suspended in liquid. This arrangement gives a full area pattern, and the pieces move slowly before the mirrors.

The second kaleidoscope has an air-operated compartment in which the color pieces are light in weight and dry. An attached blowing tube is blown through, causing the pieces to become agitated and form novel patterns.

EDUCATIONAL ELECTRONICS HAS SPACE SATELLITE "MOON RADIO"

Educational Electronics Company, Chicago 26, state that their U. S. Command Space Satellite, the "Moon Radio," is proving one of the best-selling electronic hobby items they have ever introduced. Looking just like a satellite, yet no bigger than a baseball, the "Moon Radio" has all the features any youngster could wish for in a radio. It comes fully assembled and requires no tubes or batteries; the sensitive electronic instruments are pre-sealed in the satellite, which includes a Germanium diode and an ear-plug type speaker.

One has only to attach the clip to any metal grounding, lampshade, phone dial, window-screen, water pipe radiator, etc., plug the speaker into the ear and simply tune the "Moon Radio" in on any favorite program desired. No batteries are required.

The U. S. Command Space Satellite "Moon Radio" is molded in colorful, durable plastic and comes fully-assembled in a colorful display box to retail for $5.95.

B & M SPORTOY'S OFFERING MANY NEW ITEMS FOR '58

Several new categories in the sporting goods field will be presented to the trade by B & M Sportoy at the Toy Fair. Added to the basketball and goal set line and the striking bags, for which B & M Sportoy has been noted for years, are the following brand new lines: badminton sets, volley ball sets, badminton-volley ball combination sets, home gyms, boxing gloves and training outfits. All these, and more, will be on display in the showrooms of Levy & Fryer, Inc., national sales representatives at 200 Fifth Avenue, New York City during the Fair.

B & M Sportoy also announces that they have been awarded the exclusive Joe Palooka franchise for Sportoys. This franchise reportedly has proved to be a strong sales stimulus in other sporting goods fields.

"Important to our customers, new and old, is the fact that we have made marked advancements in the packaging and design of our basketball and goal sets and our striking bags," says Mac Lewis, president. "With our new designs and packaging, plus the greatest expansion ever in the history of our company, we look forward to 1958 as a record-breaking year in sales."

NEW YORK DOLL SHOE CO., INC. ADDS TWO NEW CORPORATIONS

Sam Farulla and his son, Bob, are happy to announce the addition of two new corporations to offer a complete service to doll manufacturers: The New York Vinyl Corporation and the New York Doll Accessories Corporation, both located at their new and spacious quarters at 360 Furman Street, Brooklyn, N. Y.

The New York Doll Shoe Company, Inc., founded back in 1934, first won popularity with doll manufacturers with their full line of doll shoes. They have now expanded to offer the assemblers a complete service, from doll shoes and stockings to vinyl doll bodies, parts, custom molding, and all the accessories that go with it, such as furniture, jewelry, roller skates, and so forth. Both Sam and Bob Farulla announce that they will have available every conceivable item in doll accessories.

LOGAN ELECTRIC SPECIALTY TO ADD 12M SQUARE FEET

The Logan Electric Specialty Mfg. Company, 1431-35 W. Hubbard Street, Chicago manufacturers of toys and games, plus lithographed prominent, advertising displays and other products, is now in the midst of a plant expansion program. Jack Glazewer, general manager at Logan, states that the company is adding 12,000 square feet of floor space adjacent to their present building; this will give the firm a total of 40,000 square feet for production and storage purposes.

Logan is well known in the toy field for such products as the herein-illustrated Jet Basketball Game, juvenile sporting goods toys, floor-model striking bag sets, lithographed steel toys and games, novelty savings banks, and so forth.

The company's line, including many new numbers, will be on view at the Toy Fair in the Frank & Press' Suite 1462 in the 200 Fifth Avenue Building and in Logan's own New Yorker showroom, Room 530.

"MASS-CLASS" MARKET

Sixty-three percent of the United States families earn from $3,000 to $10,000 a year and account for 72 percent of total consumer product expenditures, according to a Life magazine study released last fall.

DON BOLIN ADDED TO SALES STAFF AT STROMBECK-BECKER

Appointment of Don Bolin to the sales staff of the Strombeck-Becker Mfg. Company, Moline, Ill., has been announced by Frederick K. Strombeck, president, of the concern.

Representing the "Strombecker" line of scale model kits and pre-school toys, Mr.

Don Bolin

Bolin will work out of Strombeck-Becker's New York office. His territory will consist of Connecticut, Delaware, District of Columbia, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, and Vermont.

Mr. Bolin's background includes extensive sales experience in the toy field, and a wide knowledge of eastern and midwestern markets.

High on the Strombecker list of successful items are the recently introduced "Egghert" toys, featuring the copyrighted character, "Egghert." This line of plastic and wood vehicles is reported to have made an immediate hit wherever featured and will be extensively merchandised during the coming months.

RUSSELL CARD GAMES STILL IN 25c RANGE

Two new exciting card games—Mickey Mouse Funny Rummy and Walt Disney's True Life Adventure Cards—were introduced recently by the Russell Mfg. Company of Leicester, Mass. Both are Walt Disney inspired games with authentic reproductions of many well-known Disney characters.

All Russell card games are reported to have undergone a complete repackaging job, with the new packs featuring full-color designs and reproductions. Along with the new packages, Russell is offering a new self-selling counter display unit. This display piece is specially designed to encourage customer selection and provides adequate stock space for Russell card games right in the unit itself. Retailers need no back-up stock as the display itself contains complete stock assortments.

"A complete 25¢ price range, new games and repackaging of our line plus our self-selling counter display enable us to offer customers a sound selling proposition," says Ralph Russell, president.

Russell Mfg. Company is represented exclusively by Levy & Fryer, Inc., national sales representatives at 200 Fifth Avenue, New York 10, New York.

Holiday's Coast Operation Expanded

A three-fold expansion program has just been completed in Los Angeles by The Holiday Line, Inc. At their West Coast plant, located at 312 E. 12 Street, new, efficient equipment has been installed and production capacity is noted to have been greatly increased.

The Holiday Line built their Los Angeles plant five years ago so as to expedite orders placed by their customers in the West. As a result, valuable time was saved in turning out seasonal merchandise and considerable freight economies were effected.

At the front of the firm's Los Angeles plant is an attractive 250-foot lawn. Square footage available inside totals approximately 25,000.

President of the Holiday Line's west coast organization is Norman Inman, who, to quote Dave Rosenberg of the parent company, has good reason to be proud of "his remarkable progress in building such a solid organization in so short a time."

Plans for expansion in New York are under way. "We will have a new streamlined plant there by the end of the year," Mr Rosenberg notes.

HALCO TIES IN NEW HOLSTER SET WITH "HAVE GUN, WILL TRAVEL"

In recent years, states the J. Halpern Company, the American toy buyer has consistently shown a preference for licensed tie-in designs presold to mass audiences through TV movies and comic strips.

In keeping with this trend, J. Halpern in 1958 will offer one of the most expensive line-ups of exclusive, licensed designs ever presented to the toy trade. The firm announces that such tie-ins have been consummated for both its toy holster and Halloween costume lines.

"Have Gun, Will Travel" is the newest licensed design in Halco's toy holster line. Shown here is Richard Boone, starring as Paladin, the hero, whose lightning-fast gun leads him into many turbulent adventures in this new, dramatic western seen over the CBS television network weekly.

Other licensed tie-ins to spark Halco's toy holster designs include the ever-popular Gunsmoke, Highway Patrol and Captain Gallant.

Leading in the firm's Halloween costume designs are Terrytoon's Mighty Mouse, Heckle and Jeckle and Tom Terrific, MGM's Tom and Jerry and TPA's Charlie Chan will also come in for popular demand, the manufacturer believes.

In addition to licensed designs, Halco offers the largest selection of appealing character costumes in a complete range of sizes for 2- and 3-year-olds up to adults.

The complete display will be shown during the Toy Fair in the firm's permanent showrooms located in the 200 Fifth Avenue Building, Room 404, New York City.

GEORGENE REPORTS RETIREMENT OF HOPF; NEW SALES SET-UP

Vern O. Hopf, who had been with Georgene Novelties, 200 Fifth Avenue, New York City for 24 years, retired from his employment with that firm after the first of the year, according to word from David Carton of Georgene.

The company's new selling set-up is as follows: Philip Miller covering the eastern states; Robert Patterson & Associates, the midwest; Victor G. Petrone, California, Washington and Oregon; Galen S. Drawner, Texas, Oklahoma, Louisiana and Arkansas; Russell E. McAllister, the southern states; and George R. Dickson, the mountain states area.

JIM DOUGLASS NOW WITH MARX COMPANY, ATLANTA

Walter A. Marx of the Marx Company, 1250 Poplar Grove Drive, N. E., Atlanta 6, well-known sales representative, announces that James (Jim) Douglass, joined his sales force as of January 1.

Jim will cover the southern states of Alabama, Mississippi, Tennessee, Kentucky and West Virginia.

Jim Douglass

Mr. Douglass brings to the Marx organization a broad experience in merchandising, and his new connection augurs well for all concerned.

He is married and plans to make his home in Atlanta. He is looking forward with enthusiasm to showing the Marx lines to his many southern friends.

ATTRACTIVE COMET EXHIBIT AT CHICAGO HOBBY SHOW DREW CROWDS

Comet adds two to ready-to-fly line

IN a dramatic move which establishes Comet as a leader in the ready-to-fly field, Comet Model Hobbycraft, Inc., Chicago, has announced two important additions to its highly popular line of all-plastic U-control ready-to-fly gas models.

Visitors to the H. I. A. A. show in Chicago in February saw advance models of Comet's new "Starfighter" and Piper "Tri-Pacer," both destined, according to Lou Cohen and Morrie Shamberg, president and sales manager of Comet, to "outfly, out-sell and out-value them all!"

At the same time the two models made their appearance, it was also announced that the two items, in addition to Comet's other ready-to-fly models—the Sabre 44 and the Mustang -had received the highly coveted Parents' Magazine Seal of Approval.

"These two models," states Cohen, "round out our line from the standpoint of price range and consumer appeal. With the Sabre 44 at $9.95 and the Mustang at $12.95, we felt that a ready-to-fly model at $7.95 would open up a new and even greater market.

"We selected the Piper Tri-Pacer because the original, a four-place sports and executive plane, is so popular it can be seen at practically every airport in the country, and our designers and production men achieved a miracle of value-giving in creating a faithful scale replica with plenty of authentic detail, to sell at $7.95," he concludes.

The Tri-Pacer is so easy to fly and control that it can be successfully flown by the beginner, yet supplies plenty of thrills for the more experienced model enthusiast.

It comes complete with the powerful, fast-starting "OK" Cub .049A gas engine which is fully guaranteed, and control handles and lines.

The Starfighter taps the higher priced market at $14.95. The plane, over 19" long, shows smooth flowing lines inspired by such modern supersonic jets as the Starfighter F-104 and the Voodoo F-102, which have speeds of over 1,200 mph.

This model comes complete with the fully guaranteed "OK" .049B gas engine with the famous "Auto-Recoil" starter, and with control handles and lines.

Both are made of high-impact plastic in striking color combinations. Each is housed in a full four-color-printed protective chest

Added selling punch is provided by picturing the other Comet ready-to-fly models on the ends of the boxes, and the inside cover lid pictures and describes the entire line of plastic models.

Neither model requires even a moment's building since they are truly ready-to-fly.

The Tri-Pacer has cushion rubber tires and tricycle landing gear, control handles and lines and twist-cord starter. Its over-all length is 11¾", wingspan 16", and flying weight program which is the basis of its safety campaign. Although a number of Government officials are elected to honorary memberships on the Governing Board, USPS has no official connection with the Federal Government. Further, it guards its independence diligently.

Advanced Grades were most popular in 1956-57, with 11,815 registrants, while Elective Courses attracted more than 3,000 men and women. Surprisingly enough the greatest increase was recorded in Navigation, most difficult of the courses. It practically doubled, the increase being 49.1 per cent. The total number of students rose to nearly 400.

Around the squadrons, we received a nice note from Ernie Sickmen, of Hempstead Bay Squadron, reporting that Chief Cdr. William C. Wolfmuller and his wife, Inez, attended the squadron's annual Dinner Dance. About 300 persons attended the affair, held at the Park Inn, Valley Stream, Long Island, including Dist. Cdr. Robert Schmidt.

After three years lost in the limbo of time, Greenwich Squadron's lively publication, Prime Meridian, has been reissued we hope on a permanent basis. Bayside Squadron devoted its first meeting of the fall season to training aids and their use to enhance classroom instruction.

Paul Levine, member of Hempstead Bay Squadron, contributed to the rescue of five persons after the cruiser Holiday caught fire in the State Channel off Zack's Bay and sank. Mr. Levine quickly radioed for help and the Nassau County Police Boat Sergeant responded to complete the rescue.

Police in Wyandotte, Mich., called to rescue people on a stranded cruiser, immediately rushed to the Wyandotte Yacht club where they found two members of the Wyandotte Power Squadron, Ed Bradmeir and Abe Hoffman. They immediately boarded Bradmeir's cruiser.

The call had come in to the police from the night watchman at a chemical plant located near Hennipen Point, Grosse Ile. He reported hearing cries for help from a boat.

Bradmeir and Hoffman soon found a 38' cruiser stranded on a bar. They pulled the boat off.

The WAMPS, Women's Auxiliary of Miami Power Squadron, is concentrating its educational efforts on the Girl Scout Mariner Troops in the area. According to Jane Hussar, writing in the Miami (Fla.) Power Squadron bulletin, this will be a part of this year's WAMPS Teenage Educational program. Since the Mariner Scouts are under the Dade County Council of Girl Scouts, the auxiliaries in Biscayne Bay and Homestead are also conducting similar programs.

According to the plans, the program was to be broken down geographically. In this way groups of two or three auxiliary members would be teaching within their own neighborhoods.

Squadrons having Piloting classes scheduled to start in January should file their orders at once with MoToR BoatinG, 572 Madison Ave., New York 22, N. Y. for copies of the text book, Piloting, Seamanship and Small Boat Handling.

536C35-2700.....RETAIL $45.00

SHIP BELLS

Time at sea is indicated by ringing of forecastle (Fo'c's'le) bell every half hour:

2 bells on 1 hour
3 bells on 1½ hours
4 bells on 2 hours
5 bells on 2½ hours
6 bells on 3 hours
7 bells on 3½ hours
8 bells on 4 hours

An imaginatively styled time-piece. Fits perfectly into a modern setting. It's an exquisite wall clock—case is attractive spun brass. Brass hands and numeral indicators. 8-day, key-wound movement. Back is padded with foam rubber to reduce noise. 14" diameter. Ship. wt. 5 lbs.

BROOKGLAD

POOR, PITIFUL PEARL

Designed especially by William Steig

"PEARL" is not the beautiful, well tailored, well groomed doll that you generally see. "PEARL" is a comely, forlorn, wistful, pathetic creature that crys out for adoption when you look at her—her long, golden tresses (the longest and fullest saran wig that was ever used) her tattered clothes cry out for attention, for love and for care. She needs to be made beautiful—and we provide all the necessary things to do the trick: new shoes, new socks, new beautiful party dress, new crinoline—all in a highly designed carrying case. An 18" all vinyl doll—moving eyes—legs and body wired so she can sit, stand, kneel or bend.

WILL YOU SAY THIS ABOUT YOUR BOAT IN 1986?

Here's a 1958 Hubert Johnson clicking off an honest 38 miles per hour. She's heading straight for 1986, or 1990—or the year 2000 for all we know. Read the following letter from Mr. Maass and you'll see why we wonder who will be waiting us about her—28 years from now.

MAGALLOY ELECTROLYTIC ANODES

► Magalloy, a recently developed lightweight metal alloy which laboratory tests have shown to be particularly effective against electrolysis which attacks underwater metal parts of boats and ships in salt and even fresh water is made into Ferris Featherweight Anodes suitable for small craft. Lightweight and streamlined, they are designed to be attached to propeller shafts, rudders and other underwater metal parts, and by being themselves gradually destroyed by electrolytic action they save the valuable iron steel, copper, brass and bronze fittings which would otherwise be eaten away. The manufacturers cite tests to prove that the magalloy is more effective than the zinc or magnesium anodes commonly used for the purpose.

FERRIS CORP., South River, N.J.

FILLIT, A NEW FILLING COMPOUND

► Fillit, made by Kristal Kraft, is a resin paste compound for filling holes, gouges, cracks and depressions in wood, metal and masonry, said to have remarkable adhesion to metals and tremendous impact resistance. It is a combination of rigid and flexible resins with glass fibers and special fillers. The manufacturers suggest it for hull damage repairs, decks, loose bolts in seats, broken seams in tanks, and for repairs on leaky plumbing.

Other Kristal Kraft products, present or planned for the near future, include fiberglass boat covering and protective coating, resin-base Florida Varnish, and a new anti-fouling finish.

KRISTAL KRAFT, INC., 900 Fourth St., Palmetto, Fla.

STERLING POLY GREEN BOAT COVERS

► Poly Green Boat Covers are a new line, produced by Sterling, of heavy duty polyethylene plastic said to be waterproof, shrinkproof, pliant, easy to handle, durable and resistant to all sorts of weather. The opaque green color prevents the sun's penetration, and ventilator openings at each end give free air circulation. They come in sizes for boats 14' to 21' long, with or without tops, at $11 to $21. Matching covers for outboard motors up to 40 hp retail at $3, $3.50 and $4 for the three sizes. The Sterling clear plastic covers are also available, as are their garment bags, gunwale cases and seat back covers, chart cases, and shock cord tying-down kits.

STERLING PRODUCTS CO., 180 E. 8th St., St. Paul, Minn.

TWO NEW MILES TRAILER HITCHES

► Recently announced were two new Miles trailer hitches, both universal models designed to fit popular cars and station wagons from 1950 through 1958.

The Minit-Man model has an "easy-on" drawbar which can be attached or removed in less than a minute. This when the trailer is not in use the drawbar and ball assembly can be easily removed from the auto. The Handi-Man model features the same malleable iron bumper brackets used with the Deluxe version.

MILES, INC., 307 E. Hennepin Ave., Minneapolis 14, Minn.

AQUA-GLIDE SKIS AND FITTINGS

► A new product in the Aqua-Glide line of water skis and fittings is the new multi-laminate Futura ski, of full length laminations of selected wood sheathed in high pressure phenolic laminates such as Formica. They are said to have a high strength factor and controlled flexibility. Ski fittings and hardware have also been improved, one development being a rubber compound said to eliminate problems arising from extreme sun and salt conditions.

An H. Davis paper doll cut-out set.

Luttinger & Weil's Lines for 1958

NATIONAL sales representatives Luttinger & Weil (200 Fifth Avenue, New York City) have announced the repackaging and redevelopment of many of the products of the manufacturers they represent, plus the introduction of a host of new items on behalf of these companies.

The Luttinger & Weil roster includes: H. Davis Toy Corporation (Brooklyn, N. Y.); Doll Bodies, Inc. (53-55 Prince Street, New York City 12); Educational Products, Inc. (26 Avenue B, Newark); Nachman Products Company (780 E. 134 Street, Bronx 54, New York); Novelty Mfg. Company (903 Broad Street, Newark); Pet Toy, Inc. (74 Main Street, Newport, New Hampshire); Harry E. Wanner Mfg Company (535 E. Mifflin Street, Lancaster, Pennsylvania), Major Sportswear Company, Inc. (812 Greenwich Street New York City); Clear Form Pak, Inc (611 Williams Street, Baltimore)

Lou Lowenberg and Howard Davis of the H. Davis Toy Corporation state that following their successful use of "see through window packaging' last year, they will eventually put their entire line . . these "window" boxes. They have introduced three new products: "Story Book Gummies" (retail $1) which are felt pieces that stick on the outline of characters well known in children's stories: "Town & Country" (retail $1 to $2) a "paper doll" cut out set in which the clothes for the doll can be embroidered first on costumes which stick to the doll when gently pressed on: "Basket Zoo" (retail $1.25 to $2 . . basket making set; and "On Stage' . "paper doll" which has numerous changes of costumes to be cut out. These four new items are all packaged in "see-through window" boxes. Their Adjustable Looms continue to be one of their biggest sellers, they advise. Also very popular are their embroidery sets such as "Picnic in The Park," and "Puppy Love."

Luttinger & Weil report an extremely good response to the new Doll Bodies line for 1958. Keyed once again to the extensive promotion of the National Doll Dressing Institutes contest sales of these dolls have been extensive since they offer one of the most complete lines of non-dressed dolls available in today's market.

Educational Products, Inc., which manufactures a sporting goods line which has proven of special interest to active youngsters and families who enjoy playing outdoor games together, continues to bring out new items. They now have a Double-Loop Badminton set (retail $5.95); Tether Ball set with heavy steel pole (retail $9.95); Volley Ball set with steel poles (retail $6.95); and a new Tether Tennis set (retail $4.95). These are in addition to their Gymaster, Roch-N-Roll wheel, Tether Tennis, complete line of Pogo sticks (retail $2.98 to $9.95) and Hi-N-Lo stilts.

Luttinger & Weil note that they experienced a sharp uptrend during 1957 in the sales of Hi-N-Lo stilts (retail $3.98) and as a result Educational Products plans to spend a considerable amount on their advertising budget for promotion of these.

John Nachman of Nachman Products, Inc., has announced that their line of doll trunks will trend toward larger sizes and even more variety this year. The "Toy Travelers," a two-piece luggage set is termed ideal for any doll's wardrobe, no matter the size of the doll. These colorful trunks have brass-plated hardware, strong plastic handles, are lined inside, and have a rack for hangers and a drawer in the bottom of one side.

Novelty Mfg. Company is marking their third year with manufacturers' representatives Luttinger & Weil. Along with their comprehensive line of bicycle streamers, they now have available the following new Whirlwind items: plastic bicycle Hub Caps with safety reflectors, Hub Shiners, plastic knuckle-guard sets for bike or velocipede, vinyl handlebar grips with jewelled reflectors, and safety jewelled plastic fender flaps. Heavy sales are reported continuing on their bike streamers, Cycle-Putters and handlebar grips, popularly-priced, attractively-carded, bagged or boxed.

William Peterson, veteran of many years in the toy industry, has announced that Pet Toy, Inc., has tripled their production capacity in order to accommodate better the increased demand for their line. They have enjoyed highly successful sales on their Pen-O-Pin bowling sets, and the sales volume has continued high on their $2 poly bowling set. Other Pet Toy products which have proven popular are the unbreakable vinyl squeeze toys such as the Dutch girl and boy, girl and boy doll, penguin and owl, and the unbreakable polyethylene Piggy Banks.

Lancaster steel batons manufactured by the Harry E. Wanner Mfg. Company now have a brand-new display carton which holds two dozen steel batons in assorted sizes. These chrome batons with white rubber tips are packaged in assorted or solid sizes, according to customer requirements, and are priced to advantage regardless of shipping distance. They are now available in colored chrome in shades of green, gold and red. Reed Keator has announced that the Wanner Company is introducing two new items: Color Chips and Color Cuts. These are small colored pasteboards which can be pasted down in any number and variety of designs, ranging from insects and animals to the most intricate floral or modern design depending on the imagination of the child. It is described as an excellent activity item for pre-school ages and comes with a variety of design outlines for the beginner.

ILON POSITION FINDER

Essentially a precision-built sighting compass with a fixed and vernier adjusted movable mirror, the Ilon optical Position Finder helps you plot a quick and accurate "fix" in seconds. Obtains a fix from two charted landmarks by taking a bearing on one and simultaneously measuring the angle between. A fix can likewise be obtained from a lighthouse or other single charted object of known height by taking a bearing and a vertical angle to give distance-off.

Amateur or expert it takes the guesswork out of re-finding fishing hotspots and skin-diving finds without reference to a chart and proves invaluable in return to safe anchorages, for bow-and beam bearings and for avoiding shoal areas or obstructions by computing the "danger angle." Now small boat owners have a superb navigation aid small enough for use in a rowboat yet so accurate they can fix position as expertly as ocean-going skippers. $35.00 how foods should taste, I am sure that enough do care to provide a premium market for an extra quality. So I hope some scientists will consider this suggestion.

* * * *

The hired man on our farm used to get a house to live in, a garden, feed for his chickens, milk for his family, a hog to kill and use of a driving horse Saturday night. He didn't call those "fringe benefits." He regarded these as a part of his pay, which they were.

In those times a factory worker who earned at most maybe $5 a day, got his $5 and nothing else. No hospitalization insurance, no paid vacation, no wash-up time, no sickness time, no special clothing for his job, no severance pay. Nowadays these fringe benefits for industrial employes often amount to more than $5 a day. We know a factory whose machinists take home $3.72 an hour; the company provides fringe benefits that cost another 73 cents an hour per employe. The actual pay of the machinist then is $4.45. That's part of the cost which has to go into the company's product when it is priced for the farmer who buys it. We're all for the $4.45, but we do think all parties ought to know that the 73 cents are in there along with the $3.72.

If we hear of any way to put a fringe like that on a farm operator's take home pay, we'll see that it is reported promptly!

* * * *

Could a chicken-feather be made better than a goose feather for stuffing a sleeping bag? The Army wanted to know. Moreover, waterfowl feathers are hard to get at any price (we used to get them from countries behind the Iron Curtain). And finally, nearly 300,000 tons of chicken feathers have been going to waste or have been used for low-profit purposes such as feather meal. The Tanning Council at the University of Cincinnati took the job. First the scientists treated the feathers with cleaning agents and preservatives. Then they applied alkalies, tanned and heat-dried them to make them water repellent and curly. Now the bags are under Arctic tests. Because they store more easily than waterfowl feathers and do not deteriorate or develop odors, the "tanned" chicken feathers may be even better.

* * * *

As we learn scientific obedience to nature's laws we shall work out the agricultural problems which legislative flouting of economic laws does not answer, but accentuates.

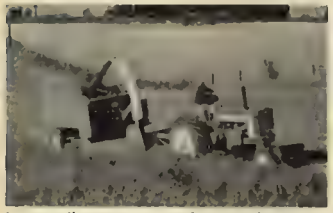
For Faster, Lower-Cost Forage Feeding

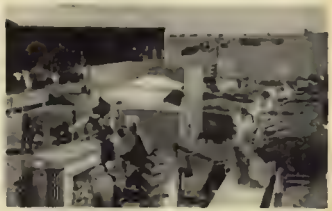
...GO JOHN DEERE

NEVER before have you had a better opportunity to cash in on forage feeding! New John Deere Equipment not only cuts costs but makes work faster and easier.

Be sure to see your John Deere dealer about the outstanding equipment described on this page. Mail coupon below for free descriptive literature.



15 Rotary Chopper Features Knife-Equipped Fan. Here's the low-cost chopper for mechanical pasturing—bringing the pasture to the cows—and for making quality grass silage. The 15's curved, free-swinging knives cut, chop, and deliver crops to the knife-equipped fan, assuring a proper cut for easier feeding and storage in upright and trench silos. The versatile 15 also shreds and spreads cornstalks, bru[illegible], handles many other jobs.



Self-Unloading 110 Chuck Wagon Mixer-Feeder. This versatile time- and work-saving forage wagon delivers material from the side into feed bunks and from the rear into blowers, hoppers, trench silos. The Chuck Wagon also mixes supplements directly into material as it's delivered through the side conveyor, assuring uniform feeding and palatability. What's more, it can be mounted on wagon running gear or truck bed to fit your operations.

Self-Unloading Forage Box Attachment Makes PTO Spreader a Double-Duty Performer. You can make the John Deere Model "N" PTO Spreader serve double duty at low cost with the new Self-Unloading Forage Box Attachment. This outfit delivers chopped material from the side into feed bunks or from the rear into blowers or hoppers. The attachment may be ordered with or without side conveyor. Two men can attach or remove the complete Forage Box in less than an hour, once the basic spreader is set up for double-duty operation.

All-Purpose No. 8 Forage Harvester Handles Every Chopping Job. Standing hay, windrowed crops, row crops—they're all "duck soup" for the No. 8 Forage Harvester. Three quickly interchangeable units make the big-capacity No. 8 an all-around feed maker. Adjustable feeding for both mower bar unit (above) and windrow pickup unit assures uniform handling of crops to match condition. "Butts-first" feeding of the row-crop unit provides uniform cutting. The heavy-duty flywheel cutter can be equipped with 2, 3, or 6 knives—provides 10 different lengths of cut with no extras to buy.

The liberal John Deere Credit Plan makes it easy to pay for equipment as it earns money for you.

"I Hate Farming" • • • Roses to the woman who wrote "I hate farming!" [Letters from Farm Women, March] But she didn't mention the endless unspiring community affairs that consume days of precious time.

I resent being forced into countless activities by public opinion and local eager beavers who never read anything more complicated than a cookbook. Some day I'd like to have a minute to play the piano or read a few pages while I'm wide awake—instead of at midnight.

St. Anthony, Idaho Name Withheld

• • • She's the kind of woman who wouldn't be happy anywhere. Why must she blame it on the farm?

Butler, Ky. Virginia Pribble

Barnyard Chemists • • • You mention the possibility of some chemist's coming up with a chemical to heighten the flavor of foods [All of Us, February]. Pardon me for calling your attention to an obvious oversight.

Farm crops come to our tables by way of the dairy cow, beef cow, the hog and the hen—and don't they do a pretty good job of heightening the flavor of field crops? I can't recall anything tasting better than ham 'n eggs, fried chicken or roast beef.

Pinckard, Ala. Lance Tompkins

He Doesn't Believe It • • • Mr. McMillen says in All of Us [February] that he knows a factory where machinists take home $3.72 an hour plus 73¢ fringe benefits.

Is this factory in the U.S -or is it in some disease-ridden, insect-infested jungle among the cannibals? I've never heard of wages like this for machinists.

Islip Terrace, N.Y. William Haffner

Wheeler McMillen, an Ada, Ohio farm boy, can vouch for it—and for the fact that Ohio has subdued its cannibals.

Two "Heads" are Better Than One

1 CORN HEAD
Here – the 8- or 10-foot 45 with Two-Row Corn Attachment. You make tremendous savings by combining corn with any John Deere Self-Propelled

...That's Why You Get More for Your Money in a JOHN DEERE Self-Propelled

JUST as the old saying, "Two heads are better than one," implies versatility of thought, two combine "heads" assure versatility in the harvest field. Two "heads"—the regular grain platform and the two-row corn attachment—mean you can combine all crops, from the first small grain or seed right on through corn with any of the three great John Deere Self-Propelleds—the 8- or 10-foot 45, the 12- or 14-foot 55, or the new 16- or 18-foot 95.

You Spread Your Investment Over More Acres

Combining all combineable crops with one machine makes good, sound business sense. It spreads your investment over more acres . . . it reduces upkeep costs . . . the original cost is lower. And, you reduce field shelling losses of corn by 75 per cent—cut ear losses 50 per cent. These tremendous savings of corn are made possible by the exclusive design of the corn attachment and because you can combine your corn earlier, when it has as much as 30 per cent moisture.

You're Money Ahead in Every Way

You'll be money ahead in every way with a big-capacity John Deere Self-Propelled on your farm. Get full details on owning the one that best fits your needs from your John Deere dealer. He is looking forward to seeing you soon.

2 GRAIN HEAD

This – the 12- or 14-foot 55 working in soybeans, like all John Deere Self-Propelleds, it has outstanding capacity for every crop, including corn.

The John Deere Credit Plan makes it easy for you to pay for these cost-saving combines as they save money for you.

Arithmetic on Hogs • • • At current prices, hog farmers who rent breeding stock under some leasing plans are paying $35 to $70 and even more for the use of a sow for a single litter. That virtually eliminates all chance of profit. Interest on a $100 sow at 7% is only $7 a year. Before you sign up on any hog contract, spend a little time with a pencil and paper and then talk with your banker.

A Real Cowboy's Cow • • • Just got around to reading your story, "Teach a Hog Manners?" [October 1957], and was wishing that Cookie, a trained cow I know, could have been included.

Her owner, Mr. Reiling of Carroll, Iowa, doesn't even have to reward her with dainties to get her to do tricks. Just by speaking to her, he can put

He can even talk her into playing sick—she actually groans!

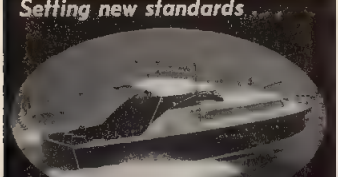
Setting new standards . . .



Occasionally a product arrives of such patent superiority that it establishes new concepts of quality by which similar products are judged. Such is the effect of the BayHead SKIFF upon those familiar with this boat. It establishes:

- New Standards of Seaworthiness—combining a high-performance bottom with substantial keel and sea-kindly contours, makes her agile and sure-footed through inlets and ranging the open seas.
- New Standards of Comfort—never before has a non-pounding, round-bilge boat of this type offered such spacious comfortable interiors.
- New Standards of Elegance—dedicated craftsmanship lavished on fine domestic and imported woods and inspired decorating, custom-styled for each boat, combine to make every BayHead SKIFF a one-of-a-kind masterpiece.

NO ODORS WITH TRU HEAT

Tru-Heat, the odorless cooking fuel, now comes in this non-spill, air-vented spout that allows easy filling of stove tanks. The spout comes with each can, conveniently pulls out, and then is pushed back into the can ready for use again. Made by the Truesdale Company, Boston, Mass., Tru-Heat gives off no alcoholic odors.

ELECTRIC PUMP PROVIDES FULL FUEL FLOW

Delivery of a clean, full flow of fuel to the marine power plant is one of the basic essentials of reliable, uninterrupted performance. To achieve this, the electric fuel pump made by the Eclipse Machine Division of Bendix Aviation Corporation has a filter which can be periodically inspected and cleaned to assure full power. And the company says it is explosion-proof.

A descriptive folder and specifications can be obtained from the Eclipse Division in Elmira, New York

RED HAND FIFTY

Red Hand Fifty provides the utmost bottom protection says the maker, Red Hand Compositions Company, Inc., 1 Broadway, New York 4, N. Y. The company, established in 1865, also declares that volume-production economies and world-wide sales bring this product to the public at modest cost. What kind of Kidde protection is best for your boat?

For the utmost in fire protection, install a fully automatic Kidde carbon dioxide extinguishing system.

Even when you're ashore, the Kidde system stands fire watch over your boat 24 hours a day, lets you sail in carefree comfort. Finest automatic fire protection on the market today, Kidde's is the only Coast Guard approved, non-electric rate-of-temperature-rise system.

It has no parts to replace after a fire, can be inspected without the need for discharging the system. For more information, write for Kidde's booklet, "Your Uninvited Guest."

The chart on the right, printed as a guide to boat owners, shows at a glance how Kidde's full line of marine portable extinguishers can help you meet United States Coast Guard safety requirements.

BOAT LENGTH	EXTINGUISHER
Class A — 0-16 Class 1 — 16'-26'	Any one of the following*: One quart vaporizing liquid. 2½ gallon foam, marine. 5 pound carbon dioxide, trigger or squeeze valve. 5 pound pressurized dry chemical

KITCHEN-AID COFFEE MILLS GRINDS 16 TYPES OF COFFEE

You'll never know good coffee until you've owned and used a Kitchen-Aid coffee mill . . . and discovered the very great difference between coffee freshly ground by Kitchen-Aid—and just plain ordinary "fresh" coffee. It's the grinding just before the brewing that makes the big difference, and here's why: an entire pound of coffee contains less than half a cup of delicate oil (caffeol) that gives coffee its delicious flavor and aroma. This oil, like expensive perfume, quickly evaporates when exposed to air. So if you want to serve really fresh coffee, grind it yourself with a Kitchen-Aid coffee mill. Turn the regulator ring to choose any one of 16 different grinds of coffee. A flip of the switch grinds the coffee from the 1¼-lb. hopper into the graduated receiving glass

ACME Saxophones

Built by world renowned instrument makers . . . Acme saxophones are noted for their rich quality of tone and ease of response. Every one is guaranteed for 20 years from the date of purchase against any possible defect due to faulty material or workmanship. And every one comes with all the accessories you need (except the case).

L ACME MASTER SAXOPHONES . . . by York. These fine instruments give perfect intonation and easily-produced full tones. Improved fingering system makes it simpler to execute tricky passages. Tone-hold rings are flared from body, bow and bell to eliminate leaky or loose sockets. New resonator pads for better, more resonant tone, even volume through scale range. Case-hardened keys, new single-action octave key, improved wide flaring bell. Highly polished brass is Perma-lacquered to stay shiny. Each instrument carefully regulated before leaving factory. Complete with accessories. From Michigan

Little Fisherman 12' (foreground), Malibu 14' and Caribbean 19' from Lone Star

LONE STAR FLEET OF 25 MODELS

► There are 25 different models in fiberglass and aluminum outboard boats in the 1958 Lone Star line, broken down to 10 aluminum and one fiberglass fishing-utilities, four aluminum and three fiberglass runabouts, one aluminum and two fiberglass cruisettes and three aluminum and one fiberglass cabin cruisers. Lone Star also markets five trailer models, a range that covers the entire boat fleet

By the use of its two construction materials, Lone Star is placing emphasis on carefree boating with a minimum of maintenance coupled with increased safety and ease of handling. For the latter, it is introducing "Tension-Free Steering" and special transom mounts adapted to cruiser, sport, ski-tow and fishing models. The hulls have Styrofoam-filled flotation chambers, while aluminum boats have multi-rib construction and the fiberglass ones aluminum reinforcement

Two models have been given new look "Spray-Sweep Fin Styling," the 16' Nassau and 14' Malibu These boats have an interior "automotive" seating plan for maximum stretch room for passengers. New 12' Little Fisherman and 14' Big Fisherman aluminum models have been added for 1958

The 23' aluminum Cruise Liner and 19' fiberglass Caribbean are two of the top Lone Star models for luxurious interior styling, with careful attention given to cabin ventilation. Lone Star offers a wide choice of colors.

FLYING SCOT IN PRODUCTION

► A 19' planing sloop for family use and racing, Gordon (Sandy) Douglass' new Flying Scot, is now in production, with a number of boats already built, after being announced last year Her construction is fiberglass-reinforced plastic, with hard bilges, 6'9" beam and a ballasted 100 lb centerboard.

The hull is molded in one piece with the pre-molded centerboard trunk, and the deck and seats, molded as a unit, are bonded to the hull with resin and stainless steel bolts Buoyancy chambers are under the side decks behind the seats. The hull weighs 650 lbs. for easy trailing

Her rig is extremely simple, with single shrouds and a jibstay on Zephyr aluminum spars. The mast is stepped in a special built-in tabernacle and can be set up in a one-man operation.

Flying Scot is a 19' fiberglass planing sloop

Douglass points out that the boat can be easily handled by two, or even single-handed, and yet can carry 10 people in her cockpit and can be adapted to limited camp-cruising He stresses her stability and safety for family use and also reports that she has proved to be a good performer, capable of high planing speeds.

GENERAL MOTORBOAT SEA FLYERS

► Three new outboard runabouts to be known as Sea Flyers have been added to the General Motorboat line Designed for speeds up to 40 m.p.h., the Sea Flyers will come in standard, ski boat and delux models. All three are 14'5" overall with a 5'5" beam and a freeboard of 26" forward and 18" aft Structural members are white oak The hull is of 5/16 in. marine mahogany plywood

The Little Mariner Fishawk and Day Cruiser have been redesigned The Fishawk sports a longer cabin with sleeping accommodations for two. The new Day Cruiser has a 32" deep cockpit for added safety. Both feature increased headroom and a transom for 20" motor mounting. Dimensions of the two models are length 20'5", beam 7'3".

There are 56 Concordia yawls now in commission

CONCORDIAS IN MANY PORTS

► There are now 58 Concordia auxiliary yawls in commission, with eight more under construction at the Abeking and Rasmussen yard in Germany for the Concordia Co. of South Dartmouth, Mass. There are four Concordias in California, four on the Chesapeake and one on the Great Lakes, in addition to many in New England waters.

The Concordia, 39'10" × 28'6" × 10' × 5'8" with 650 sq. ft. of sail, has had a remarkable race record in many areas, including firsts in Bermuda and Halifax Races. Several have been built to a modified design 41' overall, including Harrier, winner of the 1957 Annapolis-Newport Race and four out of five starts on the New York YC cruise. The boats sleep four or five comfortably and are built to top specifications.

The Concordia Co. also operates a yacht yard at South Dartmouth and offers the wooden Beetle Cat racing sailboat. This 12' × 6' × 2'6" gaff-rigged boat, with 100 sq. ft. of sail, cedar planked, is used in many clubs as a training boat and junior and senior racer. Racing is sponsored by local clubs and the New England Beetle Cat Boat Assn.

The Whitecapper, Dunphy's new 16' lapstrake boat

DUNPHY ADDS LAPSTRAKE HULLS

► Two new lapstrake hulls have been added to the Dunphy Boat Corp's comprehensive line of molded plywood outboard boats. They are the 16' Whitecapper, with 6'6" beam, and the 14½' Surf Rider. They are planked with marine plywood over oak frames, and both have 20" transoms. Their "Magic Carpet" seat suspension is said by this 104-year-old boatbuilding firm to be a great advance in riding comfort for outboard boat riders.

The molded plywood line includes a 16' Manta hull, of seven-ply mahogany, with 5'8" beam, with 34" depth. The delux Manta model has a mahogany frame windshield, and has ample space aft for deckchairs, picnic equipment, or sleeping bags. Another new Dunphy is the Ski Rider, 11'2" o.a., 5'3" beam, and certified for up to 50 hp.

The Black Bass is one of Dunphy's many molded plywood hulls

All the many Dunphy molded hulls are of seven-ply mahogany, each ply running from gunwale to gunwale. The "Magic Carpet" seat suspension, standard in the Whitecapper, Imperial and Delux Manta, and Imperial Robalo, is accomplished by rubber cords held within an extrusion of salt-water resistant aluminum, an exclusive Dunphy feature.

Sumnercraft 23' Adventurer has 2 bunks, galley and head

SUMNER COMPOGLAS-BUILT BOATS

► Sumner Boat Co. lists seven models, 33' to 23' long, in its 1958 fleet. The Sumnercraft are all built by this company's exclusive Compoglass method, which consists of a wooden base hull heavily covered inside and out with fiberglass-reinforced plastic. All Sumnercraft this year have Styrofoam flotation compartments, and the larger ones have two watertight bulkheads.

Largest Sumnercraft is the El Presidente cruiser, 33' o.a. by 11'2" beam by 2'8" draft, with twin 130-hp. Nordberg engines for speeds up to 25 m.p.h. Accommodations include berths for six, insulated cabin top, 6'4" headroom, stainless steel and formica galley, cockpit-loaded icebox and other details. She is priced at $19,500.

In hulls 28' × 9'4" × 2'5" are the Express Crusader II and the Commando II. With different layouts, both cruisers have living quarters for four. The Crusader II costs $7,490. The Sumnercraft 26' cruiser, with 95-hp. Nordberg, also sleeps four, and has full headroom, galley, enclosed toilet, and a $6,900 price tag. In 23' length are the Cabin Cruiser, Hardtop, Navy Top and Adventurer, each of which has two berths with a variety of other cruising facilities.

In Power

Ludership Means Leadership

IN GENERAL — Fifty years of meticulous attention to detail, observance of highest quality standards, and demonstrated ability to produce designs well in advance of their times have established for Luders a reputation high in the ranks of American yacht design and building. Now, with a background of 1,000 hulls, our complete facilities and know-how are available to you in any phase of yachting.

IN WOOD — Progressing from conventional carvel construction, Luders pioneered and perfected molded plywood construction with its many demonstrated advantages of strength, low upkeep, etc.

IN STEEL—Luders has produced a wide variety of vessels not only for yachtsmen but for the U. S. Army and Navy, as well as commercial vessels up to 200 feet.

IN FIBERGLAS — After much research and experimentation, we have finally perfected a new, superior stress skin construction called "Sealdfoam." With it we can produce vessels of greater strength and rigidity, up to 60 feet.

Carl Alpers, on the left, who has three M&W Piston equipped John Deere tractors on his 480 acres, didn't doubt for a minute that Maynard Schleeter knew what he was talking about.

"...but they changed their tune when I proved it by Dynamometer test!"

It is hard to believe that a 16-year old tractor with a smaller engine could possibly develop as much horsepower as a new and bigger Farmall. And Maynard Schleeter who farms 600 acres of deep dark dirt just north of Colfax, Illinois, took quite a bit of good natured kidding about it until he proved he was right by actual Hydra-Gauge Dynamometer test.

But let him tell you about it in his own words:

"Five years ago I put M&W Add-POW'R Pistons in my 1941 M tractor. They jumped the horsepower from 39 to 51, which was a good 10 more than it had when brand new.

"This spring, with more land to farm, I bought a new Farmall 450, and it's quite a tractor. But, about the same time, I had a set of M&W's new Turbo-Dome Pistons put in the old M. And here's where I had to take my friends in for a Dynamometer test to convince them that the old M was actually developing 3 more horsepower than my new tractor. And the new one has a much bigger engine.

"But that wasn't the end of it. While they were running the test, they put one of M&W's new air filters on the old M and it gave it a boost of another 2 horsepower!

"So, starting with a 16-year old tractor that developed about 40 horsepower when new, I've now got a real work-horse with more horsepower than my new one right off the production line."

And Mr. Schleeter adds that in stiff plowing this fall, his M plowed lick for lick with the 450 and did it on 4 to 5 gallons less fuel a day. The reason for this fuel economy is, of course, that his M has less piston displacement—a 4-inch bore compared to 4½-inches.

Increased piston size, alone, isn't the answer to increased horsepower, but M&W's exclusive Turbo-Dome design is. They squeeze every ounce of power from every drop of fuel like no other piston in new tractors or old.

M&W Turbo-Dome Pistons will increase the horsepower and operating efficiency of your tractor—regardless of make or model. See your M&W Tractor Products dealer for M&W Turbo-Dome Pistons specifically engineered for your tractor. Make a "before" and "after" Dynamometer test. You can have 1960 tractor performance from your tractor TODAY!

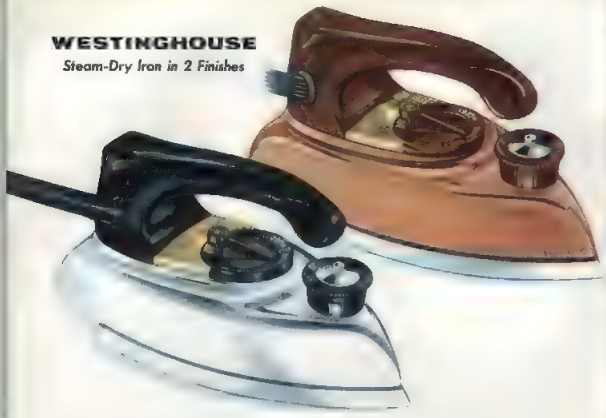
WESTINGHOUSE

Steam-Dry Iron in 2 Finishes



NON-TARNISH COPPERTONE OR CHROME with stay-cool handle, roll-back heel rest

With Westinghouse at your elbow, that wash day load loses weight fast! Ironing is breezier because Westinghouse gives more steam over a wider area . . . dampens thoroughly, presses quickly. The patented open handle stays cool, with no front post to conduct heat. Easy on your wrist, too, since it rolls back on its broad heel rest without any lifting. And no scorching! Fabric dial clicks into place to assure accurate heat control for all fabrics. Aluminum sole plate conducts heat quickly, diffuses it completely . . . you iron faster for fewer strokes are needed. Turns ordinary tap water into a misty vapor that steams gently, continuously . . . provides a protective steam cushion to safeguard even heat-shy miracle fabrics. Switch from steam to dry with just the twist of a dial . . . no emptying leftover water! Your Westinghouse iron won't rust. Weighs just 3½ pounds empty, less than 4 pounds full . . . gives your ironing a professional look with amazingly little work from you. With cord. AC. UL listed.

83-9548 B1153 Chrome finish $16.95

HOOVER STEAM-DRY IRON . . . has the ONLY stainless steel sole plate! Super-hard, super-smooth . . . zips over every fabric faster, with more safety than ordinary irons, because it's more resistant to scratches, snags and stains. Turns tap water into a steady flow of steam which exclusive Hoover "channels" spread evenly over the fabrics. Fills and empties easily through front opening. Clicks from steam to dry. Weighs less than 4-lbs. when full. Has dial temperature control, button saver, long 7½-ft. cord. Complete with Hoover quality and service guarantee. AC.

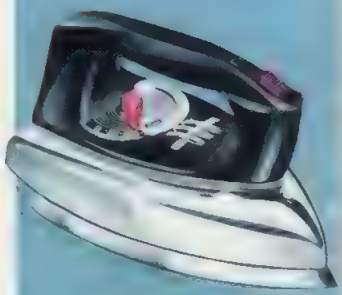
The New Irons



MODERN CASCO

Gay All-Fabric Steam-Dry Iron

SIX HEAT SETTINGS FOR STEAM . . . six more for dry ironing! Irons every fabric perfectly!

Now you'll steam-press everything . . . with Casco's six separate fabric settings for steam! Iron every fabric from stubborn linen to sensitive synthetics with just the right amount of heat and steam . . . and no scorching! (Ordinary irons have just one sole plate temperature for steam.) You'll find ironing goes faster, with steam that flows steadily for an hour or more on a single filling . . . no time wasted on refilling when you're going good . . . no need to sprinkle even heavy cottons. Casco's steam-n-heat unit won't rust, stain or corrode . . . just flip up the handle and fill with tap water for gentle steam pressing. Your Casco steams when upright, too . . . lets you steam-press draperies right at the windows. A decorator's dream . . . the light, 3¼-lb body is stainless steel . . . the contoured handle is colorful, stay-cool plastic. Nooks in the aluminum sole plate skoot around buttons . . . no in-and-out maneuvering when you're ironing shirts. UL listed. AC.

83-9571 B1187 Red handle $16.95
83-9563 B1187 Black handle 16.95
83-9589 B1187 Yellow handle . 16.95

TOASTMASTER STEAM-DRY IRON . . . gives you two irons in one, at a push of the button! Irons every fabric beautifully . . . just dial the right temperature for uniform heat that gives perfect smoothness with every stroke. Large aluminum sole plate with 9 vents covers a bigger area with steam. 8 oz. capacity water chamber lets you iron longer without refilling. "Tap-Fill" opening fills easily right from your faucet! Cool, easy-grip Bakelite handle reduces ironing fatigue . . . total weight just 3¼-lbs. Here's labor-saving efficiency at its best! 7-foot cord. AC.

Put them on wheels for fun and thrills

ON THEIR NEW 1958 SPEEDSTERS

P EVANS-COLSON 20" CONVERTIBLE . . . leads a double life! You see it now as a sleek boy's bike. Just remove one single bolt—the bar comes off the frame and . . . presto! . . . it's a gurl's bike! Either way, it's a real beauty from bright chrome handlebars and truss rods to metallic green and white trim outlined in red. For extra safety, there's a coaster brake (just like big bikes have), a bright headlight, and a rigid hockey-stick type chain guard. The 20" front and rear wheels make it adaptable for a leg reach of 19 to 26 inches. Has 1.75" semi-pneumatic tires. Shipping weight 47 lbs. From Michigan.
83-5421 D3275 Evans-Colson Convertible $39.95

R MURRAY 16" PARK CYCLE . . . a deluxe equipped beauty! This smooth-riding, streamlined ruby red and white cycle has full ball bearing construction (makes it easy to pedal, fast to move). 16" multi-spoke ball bearing wheels have 1¾" molded semi-pneumatic tires. Made of heavy gauge steel tubing that will take lots of use. New, large 2" head, round fender design for extra safety. The chrome-plated adjustable handlebar has red plastic grips and multi-colored streamers. Saddle has a red vinyl top, chrome springs, double adjustment. There's a large luggage carrier. And just to make it twice as wonderful —remove the double tube crossbar, and you have a girl's bike (nice to pass along in the family). For 18 to 24" leg reach. 40 lbs.
83-5579 C1995 Murray 16" Park Cycle $26.00

S MURRAY 14" PARK CYCLE . . . sturdy little red, white and blue cycle has a double tube cross bar which is easily removed for conversion into a girl's bike. The frame is of 1¼" heavy-gauge steel tubing. Ball bearing construction for smooth, easy riding: the steel disc rubber-tired trainer wheels, which are easily removed, have nylon bearings . . . the 14" deluxe ball bearing wheels have 1¾" semi-pneumatic tires. Has an adjustable saddle. And 14" wheels make it the right size for riders with a 16 to 21" leg reach. Weight 34 lbs.
83-5538 C1750 Murray 14" Park Cycle $22.50

T MURRAY FIRE PATROL CYCLE. With a scream of sirens and a flash of red—here comes the youngest fire patrol! On a wonderful full ball bearing cycle (smooth to ride, easy to pedal) that's 36" long, 20" high, 22" wide. Made of heavy-gauge auto body steel, it has a realistically embossed grille, gas tank and heavy-gauge steel hinged door at the back. 1¾" semi-pneumatic front tire, 1¼" solid rubber rear tires; standard bicycle roller type chain. The siren is a realistic windup fire engine type. Steering mechanism allows for quick 360° turns, the better to get to the fire! Weighs 30 lbs.
83-5066 C2100 Murray Fire Patrol Cycle $29.95

V DELUXE CHAIN DRIVE TRACTOR . . . with motor tone shift . . . by Murray-Ohio. They'll love driving this realistic model. And they're completely safe—for the chain-drive (with ball bearing construction for easy pedaling) is enclosed by a streamlined guard. Tractor is ruggedly made of heavy-gauge steel, 1¾" semi-pneumatic tires. Steering wheel can turn a full circle; spring seat adjusts in height. 8" ball bearing front wheel, 10" ball bearing rear wheels with tractor-tread tires. Finish: vermilion baked enamel, black trim.
83-5041 C2075 Tractor 38½x22x27½" high. Wt. 39 lbs. $27.95

83-5058 C725 Dump Truck, 15½x33" long. Wt. 16 lbs. $9.95

W "BORDER PATROL" SIDEWALK BIKE. Definitely the most exciting way to patrol the sidewalk: on this red, white and blue trainer bike! "Border Patrol" is written on the windshield; flag waves from the aerial; streamers flash from the adjustable handle bars! Has 1¾" tube frame with reinforced fork, 12" wire spoke wheels with 1.75" semi-pneumatic tires, 5" trainer wheels. Wire basket; bucket seat.
83-5553 D1425 26 lbs., from Wis.; for 16–20" leg reach. $18.50

(L) KODAK ROTARY FLASHOLDER

• Imagine! Taking six flash shots, one after another, without reloading!

• Never anything like it before! Fits most flash-synchronized cameras!

Revolutionary is the word to describe Kodak's new Rotary Flasholder. Lets you take 6 flash shots without reloading. No more fumbling to load fresh "ammo". Here's how this new Kodak Flasholder fires M-2 flashbulbs fast and sure, six in a row. You simply load six bulbs into one of two plastic carrier discs (furnished) . . . and this disc attaches quickly to the rotating back of the Flasholder. By giving the turret a one-sixth turn, you bring the next bulb into firing position. When you've used the whole load, a single lever ejects all six simultaneously. Comes equipped with Kodalite Midget B-G Flashpack.

UNDER THE LEE OF THE LONGBOAT

Club of America for his cruise from England to Patagonia and return in the ancient cutter Mischief. Tilman, a mountaineer of experience and fame, is again cruising in Mischief, bound for the Crozet Islands, where there is a mountain he wishes to climb during the geo-physical year of 1958. He writes that the islands, 1800 miles southeast of the Cape of Good Hope, are small and might be missed in a spell of bad weather, and that if that happens he'll have a try at the Kerguelen Islands, several hundred miles farther east and south. In his book "Mischief in Patagonia," which is entitled to a place in any yachtsman's library, Tilman expressed his philosophy of cruising in a paragraph that compares the arts of sailing and climbing and winds up with this sentence: "An essential difference is, perhaps, that the mountaineer usually accepts the challenge on his own terms, whereas once at sea the sailor has no say in the matter and in consequence may suffer more of the salutary and humbling emotion of fear." We can therefore think of him dangling happily from a stranded rope on some cozy sub-Antarctic mountain dreading the day when he will have to get back to sea level, rejoin his yacht and cruise dangerously home. Incidentally, according to Commodore Rum Barton, whose encyclical letter to his parishioners in the Ocean Cruising Club was received recently, Tilman advertised for a cook for Mischief in the following words: "Sailing man wanted, willing to cook on small boat. Long voyage. No pay, no prospects, very little pleasure." I hope he got somebody who could at least milk elk. (Query to S.Y. You mean sea elephants, don't you? There are no elk on the Crozets, according to old friends who used to whale down there. -Ed.)

I drove to Jamestown, Va., recently for another look at the Susan Constant, Godspeed and Discovery, and stopped en route in Williamsburg for breakfast. I had in mind a favorite restaurant on Duke of Gloucester Street, but just for the hell of it followed a series of arrows which led me all around the town to an information center miles away. Information center my eye. It was a mammoth parking area in the wilderness, from which monster buses provided mass transportation back to one of the most inspiring cradles of our liberty. There was also a cafeteria where despite the early hour hundreds of tourists were waiting docilely in four lines for breakfast. They had gone to Williamsburg, no doubt, to be thrilled by the concept of liberty in its pristine state, but had parked their freedom of movement with their cars. I didn't feel upset enough to open the door and shout "Give me liberty or death." Just drove in to town, backed into an empty space across the way from the restaurant and was served a quiet, unhurried meal. . . . But I was depressed a few days later when I read that the U.S.S. Wisconsin had been mothballed and that even the designation battleship has been stricken from the Navy list. Shades of Nelson at Trafalgar and Dewey at Manila Bay! When the big battle wagons began serving as backer-uppers for the minesweeps and LCVPs in World War II I thought a real future had been opened for them. But I suppose that with most of the Reserve eased out of the Navy in these piping days of peace a more sensible opinion has prevailed.

It isn't too early to say that it's going to be a great year for ocean racing. First, starting January 19th, there's the 1400-mile biennial from San Diego, Calif., to Acapulco, Mexico. On April 12th, following upon the annual winter races of the Southern Conference, comes the inaugural 1200-mile race from Miami to Panama. After that in June we have the biennial from Newport to Bermuda, with present prospects of a record-breaking fleet. On August 2nd from Brest the second Tall Ships Race for training ships, barks, barken-neck, sometimes with disastrous results and it gives no backstay effect as far as the mast and rig are concerned. The long traveller and dual control, on the other hand, accomplish everything the boom vang does without any of its disadvantages. A boom angle of 30° (which will vary with the type of boat, of course) is probably adequate for most broad reaching, beyond that, the sheet is still tending nearly straight down anyway. If the wind is so strong that you deliberately wish to spill wind aloft to ease the boat there is nothing to stop you, of course.

With the downward pull of the sheet is a staving effect, it becomes feasible to reduce or eliminate a great deal of standing rigging (and runners) with savings in weight and improved handling.

Mechanical and Design Considerations

First of all, there must be a flush deck, a bridge deck or a stout rail-to-rail gallows frame to carry the traveller. (Open boats can often benefit structurally from a cross-tie amidships.) Undecked dinghies can use the customary center thwart for the traveller. Larger craft with trunk cabins and high cockpit coamings will require some modification to build the traveller rail-to-rail. Its obstruction to quick fore-and-aft passage on the side decks may prove a considerable drawback, but yachts with raised or flush decks "have it made."

The traveller must of necessity be deep in vertical section to make room for the rollers and this is as it should be. Affording high stiffness to distribute the concentrated load over the greatest number of deck fastenings. Such a traveller can be readily fabricated by any good sheet-metal shop, out of Type-316 stainless steel. A suitable, flanged U section may well be on the market in standard sizes. The European sail track with rolling "slides" should prove ideal.

The control line offers the greatest latitude in design ingenuity. Ordinary traveller stops may be retained as "limits," but they aren't much good for speedy and frequent regulating if the traveller is to reach its highest utility. There should be, at least, a light but strong line or wire from the slide-roller to a polished fairlead or bushing amidships and terminating in some sort of jam cleat underneath. The line should be equipped with some sort of toggle or grip to make a husky one-hand pull easy. On larger boats, it might be sensible to install a winch for the purpose.

Perhaps the ideal "gadget" would be a reel similar to the type used on the latest trolley cars and buses, which always takes up all slack yet prevents the trolley poles from getting away, should they jump the overhead wires. For the traveller control, this reel winch would permit in-and-out cranking of the control wire, and in tacking, when the boom comes across the boat, the slack would be automatically taken up and paid out again by means of a light coil spring.

There is yet a final "dividend" jibing, with this rig, is not only safe and accident-proof, but it actually becomes a seamanlike maneuver. The boom is held down at all times, thus preventing "goosewinging," the sheet retains its backstay effect throughout the maneuver and it is not necessary to hand a lot of line and then pay it out with the danger of its kinking or burning your hands.

When you move the sheet from the end of the boom, to a location halfway to the mast, twice as many sheaves and running parts will be needed to keep the same mechanical advantage because the lever arm is halved. The length of sheet line, however, remains the same. And it goes without saying that a boom to be used with this rig must have the strength to stand up to the stresses put on it.

RAYTHEON

A new transistorized portable radio direction finder, three new radiotelephones, a new shore power converter series and new accessories for its Holiday depth sounder are announced by Raytheon Manufacturing Company, Waltham, Mass.

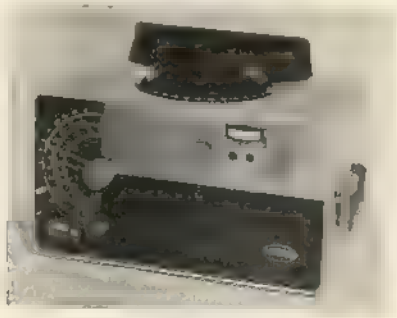
Features of the new direction finder include complete portability with battery life of two to three seasons, and high power output of one watt—enough volume to fill an auditorium. Built-in extras include headphone jacks, null meter, battery checker, super-sensitive antenna, and printed circuit for long life and reliability. The set is fully protected against salt atmosphere, has a high-visibility geared tuning dial and clear signal reception.

The radiotelephone models are rated at 12, 34 and 65 watts output power. Featured is the Ray 12, a "packaged" radiotelephone system designed to provide low cost but powerful performance for small boats. The Ray 12 has 5 channels and broadcast band reception. Other models in Raytheon's line also include four models rated from 10 to 150 watts output.

A re-designed shore power converter line has been developed, featuring two output circuits. One operates boat lights; the other fully charges batteries to assure easier starting and longer battery life. Converters are available in 21 models.

Three accessories for the Raytheon Holiday depth sounder include a carrying case, a bracket for shelf mounting of the unit and a shield which fits over the unit so that readings can be made easily in bright sunlight.

Other items of electronic equipment include Raytheon Mariners Pathfinder Radar, Fathometer depth sounders, gasoline fume detectors and other aids to safety and navigation.



The Raytheon all-transistor portable radio direction finder offers volume enough to fill an entire auditorium.

MORSE INSTRUMENTS

Introduced by The Morse Instrument Co., 24 Clinton St., Hudson, Ohio, a single-lever engine control for outboards provides all the features of the larger Morse MH-2 Single Lever Engine Control at a low price. The popular MH-2 is on many pleasure cruisers, U. S. Coast Guard, Navy and commercial craft and

The new Morse Outboard Control supplies single-lever, mechanical operation to clutch and throttle, with full engine throttle for starting and warm-up when clutch is in neutral. Throttle closes automatically when clutch is disengaged or reversed, for full protection of reverse gears. The same "instinctive" operation is featured as in the larger Morse Controls. Pushing the lever forward moves the outboard ahead. Pulling the lever back (beyond neutral) reverses the boat.

New equipment for outboards displayed by Morse includes Morse Docking Lights and Morse Center-Line Stern Light Conversion Kits.

Morse Outboard Docking Lights are scaled down in size, but are similar in appearance and duplicate the performance of the larger Morse Type C Docking Lights. Mounted in the hull below eye-level, they supply an even, glare-free path of light before the boat, for safety while docking.

Morse Center-Line Kits are designed to provide lighting for single motor outboards where the engine prevents the center light pole location.

The Morse VHF-TV Marine Antenna has a number of design changes, new smoother action and, due to greater volume, a lower list price than last year's model.

BORG-WARNER

A new hydraulic inboard motor boat transmission has been announced by the Warner Gear Division of Borg-Warner Corp. Identified by the name, Velvet Drive, the new unit is light and compact. It provides fingertip shifting, smooth and fast.

With the new transmission a boat operator is able to feather the shift or ease the propeller into motion either forward or in reverse. Docking and close-quarter handling of motor boats is made safe, sure, and easy. Velvet Drive can be adapted to any standard marine engine or conversion of right- or left-hand rotation.

Developed by Warner engineers in cooperation with the Gray Marine Motor Co., the transmission was shop and field-tested extensively before being put into production.

DANFORTH ANCHORS

Danforth Anchors, known for their great holding power, are invading the Christmas gift market this year with a suggestion for the "yachtsman who has everything."

The gift is the same Danforth anchor but with the extra touch of sparkling chrome plating. More than one yachtsman whose family or friends saw the Danforth ads for this "jewel of anchors," will be admiring one in his chocks on the day after Christmas.

The entire Danforth line of small boat anchors will be available with chrome plating. Including the quick release shearpin anchors, the company produces 38 different anchors in four basic types. Two of their latest anchors are the 130-S and the 8-SP. The head office, Danforth Anchors, 2129 Allston Way, Berkeley 4, California, may be written for full information

Danforth Anchors are now available with chrome plating.

HOBBS METERS

Hobbs Engine Hour Meters help busy yachtsmen tell at a glance whether engine lubrication, oil changes, overhauling, etc., are needed. Produced by John W. Hobbs Corporation, Springfield, Ill., these meters record the actual hours and minutes of operation of either gasoline or diesel engines.

The Hobbs Engine Hour Meter can be mounted easily on the instrument panel or wherever desired. The company declares that it is built for heavy sea duty. It is sealed against the entrance of dirt or moisture.

APEX OUTRIGGER

The Apex Manufacturing Co., Box 174, Paoli, Pennsylvania, is featuring its advanced design Apex Junior Outrigger, which can be installed in any position in any location on the boat. It can be mounted vertically or horizontally. With the 16' telescopic anodized aluminum poles, the unit is one of the best in the line of sport fishing equipment. Complete sets are available in polished aluminum or nickel and chrome-plated glass.

But the minute the pups are fed, the hen moves back in and takes over her self-assigned, baby-sitting duties.

New Melon Moocher

Like any vegetable grower, W. I. Fifield, Imperial County, Calif., knew that a watermelon shining on the vine is likely to stimulate larceny, even in folks of otherwise spotless reputation. But even he was surprised to see a helicopter settle easily in his melon field. The pilot hopped out, loaded three big melons into his cabin and "whirlybirded" away. Fifield still hasn't thought of a way to keep it from happening again.

Appaloosas Booming!

Appaloosa horses, the tough, speedy, dappled cow ponies developed by the early-day Nez Perce Indians, are increasing everywhere but in the Nez Perce territory in Idaho.

Not that the Nez Perce no longer appreciate their horses. They just can't turn down the bulging bankrolls that horse fanciers are offering for Appaloosas these days.

George Hatley, Moscow, Idaho, secretary of the Appaloosa Horse Club, reports that one stallion sold for $10,000.

A Texan recently closed a deal, sight-unseen, for a colt at $1,000. Many colts have sold at figures up to $700.

COMBINATION HORN-LIGHT-STAFF

Named the Navigator, the unit has been carefully engineered to meet all U. S. Coast Guard Class I requirements for whistle signals and navigation lights. The Navigator is manufactured from die-cast metal, heavily chrome plated. The running light has red and green Fresnel lenses—the mast has chrome flag rings and is removable from the horn and light assembly. The Navigator has its own specially built horn with stainless steel diaphragm and spring plates; the motor is protected by a die-cast base and chrome-plated brass screen. All parts can be replaced in case of damage.

ANNOUNCE NEW RIGGING SERVICE

Merriman Bros., Inc., 185 Amory Street, Boston 30, Mass., outfitters of racing and cruising yachts, have introduced a special off-season rigging service plan for boat owners to insure against dismasting. Potential rigging trouble can be eliminated at less cost to the boat owner during this service plan, open until February 15, before the regular fitting out season begins.

Even the most complicated rigging problem can be solved by Merriman's experienced yacht riggers. As part of this service, all standing rigging and turnbuckles are tested to 40% of breaking strength.

All end fittings, tru-locs and sockets, splices and running rigging fittings are thoroughly examined for indications of possible failure. After testing, engineering recommendations and costs for necessary replacements are sent to the boat owner, along with a permanent reference record to keep on board of each assembly, including size, length, type—plus testing results. There is no charge for service if replacement work exceeds ten dollars; otherwise there is a minimum service charge.

Merriman is now delivering new self-bailers for both sailboats and outboards. In the Gibb Bailer, machined metal-to-metal contact when closed insures absolute tightness. It operates at speeds of approximately 3 mph and higher. By pushing down on the lever, the inner portion of the bailer protrudes into the water and at the same time the bailing holes in the inner and outer portions coincide. When closed, the fitting is flush with the bottom of the hull.

Principle of the Lewmar bailer is similar to the Gibb, but addition of a self-sealing valve insures against accidental leakage when the boat slows momentarily.

For complete information about Merriman's self-bailers and all Merriman Lightweight Tufnol Hardware, send 25 cents to: "Tufnol Catalog," Merriman Bros., Inc., 185 Amory Street, Boston 30, Massachusetts.

TERRY'S DREAM...COMES TRUE!

It was Terry Kilborne, the President of our Company, who wanted to build a thirty-foot boat which would have all the features you expect to find in large expensive boats but are never found on a 30-foot craft! Fortunately the idea hit our Naval Architect, Phil Bolger, right between the eyes. The run to the West Indies was mostly a rough one with rain and heavy squalls much of the way. Off Turks Island they witnessed a total eclipse of the moon. Yankee ran on through the West Indies, pausing here and there to see old friends. After Thanksgiving (and a 23-pound turkey), she continued on to Panama. There, she loaded a cargo of supplies for the Galapagos Islanders. One night on the way to the islands, they experienced St. Elmo's Fire, the rigging glowing with electrical discharges. Christmas was spent in a snug cove of Albermarle. Soon after the New Year Yankee was on her way again, bound for distant Pitcairn and the islands of the South Seas.

A tale of tragedy came from the Gilbert Islands early in the year. The 60-foot auxiliary ketch Arakarimoa had sailed from Tarawa on December 28, 1955, with Maiana her destination, 24 miles distant. She had eight passengers and a crew of twelve. When she did not appear in due time, a Government vessel set out to look for her.

United States aircraft took up the search, and ships and coastal stations throughout the Solomons and Marshall Islands were alerted.

Sighted Near Guadalcanal

There was no sign of the ketch. All of January went by, and February. On the first of March, after 64 days of drifting, Arakarimoa was sighted off the south coast of Guadalcanal. In spite of heavy seas, natives pushed their canoes through the storm to the battered hulk, and managed to pick up twelve of the survivors. Before the remainder could be taken ashore, a howling gale drove the ketch off shore. Six men, still aboard the vessel when the gale hit, dived overboard to attempt the twelve-mile swim to land. Two made it; sharks probably got to the other four. On March 8, the two-master was found wrecked on Poole Reef off Laovi Point, with one dead man aboard. Apparently, the ketch had had motor trouble and, like so many craft of her type she did not carry sufficient sail to make port.

In May, the press reported a strange story from the Indian Ocean, a yarn equal to that of a Hitchcock thriller. It began at Majunga, on the west coast of Madagascar. There, the 120-ton, two-mast schooner Hiariako was fitted out for a voyage. Her owner was Eric Hunt, a 42-year-old Briton, a big game fisherman and trader whose home was Mombasa. He it was who first recognized the coelacanth prehistoric fish, the 'living fossil' which was caught in 1952. Hunt has been described as "probably the most knowledgeable layman in Africa," speaking French, Italian, and Swahili. A French newspaper once called him "the last adventurer of the Indian Ocean."

With eleven passengers and a crew of fourteen, the Hiariako set out on what the British press called a mysterious mission. After twenty days had passed without word from her, she was discovered a total wreck on a reef in the Comoro Islands. One newspaper reported that the vessel had set out for the Seychelles Islands in an attempt to rescue the imprisoned Archbishop Makarios of Cyprus. The French said that Hunt was the type of man who would undertake such a commission "pour le sport."

Build 13-Man Raft

Following the wreck of the schooner, Hunt and two others set off in a small boat to get help. They were never seen again although their upset dinghy was located. Three days later, the survivors on the wreck decided to try to make land on their own. Somehow, they were able to construct a raft that accommodated 13 people. Nine went aboard a small motorboat which took the raft in tow. Before long a fight erupted, and the tow line was cut.

The raft and her passengers were never seen again. Some days later, when the motorboat was picked up off Madagascar, only five of the occupants remained alive.

At the inquest held in Tanganyika, the acting Attorney-General somewhat spoilt the story of mystery by stating that Hunt was definitely not attempting to rescue the Archbishop at the time of the accident. He had merely been cruising with friends when his schooner was wrecked.

A few other windship notes are worthy of mention. The four-mast bark Angelita, formerly Joseph Davis's yacht Sea Cloud, today owned by Generalissimo Rafael Trujillo of the Dominican Republic, was in Jacksonville, at the end of 1956, for a general overhaul. She had been laid up during most of the year.

In the fall, a barge with the name Straits Maru arrived in tow at a Japanese shipbreaker's yard. She had once been the auxiliary ship Parthia, an iron screw steamer with sails. Built in 1870, she was a famous Cunard Liner during her young days, but is perhaps best remembered today as the Victoria of the Seattle-Alaska service. Many years ago she gave up all her canvas.

Versatile Vessel

Television viewers who watch the series called "The Buccaneers" may wonder about the old galleon which is seen from time to time. She was originally the British three-mast schooner Ryelands, launched in 1887. For sixty-two years, she was a busy coasting schooner. She had once been a topsail schooner, but when an engine was installed in 1931, her yards were sent ashore. In 1949, she was indoctrinated into Hollywoodland. Walt Disney used her in "Treasure Island" as the Hispaniola. Then, for several years, she was a museum and aquarium at Scarborough on the east coast. In 1954, she returned to the movies, this time as the Yankee whaler Pequod of "Moby Dick" fame. In 1955, she became the Dilipa, and after her
